...OW RAKISH CRAFT REFUSES TO ANSWER SIGNALS, RUNS AWAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

...SHINGTON, July 7.—Theories that piratical marauders are at ... the traffic lanes off the Atlantic Coast reached a new high level ... Government wireless stations are sending broadcast to vessels at ... warning to be on the lookout for a "low, rakish, suspicious-looking ... sailed by Capt. Giles of the Munson liner Munalbro, Thursday night.

...ship to Guard Americans.

Coincident with the sending out of this warning government agencies worked with renewed vigor on their investigation into the mysterious disappearance within the past few months of more than a score of merchant vessels along the coast.

According to the official report of Capt. Giles, which reached Washington tonight, his vessel was about 300 miles due east of Philadelphia when a "low rakish suspicious looking craft, apparently very swift," approached the Munalbro with only its running lights showing.

REFUSED TO ANSWER.

The vessel, according to Capt. Giles, refused to answer any signals and after almost completely circling the Munalbro sped away into the darkness. The location of the Munalbro at the time the strange craft was sighted was given at 39 degrees, 55 minutes north and 70 degrees 35 minutes west.

On leaving the Munalbro the "phantom ship" steered a course almost due east.

E. T. Chamberlain, commissioner of navigation for the Department of Commerce, tonight declared that the report of Capt. Giles was the most substantive evidence yet offered of the suspected operations of sea marauders off the Atlantic Coast, and has given fresh impetus to the investigation of the disappearance of the crew of the schooner Carol Deering and the more than a score of other ships that have disappeared without leaving a trace. The Weather Bureau holds that these ships foundered in storms.

Commissioner Chambers declared that it was impossible that a seaman like Capt. Giles would "go off on a cock and bull story" and added that the bureau places every credence in his report.

OFFICIALS APPREHENSIVE.

Officials of this bureau became gravely apprehensive this afternoon when a report reached Washington that Munson Line officials had been trying unsuccessfully for three days to get into wireless communication with the steamer Callao which is en route to New York from Buenos Aires with seventy passengers.

Inquiry at the Shipping Board, however, developed the fact that the Callao is not due to arrive in New York until next Saturday evening or Sunday morning and that no misgiving is felt over the inability to get in touch with her by wireless.

Certain officials of the Department of Commerce are deadly serious in their belief that the "one guess is good as another" pirate theory advanced by Secretary Hoover, to explain the disappearance of the many vessels along the coast within the past few months, is the correct one.

It became known today that the department, despite the ridicule of other governmental agencies, has never let up in the investigation that other than natural hazards are responsible and that every clue is being run down.

...ACH SEX MATTERS, PLEA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

...INNEAPOLIS (Iowa) July 7.—An international congress of education ... to be held in 1923 was advocated this afternoon by Dr. Augustus O. ... of Augusta, Me., in submitting a report of the foreign relations ... to the National Education Association at its convention here.

...among illiterate foreigners, he said, showed that in a like period the original 1000 will be multiplied at least 100 times.

The ratio, therefore, will be, he said, fifty men and women descended from educated parents to 100,000 individuals begotten by ignorant parents.

SHIRK RESPONSIBILITY.

This condition, Mr. Ricker said, is premeditated, college graduates shirking the responsibility of children. Mr. Ricker's statements created somewhat of a minor tempest at the meeting.

He urged that if sex matters be taught openly in the schools, "it must be placed on the same footing as other sciences." Mr. Ricker declared.

During the discussion that followed, Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver, raised the question whether the teaching of sex matters would not increase immorality. This contention was strenuously denied by Mr. Ricker, who cited figures to disprove it.

At tomorrow morning's session the committee on nominations and the committee on resolutions will make their reports. The nominating committee's recommendation

They were returned to Fresno late tonight. The loot and stolen automobile were recovered.

In a notebook in her possession was the address: "Mrs. Bert Witte, 134 West Ninety-first street." At the Receiving Hospital it was said her chances for recovery were small.

RAIN BREAKS HEAT WAVE.

Storm Drives Down Thermometer 15 Degrees in Ten Minutes.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, July 7.—Cooling rain, accompanied by heavy peals of thunder and much lightning, nipped Chicago's longest heat wave late today, sending the thermometer down twenty-four degrees. The fastest mercury drop was fifteen degrees in ten minutes, and tonight 71 was registered against the day's maximum of 95. Since June 15 the thermometer had never, until tonight, registered less than 78 deg. The excess in temperature had totaled more than 2000 degrees.

ELEVEN ARE KILLED.

The last few days, however, have been the most severe, eleven deaths and scores of prostrations being attributed to the heat the last twenty-four hours. Yesterday and today street thermometers registered well over 100 degrees.

Last night parks were thrown open to thousands suffering from the heat. Several big concerns dismissed their employees early today, declaring that it was too hot for them to work.

The cooling rain was not confined to Chicago, reports telling of temperature drops in other localities. From Milwaukee came word that the four-week heat period that had sweltered Wisconsin was being broken by the heavy downpour. Some storm damage was reported.

WIFE IS HELD FOR MURDER OF HUSBAND

Mrs. Julia Johnston is Lodged in County Jail--Whisky Leads to Beach Tragedy.

Facing a charge of murder, Mrs. Julia Lee Johnston, aged 25, who is asserted to have shot and killed her husband, Thomas P. Johnston, a block from their home at Roosevelt and Weston avenues, in Los Cerritos, last night, was lodged in the county jail early this morning by Deputy Sheriffs Couts and Bell and Detective Sergeant Stelzreide.

The shooting, according to Chief McLendon of Long Beach, followed an argument between Johnston and his wife in which Mrs. Johnston is said to have accused her husband of bootlegging.

Johnston was in his automobile, a closed car, when he was shot, according to Chief McLendon. Mrs. Johnston is said to have fired two shots, one of the bullets striking the car door and the other going through the glass of the coupe and piercing Johnston's heart. He died almost instantly.

E. F. Howard, a real estate man of 136 East First street, Long Beach, was an eyewitness of the shooting.

The Johnstons, who had lived nearly all their lives in Long Beach, according to the police, had moved to Los Cerritos about six months ago. Since that time, Mrs. Johnston, in a statement to Chief McLendon, said her husband had caused dissension in their home through his association with questionable characters. She said her reason for shooting him was that she had "stood for his way of living as long as she could."

The tragedy last night came after Johnston had made two trips to his home with friends. Mrs. Johnston told the deputies that her husband had come home about 2 o'clock in the afternoon with a number of friends and a quantity of liquor. At that time she said she pleaded with him to remain home, but he had refused.

THREATENED SUICIDE.

She then threatened to commit suicide, she told the police. She said her husband had replied that he did not care if she did or not. When he left with his friends she fired a shot intending to frighten him, but he did not return to see if she had shot herself.

About 5 o'clock he returned again in the company of Mr. Howard, she declared, and took some of the liquor which he had brought to the house earlier in the afternoon. With this in his arms he went to his auto, parked about a block away from the house. Mrs. Johnston said she followed him, walking beside Mr. Howard. With Mr. Howard still standing on the sidewalk, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston then began the argument which led to the death of the husband.

FIRES INTO AUTO.

Mrs. Johnston asserted she again asked her husband to remain at home. He refused, she said, and called her several harsh names. Then it was she pulled the gun from the folds of her dress and fired into the automobile.

According to Deputy Sheriff Bell, Mr. Howard made a similar statement regarding the shooting. He said he had walked with Mrs. Johnston to the automobile, following Johnston, and that the husband and wife had engaged in a heated controversy.

In the car beside the body of Johnston Chief McLendon said they found twelve bottles of bonded whisky and an automatic gun. Both Mrs. Johnston and Howard declared that Johnston had not made any attempt to use the automatic, the deputies declared.

Mr. Johnston was 44 years of age. According to the Long Beach police, he was a barber before moving to Los Cerritos and was in poor health. The couple have one daughter, Jewell, 5 years old.

Ray Benjamin to Resign Place as State Chairman.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Raymond Benjamin, San Francisco attorney, stated tonight that he plans to resign within the next three months as Republican regional director, and as California Republican State chairman, to devote his entire time to law practice.

Mr. Benjamin stated that a further reason for his wanting to resign his political positions was "that my health will not stand the strain."

"Just as soon as I can help put across some of the men who worked hard for our political success, and see that they receive the appointments they deserve, I am going to get completely out of the political games," he declared.

HARDING BREAKS PRECEDENT, DINES WITH SENATORS AT CAPITOL, WIELDS BIG STICK

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—President Harding today broke precedents and appeared unexpectedly at the Capitol to urge Senators to delay the bonus for soldiers' legislation. For the first time in history a President of the United States lunched informally in the Senate restaurant with his old associates in the upper house of Congress. He came without warning in the most informal way.

Clad in a light-colored palm beach suit and accompanied only by his secretary, George Christian, and Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, he motored to the Capitol in one of the White House cars as casually as a business man might visit some of the operations of his concern.

LOSES NO TIME.

The President lost no time in stating the reasons for his visit. He urged that a majority of the Senate vote to send the bonus bill back to the Senate Finance Committee for additional study and redrafting to be held there until after the House and Senate had enacted into law a revision of the internal revenue taxes.

Then, he told the Senators such legislation for the benefit of the soldiers as seemed best could be devised intelligently with the knowledge of what money was to be realized from the revised taxes and how best the bonus could be paid.

Lunching with the President were Senator Warren, chairman of the Appropriation Committee; Senator Moses of New Hampshire, Senator Spencer of Missouri, Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, Senator McNary of Oregon and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, leader of the Senate.

BIG STICK WIELDED.

This decisive action of the President, following the letter written by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to Senator Frelinghuysen showing that the Treasury was in no position to forecast or estimate receipts from taxes and could but vaguely estimate the cost of the proposed bonus, electrified the Senate and the House. It was the big stick of the executive wielded in a new and gracious way, but it was the big stick nevertheless. In the days of Roosevelt all the legislative branches of the government had to come to the White House and sometimes the big stick was brandished rather brutally above the heads of the Senators and leaders of the House.

LIKE SOCIAL CALL.

Today it was like a social call or a college graduate back to greet his friends and former classmates. The purpose was there and there was no mistake about it, but the Senators rather liked the promptness and common-sense way in which the President grasped the serious situation of this particular crisis in legislation and took the leadership which devolves in crisis of peace or war on the Chief Executive. There was no bluster or command but serious suggestion, advice and counsel in the wise and sensible way of meeting a situation. President Harding did not want the cart to come before the horse and said so in the most businesslike and pleasant-mannered method possible.

ARRIVES UNHERALDED.

The President arrived at the Capitol about 1 o'clock unheralded and unannounced. Some of the employees on the Senate entrance door recognized him and there was some attenuated and spasmodic handclapping in the corridors, before he was hidden from sight behind the doors of the room reserved exclusively for Senators for luncheon.

Instantly the word passed through the underground corridors of the big building that all precedents had been smashed and that for the first time the President of the United States was eating a frugal noonday meal beneath the dome. Guess what the stalwart six-foot President of the United States ate for his midday repast? An artichoke, a honeydew melon and a glass of ice tea. Other Senators came in while he was eating and joined the group. Wadsworth of New York, Edge of New Jersey, Knox of Pennsylvania and McCumber of North Dakota. Wadsworth insisted on paying for the entire fourteen at the table, including the President, and footed the bill.

UNUSUAL COMMOTION.

In the meantime the arrival of the President had caused unusual commotion among the Senate employees whose duty it is to arrange

LEADERS FOR IRISH PEACE STAY AWAY FROM DUBLIN

De Valera's Stand May Balk Plans to Bring About Understanding; Old Military Charges Revived.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DUBLIN, July 7.—Neither Gen. Smuts, South African Premier, nor Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, is expected here for the conference in which Eamonn De Valera and other Irish leaders will participate tomorrow. Though nothing has transpired regarding the negotiations, Mr. De Valera is known to maintain the Republican principle, his attitude being that he was elected with a Republican mandate, which only the Irish people can vary.

It is declared that if really large proposals were made, he would submit them for the determination of the Irish people. It is considered improbable that Mr. De Valera or his colleagues will go to London in response to Premier Lloyd George's invitation, unless the basis of the proposed conference there is improved.

KEEP UP OLD WAR.

The Irish Bulletin tonight contradicts statements in the London press alleging a cessation of reprisals and an easing of the government pressure since Lloyd George's letter. The Bulletin says regular warfare has continued without abatement, as well as aggression against Irish noncombatants, and adds: "Other forms of military terror are in full blast."

The Bulletin prints a list which includes fourteen murders, fourteen persons wounded and ten properties destroyed between June 24 and July 6.

Mr. De Valera in his conference with Earl Midleton, is said to have objected to the form of the proposed London conference and it is considered very probable that he may have asked for Gen. Smuts as chairman.

HOPES STAY HIGH.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, July 7.—The Irish peace movement on the surface made no further progress today, but hopes remain high, mainly because Gen. Smuts, Premier of South Africa, is taking such an active part in the negotiations with an evident purpose to translate into practical politics the King's message and exhortation for forebearance at the opening of the Ulster Parliament.

The King's evident and serious interest in bringing about peace is also a strong factor in the situation. His proffer of Buckingham Palace for the meetings of the proposed conference points toward a repetition of the peace effort of 1914, when the home rule conference assembled in the palace.

IRISH TRUST SMUTS.

It is believed that if an independent chairman were appointed to the conference now contemplated, such as Gen. Smuts, who is trusted by the Irish people, there would be

NAVY BLIMP DESTROYED; FOUR HURT.

Gas Bag Explodes While Starting Flight and Passengers Leap to Safety.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 7. — The naval blimp C-3 exploded at the naval air station at Hampton Roads today, burning and injuring the four persons who were aboard, according to reports to the Navy Department. None of the injured was seriously hurt, according to the reports, two were painfully burned.

The big gas bag had just been released for a photographic flight and was rising slowly at about seventy-five feet when the explosion occurred. Those aboard jumped with parachutes. The blimp was destroyed.

The explosion was caused by the carrying away of the rip pin of the balloon, the vibration setting fire to the craft.

CABLE SAYS CARUSO GETS ALONG NICELY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—Edward Ziegler, assistant general manager of the Metropolitan Operahouse, today received a cable from Mr. Gatti-Casazza, dated yesterday from Milan, regarding the condition of Enrico Caruso, the singer. The cablegram reads:

"I visited Caruso myself three days ago. His convalescence is more than normal. His strength is recovering daily. I have no fears for his future condition. He will sing surely this coming season. Regards."

ACCUSED ON DEATHBED.

Kaber Suspected Wife of Murder Attempt, Policeman Testifies.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CLEVELAND, July 7.—Testimony tending to show that Daniel F. Kaber, for whose murder his widow, Eva Catherine Kaber, is on trial, suspected her of having planned his assassination, was introduced today by the State through two witnesses. "My wife ordered this done! My wife ordered this done! My God, my wife ordered this done!"

These exclamations were uttered by Mr. Kaber to Police Lieutenant L. B. Miller of Lakewood soon after Mr. Kaber had been stabbed, according to the lieutenant's testimony.

"My God, doctor, my wife must have done this," Dr. W. J. Quigley, who was called to attend the wounded man, said Mr. Kaber exclaimed.

WOMAN'S TESTIMONY.

Mrs. Bertha Miethke, grandmother of the little Patricia whom the Kabers had adopted, testified that Mrs. Kaber said to her:

"I hate Dan Kaber and am going to get rid of him within six months."

Dr. Quigley and Dr. Alfred Maschke said they had treated Mr. Kaber and made examinations of him several months before his death. They asserted he was suffering from neuritis and secondary anaemia.

Based on a hypothetical question asserting that an analysis of Mr. Kaber's internal organs disclosed the presence of arsenic in quantity "sufficient to kill four men," both physicians said they would diagnose the cause of the anaemia and neuritis as arsenical poisoning.

Attorney W. J. Corrigan, on cross-examination, sought to establish that the poison might have been absorbed from powders sprinkled over the organs by the undertakers. Dr. Quigley maintained that the poison could not have been absorbed in this manner in such an amount as claimed by the State.

SPOOKS APPEAR.

Mysteries of the spirit world were discussed today in the trial.

Mrs. Mary J. Wade, who claims to be a medium, capable of communicating with spirits, told on the witness stand of visits by Mrs. Kaber to her home to obtain advice.

"I want you to try to get rid of Dan Kaber for me," Mrs. Wade said Mrs. Kaber told her on the last visit.

"How?" Mrs. Wade said she asked Mrs. Kaber.

"I want you to kill him—any way to get rid of him. The man I love has no money, only brains, and Mr.

BRIAND HIT BY STORM.

Political Eruption for Premier.

Efforts to Bolster Up Bank of China Bring Matters to Head in Senate.

Powerful Opposition to Head of Government May Bring on Vote.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, July 7.—The violent political storm which has been breaking around the ears of the Briand ministry for severs' days as a result of the government's disapproval of a plan to bolster up the tottering Industrial Bank of China, thereby protecting French prestige in the Orient, was regarded as a trifle calmer tonight following Premier Briand's appearance before a joint meeting of the senate Foreign Affairs and Finance committees.

This conference served as a prelude to the coming battle in the Chamber of Deputies, on which the fate of the ministry hangs.

It was admitted that Premier Briand is still in considerable danger in the Chamber, where Minister of Finance Doumer will be called on to reply to a pointed interpellation which is likely to result in Briand demanding a vote of confidence. With the opposition led by such redoubtable enemies as are to be found in the Clemenceau and Tardieu group, and the right wing supporters of Poincare, the outcome cannot be predicted.

ACCEPTS ALL BLAME.

At the meeting at which Premier Briand spoke, seventy-two Senators met at the Luxembourg palace with former President Poincare presiding for a three and one-half hour session. They heard Premier Briand accept full responsibility for the activities of Philipe Berthelot, general secretary of the Foreign Office, in his efforts to save the bank. The Premier said he believed Berthelot had acted wisely and justly. The storm which has placed Briand in danger of overthrow centered mainly about Berthelot, whose power is equivalent to that of minister, and whose brother is president of the Industrial Bank of China.

The Premier did not explain the government's position in not supporting the institution when a crash was imminent, though it was inferred that Berthelot acted in his individual capacity with the full knowledge of the ministry.

Premier Briand told interrogators he preferred that a full explanation of the government's position come from Minister Doumer, who is now ill, though he said there was still hope of averting a complete crash, which, if allowed to come, would bring the final amount of the deficit to 500,000,000 francs.

MAY ADJOURN CHAMBER.

Friends of the Premier pointed out that if it is seen that a vote of confidence is not probable, it is the Premier's privilege to declare the Chamber automatically adjourned, as the legal limit of the session is six months. There is considerable hope in the Briand camp, however, that the strength of its enemies will dwindle before the actual interpellating begins, and it is possible that Minister Doumer's indisposition may postpone activities another twenty-four hours.

Premier Briand also intervened in favor of M. Barthou, Minister of Liberated Regions, asking further credits for the maintenance of troops in Syria, Cilicia and the region north of Syria, which now are the center of negotiations with the Turks. He explained that it is the government's intention to give up the Cilician territory, whose port is Alexandretta, to the Turks under certain advantageous conditions. If credits are refused, he said, the parleys would break down.

As to the Upper Silesian situation, Briand said conditions were most satisfactory, and it was possible that the Supreme Council would be able to meet at the end of July, possibly Paris, when the report of the inter-Allied commission at Oppeln would be available.

M. Loucheur reported in a brief speech the result of negotiations with Germany which will bring about the payment of obligations more in goods and less in actual cash, because of difficulties attending the latter method. A plan was adopted by which owners of destroyed homes and industries will be able to order goods to fill their needs directly through the Franco-German control commissions in Paris and Berlin.

SHIPPING BOARD JOB GOES TO A. S. FREY.

TO BE IN SUPREME CHARGE OF SHIP OPERATION; OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT SOON.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Formal announcement of the appointment of A. S. Frey of Los Angeles as director of operations of the United States Shipping Board and his acceptance of the post will be made within forty-eight hours. Mr. Frey in a telegram to Chairman Lasker received today said he would accept the place tendered him when he was in Washington several days ago. He is expected to arrive in Washington within a week and will take up his new duties at once.

The plan of the Shipping Board is to place Mr. Frey in supreme charge of the operation of ships and all that goes with that job. He will report to the chairman and to the members of the board only and under him will also be the construction and repair work heretofore handled in a separate division.

Three other divisions will also be created:

Finance under R. H. Montgomery, well known as an expert accountant and financial wizard whose headquarters heretofore have been in New York.

Allocation of ships, under an expert shipping man whose duties will be to develop trade routes and see that proper facilities for shipping are given these routes either by charter or sale of ships of the Shipping Board.

Traffic also will be filled by a shipping expert whose duties it will be to get and route all the traffic possible to make and vary rates and to develop the freight traffic.

Unofficial but authentic information from the Shipping Board indicates that Chairman Lasker has selected all of the men for the above posts and will announce the names of the men at the time the formal announcement of Mr. Frey's appointment is made. An immediate reorganization of effort along these lines is expected and all of the men will be on the job before July 15.

A. S. Frey has held the position of vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles Steamship Company ever since the organization of the company, which operates the super-express steamers Yale and Harvard, about a year ago. For the past twenty-five years he has been prominently identified with Pacific Coast shipping interests and has a national reputation as an authority on shipping. During the war he served as district manager for the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, with headquarters at San Francisco. At one time he was one of the officials of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

assistants to Mr. Hoover, today declared that he has uncovered new evidence that supports the announcement from the State Department that the Carol Deering was looted and that within the next two weeks he hopes to be able to make public information that will absolutely prove the contention that the vessels did not go down in storms.

Just what information Ritchey has collected is not known. He stated today that to make it public at this time would almost certainly hinder the investigation and prevent the obtaining of corroborative evidence.

It is known, however, that a conference of representatives of the Department of Commerce, the Department of State, the Department of Justice and the Coast Guard was held at the Department of Commerce yesterday and the information collected by Ritchey laid before the conference.

The Department of Commerce has in its possession a postcard written to the mother of a seaman on the foreign steamer William O'Brien, which also disappeared without leaving a trace. The postcard was mailed in France and bore the signature of the son, but gave no hint of the fate of the remainder of the crew or what happened to the ship. Handwriting experts, it is said, have certified the handwriting on the card to be that of the man who is supposed to have signed it.

Ritchey also is giving careful consideration to the official report of the capture by Bolshevists of the Cuxhaven steamer Senator Schroeder, which was taken into the Russian port of Murmansk, but was recaptured by its crew and returned home.

The State Department announcement that the Carol Deering was looted and that there was evidence of foul play on board has been sent broadcast over the world together with a description of some of the men and the American consular agents abroad have been instructed to be on the lookout for them.

The name of every member of the crew of the Deering, the steamer Hewitt, and several other ships that have disappeared have been collected by the department and a careful investigation is being made to find if any of these men have communicated with kinsfolk. Mr. Ritchey tonight declined to say whether or not he had succeeded in finding any trace of the men in this way.

CHECKING LOST CARGOES.

Experts of the department are carefully checking the cargoes of the ships that have mysteriously vanished and also are making a study of the logs of the ships known to be somewhere near the ships when last heard from.

Pirates have not been the only theory advanced to account for the disappearance of the ships. It is suggested that some may have been scuttled for the insurance money.

One guess concerning the "phantom" ship sighted by the Munalbro is that it was either waiting for or had on board a cargo of rum. It was explained that the "ghost" ship might have been waiting to receive a cargo of liquor being brought from Europe or from Cuba or might have been loaded with spirits and ran away from the Munalbro because of fear of being recognized.

It was stated at the Coast Guard tonight that the appearance of this ship has not yet been officially brought to the attention of the commandant, but it was added that, of course, the ships of the Coast Guard would demand an accounting from any vessel it found that failed to answer signals, showing proper navigating lights or acting in a suspicious manner.

Capt. Giles's description of the vessel was very hazy, because of the darkness, and the fact that only the running lights—green and red—were shown. He said it was of "fair size" and apparently was very speedy. He could not tell whether it had one or two smokestacks or what color it was painted.

SHIP FAILS TO ANSWER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—Officials of the Munson Line admitted today that they had been trying for two days to establish radio communication with the liner Callao, due here Sunday from Buenos Aires and Rio Janeiro.

Recent reports of pirates operating off the American coast were scouted by officials of the line, who added that it was possible atmospheric conditions or disabling of the Callao's wireless was responsible for failure to raise her. The Callao, owned by the Shipping Board, carried sixty passengers.

Officials of the naval communications service said they had heard nothing from the Callao since she sailed from Rio Janeiro, June 20. A radio has been sent to all ships asking information. She flies the Peruvian flag.

SPOOKS APPEAR IN KABER TRIAL.

Kaber has $50,000 life insurance." Mrs. Kaber was said to have replied.

Mrs. Wade previously had told of a visit by Mrs. Kaber to her home when she said the latter told her that she had met a professor of an Eastern college where her daughter, Marian McArdle, was in school, and that she loved him.

On cross-examination Mrs. Wade said she had been able to communicate with spirits ever since her birth.

"Can you get into communication with the spirit world now?" she was asked.

"Yes, sir."

"Go ahead."

SEANCE HALTED.

The jury and spectators were all set for a seance, but the court sustained an objection interposed by the prosecution.

Mrs. Wade then told briefly how she communicated with spirits.

On one visit Mrs. Wade said Mrs. Kaber was accompanied by her spirit friends.

Mrs. Wade said Mrs. Kaber came to her the first time to get her to intercede with her first husband, Mr. McArdle, to send money to Marian McArdle to pay her way in school.

Mrs. Bertha Miethke, grandmother of Patricia, the little girl adopted by Mrs. Kaber, testified the latter had told her she "hated Dan Kaber and was going to get rid of him within the next six months in some manner or other."

ment will take should the shutdown of the oil companies result in serious lack of fuel for the public utilities is a matter of much speculation. President Obregon told newspaper men that in such an event "the government would make use of all the powers given it by law to defend the interests of the nation."

Tampico advices today describe the anchoring of the Sacramento there yesterday as causing intense excitement, and how later the commander visited Claud I. Dawson, American Consul.

The Cleveland was expected to arrive last night, while, according to a rumor in Tampico, two British vessels in British Honduran waters have been ordered to Tampico.

One Tampico report asserted that the Sacramento had on board, 1200 marines. (The Sacramento is a vessel of 1425 tons, and her naval complement is only 136 men.)

Pantry Girl Now Can Think About Her Rough Luck.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DETROIT, July 7.—Last week E. C. Cox, 28 years old, thought this a hard world. He worked in the engine room of a hotel here at 40 cents an hour. One of the pantry girls spurned his proposal of marriage because of his low wage, and he had to borrow $2 to buy a clean shirt.

Today Cox bid the pantry girl farewell and started for California, where, he had been notified, a one-third share in the $15,000,000 estate of Dr. Samuel Shaw of Hollister, awaits him.

Cox learned of his inheritance through an attorney.

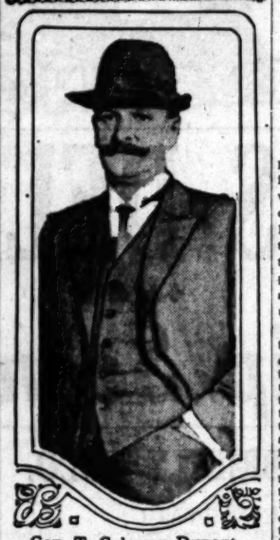
NEW REPUBLICAN IN THE SENATE.



Gen. T. Coleman Dupont.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DOVER (Del.) July 7.—Gen. T. Coleman Dupont was today appointed United States Senator from Delaware by Gov. Denney to succeed Josiah O. Wolcott, who resigned last week to become Chancellor of Delaware.

Gen. Dupont, who is the Delaware member of the Republican National Committee, will serve the unexpired term which runs until March, 1923. The appointment of Gen. Dupont adds a Republican to the Senate. Senator Wolcott having been elected to the office as a Democrat.

DENVER, July 7.—"I have heard nothing from the Governor of my appointment," declared Gen. Dupont when the Associated Press bulletin announcing his appointment as United States Senator from Delaware was read to him by telephone at his hotel in Colorado Springs, where he is spending the summer. "I cannot discuss the matter until I hear from the Governor."

USES BIG STICK ON BONUS BILL.

the room set aside for the use of the President for his comfort and the efficient reception of his guests. One man hurried for paper and ink and pens. Another set out for rubber bands and blotters, and still another, thoughtful of the comfort of the President, and realizing that the thermometer was in the nineties, dug up from the caverns of the basement a fine old silver ice pitcher and tray of the vintage of 1843 and loaded it to the guards with big lumps of cracked ice and was ready for the President when he came up to his room an hour after he had arrived in the building.

Senator Lodge was an early caller and then the President began sending in for other members of the body of which he was a member for several years. Senator Underwood, leader of the Democratic minority, was one of the first to confer with the President, and his support of the President's position is unquestioned. Yesterday in a speech he denounced the bonus legislation as now drawn and approved in emphatic style of the stand of the administration as outlined in Secretary Mellon's letter and now backed up by the President himself.

LONG CONFERENCE.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota, acting chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate, in the absence of Senator Penrose, was one of the callers that remained the longest with the President and it is assumed that the President outlined in greater detail than with any of the others the plans he would like to have worked out in regard to the bonus legislation.

President Harding departed from the Capitol as informally as he came—as part of the day's work and waved his hand to the salutes of many of the employees who had served him when Senator. He visited the Capitol today as the Chief Executive of a big business organization and took the step to prevent his organization incurring an obligation before anyone knew how it was to be paid for or where the funds were coming from to discharge the pledge to be made in the law to the soldiers of the World War.

Tomorrow it is expected his visit will bear fruit in a successful motion in the Senate to recommit the bill to the Senate Finance Committee, to be held there until the internal revenue tax laws have been revised and the Treasury can formulate exact estimates as to the revenues to be received from all sources.

Discover Great Oil Field Near Spanish Capital.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MADRID, July 7. — Discoveries which would indicate there is an enormous oil field in the Lozoya River Valley, fifty miles from Madrid, are announced by M. A. Gonzales, a mining engineer. He claims ancient traditions have referred to the existence of oil in the region.

The engineer said endeavors were being made to raise Spanish capital for exploiting the field.

WET FOREIGN LINERS SHOULD BE DISCREET.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Foreign liners entering American ports with bar-room stocks of alcoholic beverages should be "very discreet," Atty.-Gen. Daugherty said today in discussing the application of the Department of Justice's opinion that transit shipments of liquor through American territory are illegal.

Customs officials who are preparing regulations to enforce the ruling indicated that previous opinion of the department classified liquor stocks on foreign vessels as sea stores entitled to temporary privileges inside of American territory.

UNIONS PASS THE BUCK TO RAIL CHIEFS.

Say Trouble is Unlikely if Time and Half for Overtime is Promised.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, July 7.—September promises to bring a critical period in industry as affected by the railway and packing-house union-labor organizations. The railway brotherhods are to complete what is virtually a strike referendum by September 1, and the agreements of the packing-house workers now being arbitrated by Federal Judge Samuel Alschuler expire at that time.

Rail chiefs remaining in town yesterday following the close of their conferences, at which it was decided to put the 12½ per cent wage cut up to the workers, declared that they will endeavor to open negotiations with the chief executives of the various roads to obtain an assurance that they will not ask for further wage cuts. They say that the question of a strike is up to the rail heads and that acceptance of the reductions ordered will depend largely upon the attitude of the executives in their attempt to modify the working rules and conditions as laid down in the national agreements.

"There will be no trouble if the executives agree not to proceed with plans to wipe out our working rules, particularly the one providing for time and a half for overtime," declared one union leader.

According to latest information, Mr. De Valera is maintaining the republican claim, but is willing to give the Irish people a full opportunity to decide on any serious proposition.

SMUTS SEES KING.

Gen. Smuts was received in audience this morning by King George, the latter having shown a keen desire to be informed of every move in the direction of peace in Ireland. Gen. Smuts gave the King the impressions he gathered while in Dublin, the audience lasting half an hour.

In an authentic quarter it was declared today that recent utterances and acts of the Sinn Fein leaders were considered to indicate a recession from their demands for an independent Ireland, and to imply a willingness to accept as a talking basis, a "united Ireland." Its legislative and governing machinery to incorporate under a different name the Ulster Parliament, which would have the approximate status of a provincial assembly. A similar body, under such an arrangement, would be created in the south, with some form of an "all-Ireland" assembly, consisting of upper and lower houses, which would serve as a coordinating body.

Public appreciation of education has greatly increased during the past year with the result that much headway has been made in the movement to secure the creation of a Federal department of education with a cabinet official as director. Hugh S. Magill, field secretary of the National Education Association, declared. Mr. Magill presented the annual report of the legislative committee.

Arthur H. Chamberlain of San Francisco, reporting for the committee on thrift education, said that thrift is the foundation of character and urged not only the conservation of natural resources, but conservation of health and time as well.

The city school system and its relation to the American program in education, was discussed. Important objectives of the city school were set forth as follows:

A superior teacher in every classroom.

ADVANCE CASH TO ROAD

Government to Furnish Half Billion Railways; to Aid Business.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Negotiations between government and railroad executives involving refunding arrangement by which would receive approximately $500,000,000 in additional [illegible] within the six months are expected to be completed, [illegible] Secretary Mellon announced today. The advances would be [illegible] the sums expended out of railroad earnings by the government [illegible] betterments during wartime control, he added.

Additional appropriations by Congress, he indicated, may be needed before all the money can be furnished, but a part of it may be advanced by the treasury out of present authorizations, if agreements tentatively reached are confirmed. The government will receive 6 per cent securities from the individual roads involved, in exchange for the advances, and the railroads will be enabled to pay off outstanding accounts for supplies and embark upon repairs which have been deferred.

WILL AID BUSINESS.

Both Mr. Mellon and Secretary Hoover said the plan contemplated would be of great business value to the country in easing credits, and furnishing employment. Mr. Hoover estimated that 200,000 additional men could be employed by the roads if funds were available.

Mr. Mellon pointed out that the transaction, if completed, will not involve loss, but may involve profit for the treasury, since the railroads will pay 6 per cent on the money advanced, and treasury borrowings have been obtained generally at lower rates.

LESS FREIGHT CARRIED.

Railroads of the country loaded with revenue freight 775,061 cars during the week ending June 25, or 5630 less than for the week previous, according to a statement today by the American Railway Association.

The reduction included decreases in all commodities except ore, which showed a slight increase. The number of cars loaded with grain was 88,821, or 2172 less than the preceding week, while merchandise and miscellaneous freight loadings were 463,107, or 1416 cars, under the previous week.

MOTHER AND SON ATTEMPT SUICIDE

FORMER CALIFORNIA RESIDENTS NEAR DEATH IN PARIS HOSPITAL.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, July 7.—Mme. De Guise-Hite and her son, George Harbaugh, American residents of Paris, are in a serious condition at a local hospital here as the result of an asserted suicide pact, says the Paris edition of the New York Herald.

Their supposed attempt at suicide is attributed by the police to financial difficulties. Physicians are working hard to revive them, but fears were expressed that their efforts would cease.

Mme. De Guise-Hite is the divorced wife of an Englishman, having married him following a divorce from George Harbaugh, said to be a Cleveland millionaire, and now a resident of El Cajon, San Diego county, California.

SAN DIEGO, July 7.—At the La Jolla home of George E. Harbaugh, Mrs. Harbaugh, the present wife of the millionaire, speaking for Mrs. Harbaugh, denied that Mme. De Guise-Hite, Harbaugh's former wife, and his son, George Harbaugh, Jr., had been cut off from their allowances.

Mrs. Harbaugh said they were very sorry to hear of the suicide pact in Paris of Mme. De Guise-Hite and young Harbaugh and added that alimony had been paid each month to Mme. De Guise-Hite, and that they had heard nothing of the matter other than through the newspaper patches concerning the Paris affair.

GAIN IN NUMBER OF UNEMPLOYED.

During June 46,414 Added to the Idle List.

Freight Rates Blamed for Poor Business.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Industrial conditions continued on the downgrade during the month of June, according to reports received by the United States employment service from sixty-five principal industrial centers of the country.

A net decrease of 2.9 per cent in the number of workers employed by 1428 firms between May 31 and June 30 is indicated. Since January 31 the decrease has amounted to 6.2 per cent.

These firms employed 1,527,124 workers on June 30 as against 1,573,538 on May 31, a net decrease of 46,414. The det decrease in these establishments since January 31 has totaled 101,010.

In eight out of fourteen groups of industries decreases took place in the number employed, while in the other six there were increases. Thirty-nine cities reported employment decreases while twenty-six showed increases.

Commenting on general conditions, Francis I. Jones, director-general of the employment service, says:

BLAMES FREIGHT RATES.

"Detailed examination of the present returns indicates clearly the fundamental causes of the protracted industrial depression and the mounting tide of unemployment. Continued unsatisfactory conditions of transportation with freight rates in many instances considered almost prohibitive; lack of anything like a normal foreign market; the present low value of farm products; stagnation in iron and steel; high cost of construction; and general dullness of the retail trade stand out prominently as leading factors in the situation.

"There are indications here and there of resumption of building operations, though for the most part on a restricted scale. The almost nation-wide housing shortage still persists.

"Industry generally is optimistic and while the likelihood of a dull summer in most lines is fully recognized, the tendency is to count on improvement by fall and a healthy though not spectacular business revival by the spring of 1922."

Industries which showed improved conditions included textiles leather, tobacco, stone, clay and glass products, and food and kindred products. The largest decrease in employment was in the iron and steel industry which had a decline of 21.3 per cent in the number employed.

TAFT TAKES SEAT MONDAY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—President Harding, following Secretary Mellon's warning letter, took a vigorous course today to halt passage of the soldier bonus bill, appealing in person to a score or more of Senators to postpone the proposed legislation, although approving it in principle.

The soldiers' relief investigating committee of Congress in a closed session today learned of plans of the Public Health Service for expending the $18,000,000 appropriated for hospital purposes. So far they found plans have been made only for 6000 hospital beds.

Wu Ting Fang, Foreign Minister in the Cabinet of President Sun Yat Sen of South China, in a cablegram to the South China representative in Washington, Mr. Ma Soo, charges that Japanese are supplying officers and munitions to the Kwangsi militarists in their invasion of Kwangtung against the South China Constitutionalists.

Consideration of the tariff bill was begun in the House. The Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee presented a minority report assailing the bill and charging that the Republicans are protecting campaign contributors.

The Senate Committee on Agriculture approved the Tincher grain futures bill after adopting amendments proposed by the grain exchanges with a view to making the measure less objectionable.

A further decrease in the number of workers employed in the industries of the country took place during June, according to the monthly reports of the United States Employment Service from sixty-five industrial centers.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon expressed the hope that an agreement relative to the disputed points involved in the railroad settlements would be reached within the next few days.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TALKS WORLD POLICY.

RUSSIAN GREEK CHURCH WANTS ORGANIZATION; UNIVERSAL CRUSADE PLAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—Determination of a world policy for the Christian Endeavor was begun today by the sixth World's Christian Endeavor Convention. Conferences were held and plans made to extend the crusade in behalf of Christianity in all countries.

Word was received from Russia that the Greek church would welcome Christian Endeavor there. The people of Finland, Esthonia, Letvia, Germany, China, Mexico, South America and India, and elsewhere, were also reported bidding for the help of the society. The Rev. Dr. S. M. Zwemer of Cairo, Egypt, in an address tonight, urged that a great evangelistic campaign be started to christianize every Mohammedan land, and every section of the Moslem world. He said that thousands of Mohammedans were anxious to become Christians and were flocking to the missionary stations already established. He urged that new forces be sent into the Near East and other Moslem countries.

One of the features of the convention is the singing by a choir of 1000 voices. All the song service programs are led by Homer Rodeheaver, Billy Sunday's song leader.

The first world convention of the Junior World's Christian Endeavor opens tomorrow. More than 1500 children have registered as delegates.

Official convention records indicated tonight that the convention was the largest religious gathering ever held in this country, 16,000 delegates being registered.

Two of the young delegates, F. R. Oves Kilbourn of Waxahachie, and Wm. Grey of Ferris, Tex., made the trip by hiking. They were twenty-four days on the road and claimed to have spent but $8 cents.

Two cities have entered the race for the 1925 convention. They are Portland, Ore., and Des Moines, Ia.

PACKING-HOUSES AT SANGER ARE BURNED.

FLAMES ALSO CONSUME ESPEE CARS; LOSS MAY BE SIXTY THOUSAND.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANGER, July 7.—Fire of unknown origin which started in the Setchel packing-house here at 1 p.m. today, destroyed it and the Sanger packing-house buildings, and several empty Southern Pacific cars on the adjoining tracks, causing an estimated loss of $60,000.

The Sanger fire department devoted its time to preventing the flames from spreading when it was seen that the packing-houses were doomed.

For a time other packing-houses stretching along the track were threatened, and only prompt work on the part of the fire department saved these other buildings.

The Bacon Coal Company's buildings, adjoining the burned structures, caught fire, but the flames were extinguished before great damage had been done. Oil cars on the tracks also caught fire, but were saved.

The fire was discovered by employees of the Southern Pacific and at the time the alarm was turned in, was raging inside the Setchel plant. By the time the fire department reached the scene it had spread to the Sanger establishment, and was eating its way through the frame structures.

Fortunately no one was working in either of the buildings at the time, the workmen who were preparing the plants for the coming season not having returned from lunch.

DOMINIONS HIT AT SLOWNESS OF NEWS.

WANT BETTER COMMUNCIATION WITH GREAT BRITAIN, SAY PREMIERS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, July 7.—Sharp criticism of the paucity and slowness of communications by steamship, airplane, telegraph and wireless between Great Britain and the dominions were voiced at Tuesday's session of the imperial conference at which a decision was reached to appoint a committee to consider development of communications. The official text of the speeches was issued today and in it there were expressions of disapproval of American world distribution of news.

Premier Hughes of Australia said the United States was conducting wireless service to England, France, Norway, Japan and Germany, and was arranging to cover other fields. He declared America was daily radiating, not only American news but American concepts of world events, while Great Britain did nothing.

STATE CONTROLLER WILL QUIT OFFICE.

CHAMBERS SETS AT REST RUMORS THAT HE WILL NOT RESIGN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—All reports that State Controller Chambers would refuse to resign and would continue in the dual role of Controller and manager of the local branch of the Bank of Italy, were quieted today when Chambers announced in an address before the Rotary Club that he will quit the public office.

It was declared Chambers would continue as controller until his term expired Jan. 1, 1923, because he had failed to receive assurance from Gov. Stephens that the latter would name as his successor someone acceptable to Chambers.

In his address, Chambers said:

"On the eve of my retirement from public life I am sorry and I am grateful, too, for the controller's office handles big things. One comes in contact with big people. I am retiring with reluctance, but I have to consider the future of myself and family. No man can ever get rich in politics and stay straight. I am a poorer man than when I went into office. I am not quitting public life, however, but hope in my new position as vice-president of the Sacramento branch of the Bank of Italy to do some of the practical things along material lines for this city."

POLICE HOLD WOMAN'S CONFESSION TO SLAYING MAN WITH LOVER'S AID.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN JOSE, July 7.—Mrs. Mary Vuyacich of Palo Alto confessed today, according to the police, that she and Nikola Jaknoz killed her husband, Steven Vuyacich, on May 9, for his life insurance of $5000, so they could return to Montenegro to live.

After four months of plotting they finally tied Vuyacich with ropes in his house, dragged him into the back yard and there killed him with an ax, according to the story the police say she told today. Vuyacich was a caretaker on the Stanford estate grounds.

The widow and Jaknoz were arrested in connection with the slaying May 10, but were released June 24, because of insufficient evidence to warrant a formal charge.

Neighbors were instructed to watch her movements, however, and finally saw her dig up from the bed of a creek some bloodstained clothes, according to the police. When confronted with this evidence she confessed, the police say.

DECLARES PARIS TARIFF PROVISION PROTEST BASED ON A MISUNDERSTANDING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Announcement from Paris that France had forwarded a protest from the French Chamber of Commerce against a provision of the emergency tariff bill authorizing American agents to examine the books of French firms exporting to the United States, brought conflicting statements today from the leaders in the fight on the permanent tariff bill, which includes substantially the same provision.

Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee declared the French attitude was based on a misunderstanding of the law. Representative Garner of Texas, a Democratic member of the committee, said the examination provision was "just a part of the program of high-tariff advocates to bar all imports by one means or another."

WARRANTS ISSUED IN STOCK PROMOTION DEAL

COTTON MILL EMPLOYEES SAY THEY WERE DEFRAUDED BY GLOWING PROMISES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

OAKLAND, July 7.—A stock-promotion deal in which hundreds of employees of the California cotton mills here were said to be victims, resulted today with the issuance of warrants for the arrest of George Graham Rice, a stock promoter, alias Jacob S. Herzog, and the Child-Barclay Company, alias John Doe, an unknown representative of the company, with headquarters in Salt Lake.

The warrants were sworn to by J. H. Harrison and F. Weisteil, employees of the California cotton mills of Oakland, who claim that they and hundreds of other employees had been inveigled into buying shares of Broken Hills Mining Company stock under glowing promises. The stock later proved worthless, they said. The warrants were issued following an investigation by E. C. Easton, deputy commissioner of corporations.

SPIRITED ARGUMENTS AT WOODMEN'S MEET.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PROTEST ON OIL TAX EFFECTIVE.

No Tariff to be Imposed on Mexican Product.

Present Situation in United States Abnormal.

Hundreds of Telegrams Sent to Congressman.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Hundreds of telegrams arrived from California producers today protesting against any tariff on Mexican oil and as a result of this barrage presented to Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee by Congressman Osborne it can be definitely stated that when the bill passes the House there will be no duty on oil, though there may be a provision authorizing the President of the United States to place a reciprocal duty on oil from any nation which imposes a duty on American petroleum. On the highest possible authority it was said today the tariff bill in its final form would not carry with it any duty on petroleum or its products imported into the United States.

The compelling reason for this reversal of the committee is due to the advice from United States oil producers that the present situation is abnormal and that in two years at most this country will have to import large quantities of petroleum. The point was made that the Mexican field is the natural surplus supply for the United States and that once the product is diverted from the markets of the United States to other countries which need oil the surplus so badly needed by the United States will not be available in Mexico. It was also pointed out that the transportation equipment for handling all these Mexican oil supplies is now provided for and is operating successfully to the United States ports and once diverted will be difficult, if not impossible, to again serve this country.

ARGUMENTS BY SHOUP.

One of the most powerful arguments submitted to the committee was from Paul Shoup, vice-president of the Southern Pacific, who while engaged incidentally in producing oil is more of a transportation and business man and his arguments especially appeal to the framers of the tariff as sound.

Mr. Shoup's telegram as presented to the Ways and Means Committee by Congressman Osborne was as follows:

"My views, which I think are largely shared by oil men in California, are that the petroleum industry on the Pacific Coast will not be benefited by any tariff on Mexican oil. I fully sympathize with the plight of the oil companies in the Midcontinent fields, which seek help, but I am doubtful if any such duty will help them materially, and am certain that the present condition of overproduction is temporary. Mexico's production, as I remember it, is only about one-sixth that of the United States and is largely consumed by other countries and, further, is apt to decrease rather than increase.

WILL BE SEEKING OIL.

"The present deplorable situation in the eastern fields arises from two primary and fundamental causes; first, tremendous development following our need for oil during the war period and subsequently and the large profits during that period productive of wild-catting and excessive development and, second, from the present prostrate condition of the industry, temporarily lessening demand in all directions. Both these conditions can and will be corrected probably gradually, but possibly much more rapidly than we think. In two years we will be looking around for oil to supply national needs. Present industrial stagnation tends to reduce drilling in Mexico as well as the United States, especially with Mexico's uncertainty as to salt water.

"The broader policy will be to try to annex Mexican oil resources as resources of United States, keeping in mind that we are dealing with a natural resource and its possible exhaustion in twenty years, and not an industry which is made permanently strong through a protective tariff.

"The proposed action will tend to divert control and ownership of Mexican oil to foreign sources.

"The export duty just established by Mexican government has resulted in closing down shipments from that country temporarily.

"The Pacific Oil Company and the Associated Oil Company have no interest in Mexico and have no thought of acquiring any."

TELEGRAMS OF PROTEST.

Congressman Osborne in transmitting the other telegrams wrote Chairman Fordney as follows:

"Inclosed I hand you a number of telegrams from oil companies in California as well as associations and agencies interested or engaged in the production of oil, all protesting against the imposing of any import duty on oil coming into the United States from Mexico and other foreign countries.

"These telegrams are from the following sources:

"Chamber of Mines and Oil, I. W. Fuqua, president:

"California Oil World.

"Independent Oil Producers' Agency, L. P. St. Clair, president.

"Olin Wellborn, Jr., attorney-at-law.

"Doheny Pacific Petroleum Company.

"Ruby Oil Company.

"Prudential Petroleum Company.

"Bankers' Oil Company.

"J. M. Danziger.

"R. J. Schweppe.

"Albert Searl.

"California Star Oil Company.

"Red Star Petroleum Company.

"Salvia Oil Company.

"Coalinga Star Oil Company.

"Midland Oilfield Company, Ltd.

"Maricopa Oilfields Company, Ltd.

"Petroleum Midway Company, Ltd.

"California Petroleum Corporation.

"American Oilfields Company.

"American Petroleum Company, all of Los Angeles.

"I respectfully ask that these telegrams, coming as they do from such important sources, be laid before your committee before the subject comes up for consideration."

BALLOON FALLS INTO SAN FRANCISCO BAY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7. — An Army observation balloon fell into the bay off Angel Island today with Capt. Ivan B. Snell and two sergeants of the Air Service, but all were rescued and the balloon moored after drifting around for twenty minutes.

The balloon, which was free, put out from Fort Baker for observations of various bay points. It was too heavily ballasted, according to Air Service headquarters, and sank down to the water after it had gone but a mile. A rescue launch put out from Angel Island a few minutes after the balloon landed and took the dripping service men on board.

BERLIN STRIKE MAY DEVELOP GENERALLY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, July 7.—The strike of the laborers employed on lands controlled by the municipality of Berlin, in progress for some time, is threatening to develop into a general strike of all the municipal workers. Their leaders state that partial returns of a vote show there will be a two-thirds majority for a strike.

The Communist organ, the "Red Flag," declares that as far as the electric and tramway workers of Greater Berlin are concerned, the two-thirds majority necessary for the general strike already has been exceeded.

HOUSE TARIFF BATTLE BEGUN.

Reading of Document Only Half Completed.

Broadside Against Measure Fired by Democrats.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—A two weeks' battle over the tariff bill was begun in the House today. Debate on the measure did not actually start inasmuch as the reading of the document was only half completed in the three hours it was before the House. The fireworks will start tomorrow when the special rule limiting amendments is reported from the Rules Committee.

A broadside against the bill was delivered by Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee in their minority report. The Democrats, admitting their inability to make a detailed analysis, declared that "its last minute changes whispered to a favored few who are in keeping with the intrigue, secrecy and jobbery which inspired its covert schedules, cast its complex and compounded rates, and fixed its unascertainable and incalculable duties, with the hidden trickery which has transformed schedules, hidden jokers, trabsplanted items, changed the nomenclature, and made it impossible to compare it with any of its predecessors."

ASSAIL VALUATION PLAN.

Assailing the American valuation plan as "first among the subtle covert infamies which mask their way through this bill," the Democrats declare it means the destruction of the import trade of the United States. It is objected to as a "proposal to change the base for ad valorem duties from the actual price paid for them when purchased by the importer to a speculative, indefinite, uncertain, nebulous opinion reached by an appraiser hidden in the recesses of a customhouse." It is declared that the new system will provoke endless confusion and litigation, and that it will make the business of importation impossible.

Denouncing the Fordney bill in general, the Democrats declare that "it is doubtful if in the history of political affairs a measure so irredeemable and universally vicious has ever been submitted to the lawmaking power of a civilized society."

ALLEGE PLUNDER IS OBJECT.

The Democrats charge flatly that the Republicans are giving protection to contributors to their campaign funds. They express the belief "that this measure is a plan to plunder the people of our own country and to oppress the people of every country for the benefit of a few men who have succeeded in usurping for all practical purposes the taxing power of this government, using it primarily to enrich themselves and secondarily to finance the political party which tolerates, encourages and facilitates the usurpation."

The minority report is signed by Representatives Kitchin of North Carolina, Garner of Texas, Collier of Mississippi, Oldfield of Arkansas, Crisp of Georgia, Carew of New York and Tague of Massachusetts. It was presented by Representative Garner, ranking member in the absence of Mr. Kitchin.

CHICAGO ASSASSIN IS SAFELY HIDDEN.

MAY BE KNOWN TO MANY ITALIANS, BUT FEUDISTS HOLD OWN COUNSEL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, July 7.—The assassin who shot Joseph Sinacola, member of the D'Andrea faction in the bloody Nineteenth Ward, has succeeded in slipping into the security of concealment and silence that invariably follows a killing in the Italian district. Two unnamed Italians are under arrest and the police are hunting a third, but they have been unable to connect them with the shooting. The actual assassin, the police believe, is known to many persons, but such is the code that breeds and foments political strife that the feudists who control the ward resent interference and are anxious to settle the score after their own fashion.

Sinacola was a contractor and close friend of Anthony D'Andrea and Joseph Lappisa, both of whom were recently killed by assassins armed with shotguns. Sinacola's 13-year-old daughter says three strange men came often to the house and that Sinacola would hold whispered conferences with them in a darkened corner of the house.

Last night she saw her father approaching his home. He had picked up the little child of a neighbor and carried it a few feet. When he put the child down, a tall man stepped out of a doorway and shot Sinacola in the head with an automatic pistol. The assassin had arrived in an automobile, but after the shooting he ran through an alley, and in the excitement the driver of the machine slipped away unnoticed.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 7.—Midsummer taking of stocks and inventories by many of the local manufacturing companies, necessitating in some instances of shut downs for one or two weeks, was an adverse factor affecting most lines of retail business during the last week. For the first three days of the week business in general was rather quiet, but later buying increased in most lines.

HOUSE IS ADAMANT AGAINST AMENDMENTS.

REFUSES TO AGREE ON SENATE PROVISIONS ON NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The House refused again today to agree to Senate amendments to the naval appropriation bill, authorizing the acceptance of a tract of land at Sand Point, Wash., as a site for a naval aviation base, and appropriating $800,000 toward development of such a base.

The House also reaffirmed its disagreement to Senate items carrying $1,104,000 for a pier extension at the Puget Sound, Washington, Navy yard, and $90,000 for a rifle range there.

Previously the House had rejected all amendments, but the Senate, insisting that they be agreed to, sent the bill back for another vote on the provision. The House also stood firm in its opposition to the Senate amendment authorizing construction of two airplane carriers, voting, 141 to 4, to further insist upon its disagreement to the item.

Heated debate developed over the amendment. Representative Mann declared that he would rather have one airplane carrier in the Navy than ten battleships, while Representative Mondell, Republican leader, and Chairman Butler of the Naval Affairs Committee, contended that authorization for a carrier should not be carried in an appropriation bill.

The House concurred in a number of the minor items which are favored by the Senate, but its refusal to agree to the Pacific Coast provisions and the airplane carrier amendment necessitates sending the bill back to the Senate.

BUSINESS REVIEW.

Los Angeles Economic Position Strong; Food Prices Compared.

Following is the monthly review of business conditions in Los Angeles, issued by the Public Service Department of the Merchants National Bank.

The first half of the current year has ended with Los Angeles holding a strong economic position as compared to the rest of the country. It would be imprudent to attempt a forecast of what the coming six months hold for this city. It is significant, however, that Los Angeles has been the business white spot of the country most of the time since the first of the year.

Although Los Angeles is probably less affected by national conditions than most cities, it is not to be expected that it would proceed uncatched from the national readjustment should the same be extended or seek a lower level. Extensive building activities have been of constant help to this city. Not only has money thus been circulated but labor has been employed at periods when large unemployment seemed certain. Back to the farm movement of labor also has helped.

Those adjustments which have taken place in local labor and living costs have been accomplished with less economic turmoil than has been the case with most cities of like size. Improvement of the national situation seems to depend greatly upon the establishment of a more equitable line of balance in the prices of standard commodities. Certain classes of commodities are entirely too low and others too high as to the prices paid producers.

Federal reserve reports indicate a growing willingness on the part of retailers to dispose of old stocks on the basis of prices now being paid the wholesaler. Some obstructionists continue to hope for liquidation without readjustment losses.

As to Los Angeles, it seems that this city's principal business, that of growing, is progressing satisfactorily and as long as it continues to do so the situation should be increasingly encouraging. The steady maintenance of extensive home-building activities is at present a most favorable indication that this growth is continuing.

Wheat Closes at Top; Gains are Shown for Day.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, July 7.—Wheat closed at the top, showing gains of 3¼ to 4¾ cents for the day. In addition to heavy short covering there was a broad investment demand. Corn finished 1¼ to 1⅞ cents higher and oats were ⅞ to 1¼ cents higher. Rye advanced 3 cents. Pork finished 10 to 20 cents higher, lard 5 to 7½ cents up and ribs 15 cents higher. Cash wheat premiums were 1 cent lower for hard winters and unchanged for red. Cash corn basis was ¼ to 1 cent higher and oats ¼ cent higher. Local cash sales were 80,000 bushels of wheat, including 15,000 bushels of exporters late yesterday; 173,000 bushels of corn, including 170,000 bushels to exporters; 138,000 bushels of oats, including 60,000 bushels c.i.f. Buffalo, and 5000 bushels of barley. Seaboard reported 1,000,000 bushels of wheat worked for export.

Wheat exhibited much strength. The market started out quiet but the bull wave deserving, because a few minutes later prices took rapidly upward movement. Buying was mainly by houses with outboard connections and, in fact, on every appearance buying was almost all for eastern account. The bull trade followed the setters and also became infatuated with the long side. There was a little hedging pressure on the market as against purchases of cash wheat to arrive. Offerings of new wheat from the country were fairly liberal on the theory, the bulk of the sales being to shippers on the spot. The bullish factors were the estimate of a 10,000,000-bushel deterioration in Missouri prospects from a month ago, according to Allen Logan, the bullish report of Leffingwell from North Dakota and talk of further good export sales. Minneapolis advices later in the day told of a drop in temperatures and good rains in that city.

Corn also showed much strength. The feature was the lack of selling pressure. The buying was scattered at the start, but short covering was noted later. The intense heat is causing apprehension over the crop outlook. Forecasts for continued fair and warmer weather for the entire belt. The domestic cash demand was light. Exporters were reported bidding for corn, but no shipper said he gave a bid. A cable refused overnight offer of 200,000 bushels of corn at 1¼ cents over July c.i.f. Buffalo after the close yesterday and was informed this morning that corn had not been worked. Bids generally for export corn are lower than the shippers can pay for grain by delivering it on July contracts. Receipts dropped off sharply and country offered no corn to speak of, relative. Local receipts were estimated at 185 cars.

Better prices were made in oats. Strengthening factors were the advance in other grains, improvement in the harvester strike situation and crop advices of an unfavorable nature. Trade was featured by the activity displayed by commission houses, this concern buying September early and later purchasing July and selling September against it at a 2¾-cent difference. Receipts dropped off, the estimate being for only eighty cars.

Rye was firm. Cash No. 2 sold at $1.17 and No. 4 at $1.15. Seaboard reported sales of 100,000 bushels for export. Receipts, one car.

PRODUCE PRICES FIRM UNDER ACTIVE BUYING.

SUPPLIES OF CANTALOUPES DECREASING; MARKET HAS STRONG UNDERTONE.

There were few price changes during the session yesterday on the local produce market, nearly all lines holding firm and unchanged at the level of the preceding day. Demand was brisk, and most of the offerings were absorbed readily by the trade at Wednesday's quotations. Cantaloupes remained firm and practically unchanged, with supplies lighter. Much of the inferior stock has been cleaned up, and dealers are anticipating decreased receipts for the remainder of the season. New stock is arriving from local producing districts, but not in sufficient quantity to offset the declines in earlier arrivals. Plums were also firm and in good demand throughout the day, the Satsuma and Climax varieties bringing 7 cents per pound, while Tragedy plums ranged from 5 to 6 cents per pound. Peaches were scarce and prices were slightly firmer for the fancy stock, which moved readily at $3 per lug. Fancy apricots were in brisk demand at 3½ to 4 cents per pound for the fancy grades, while the poorer offerings were bringing from 2 to 3 cents.

Vegetable prices remained practically unchanged throughout the day. Corn moved up slightly, showing a gain of 5 to 10 cents per lug, but cucumbers, which were in liberal supply, were lower. Arrivals of Imperial Valley tomatoes are decreasing, while the offerings of local stock are gaining.

The entire market for potatoes continued weak, with comparatively light shipments reported. Carload sales f.o.b. Imperial Valley, were made at $1 to $1.10 per hundred, with most of the stock selling at $1.10, while growers were reserving from 50 to 60 cents per sack. Wire inquiry was light, and many shipments rolled stocks.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Millions Lost in Wildcat Films; News of Finance and Business Marts.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

A form of investment not so thoroughly worked in Los Angeles as in eastern cities has separated innocent speculators who craved a fling in the "profession" from millions of presumably hard earned dollars during the last year. It is represented by opportunities generously offered for participation in the financing of the motion-picture industry.

Here, close to where the wheels go around, it is not so easy to deceive, even the gullible, with rose-tinted tales of the great fortunes to be made through the manufacture of some epochal film, which is described in literature modeled upon that circulated by the near oil companies, and which paints in fairest terms the glory, not to mention wealth, which is to accrue from having a part in uplifting the screen.

Many of these propagandists have laid their scene in Los Angeles and traded upon the legitimate statistics which make this city the film capital of the world. Prospects have been shown views of large studios humming with activity, and then permitted to scan statements really culled from the reports of the more successful going concerns which base their returns upon years of constructive work.

The vigilance committee of the national association of the motion-picture industry says that more than $50,000,000 was sunk by American investors last year in dishonest motion-picture enterprises.

In its investigation of more than 100 companies with a paper capitalization of $250,000,000, the committee found a large proportion of them officered by men without experience in the film business, and many others carried on by promoters with bad records.

The $50,000,000 thrown away by investors refers, the committee says, only to money invested in "wildcat organizations of no experience in the movie field," which have misled their victims by luring accounts of the earnings of film companies.

Several of the largest of these venturesome propositions were either forced into bankruptcy or died without any court formalities. For the launching of one of these companies the people of New York and Washington paid more than $500,000, while others had to be abandoned after the vigilance committee brought the condition to the notice of the backers of the enterprises.

Of course the legitimate producers work in harmony for the elimination of these wildcat organizations, realizing that public confidence is a necessary adjunct to the proper development and growth of the business.

There has recently been indication that doubtful opportunities to get rich quick by way of the manufacturing end of the business would be offered again in this vicinity. The individual with a little money and a big idea that he is funnier than Harold Lloyd, or that she has it all over Miss Pickford, is a dangerous combination, and just about ripe for the picking. The woods are full of pickers. Look out for them.

FOOD PRICES.

Eleven items of standard foods sold in Los Angeles during June show little change in price level over the preceding month. Five of the items registered advances, led by flour, which is up 12½ cents per fifty-pound sack, although still $1 below the June, 1920, price. Ham and bacon have each advanced several cents per pound, potatoes show a fractional increase, and eggs are higher. Two items remain unchanged and four are lower. For those interested in a closer analysis of the comparative table the complete list is published in another column.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Harrison H. McCall, specializing in the municipal and corporate securities of Minnesota and Iowa, announces the opening of offices at 725 Title Insurance Building.

NEW YORK CURB.

Los Angeles investors have been notified by the secretary of the Curb, Stock and Bond Market of New York, Inc., that this organization, freshly chartered, will transact business upon the open street in New York, although an indoor curb market has been established by several hundred of the former curbsters.

TO PURCHASE BUILDING.

The Southern California Gas Company has petitioned the Railroad Commission for authority to execute promissory notes to the amount of $30,000, the funds to finance the purchase of a building at No. 946 South Broadway, Los Angeles.

COMMISSION NOTES.

The Railroad Commission has dismissed the complaint entered by Rivers Brothers Company against the Terminal Refrigerating Company and the Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Company, charging discrimination in rates for the storage of apples. The commission found that the companies had filed lawful tariffs and made uniform charges.

Southern California Edison Company is authorized to sell to the city of Pasadena for $70,000 an electrical transmission system in Lamanda Park, recently annexed by Pasadena.

NEW PUBLICATION.

Hunter, Dulin & Co. has issued an attractive booklet entitled "Mutual Interest in Hydroelectric Development." Several phases of this important development are covered by J. M. Morris, John A. Britton, A. Emory Wishon, A. N. Kemp and Robert Sibley.

Cotton Market Opening Steady at an Advance.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—The New York cotton market opened steady at an advance of 5 to 9 points, in response to higher Liverpool cables, and soon showed net advances of 15 to 20 points on active positions, with October selling at 12.70 cents. Scattered southern hedge selling was reported at the start, but it was not in sufficient volume to make much impression on the market, and prices held generally steady toward the middle of the morning.

Favorable weather advices failed to create any selling power and after early offerings had been absorbed the market worked higher on trade and Wall-street buying, net advances being 20 to 24 points around midday.

Continued crowing on reports of an increasing export demand in the South with a firmer spot basis sent the market 24 to 26 points net higher in the afternoon.

THE COUNTRY OVER.

Steel Readjustment; Bumper Crops; Lull in Manufacturing; Live-stock Loan.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) July 7.—The lack of confidence which has been holding back return of business to a normal basis is fast disappearing in this section. Business men, who a few months ago were pessimistic now see a turn in the tide, and this sentiment is making things brighter in the Northwest. Another big factor in the improvement of the situation is the indication for bumper crops. The small town merchant is beginning to lay in a supply of commodities that he knows the farmers will need after harvest. Recent dry spell was severe in some parts of the Northwest; has been relieved by rain in the sections which need it most.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The $50,000,000 live-stock loan corporation which was supposed to go into operation a week ago, has not yet begun to function. The delay is due to unwillingness of the Federal Reserve Board to accept as eligible for rediscount the collateral notes growing out of subscriptions by banks of money to be loaned to aid stock growers over this season. Midwest bankers are insisting that the notes be established as paper eligible for rediscount at the reserve banks, asserting that they agreed to supply $25,000,000 of the funds of the pool on that understanding.

PITTSBURG (Pa.) July 7.—A lull in manufacturing of the principal products of this section at this season of the year is not unusual, but it is noticeable that both large and small establishments are requesting their employees to take early vacations. Many employers anticipate greater need for their services even before autumn approaches.

The steel market is quiet and sales are greater proportionately than plant output. In many instances purchases are being made from stocks, but with reductions of stocks increase in production can be counted on to ensue. The price cuts of the Bethlehem Steel Company were not unexpected, and further reductions in wages in the steel industry would not be surprising.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—The recent reduction in prices announced by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, is regarded here as only one step in the process of readjustment in the steel industry from the peak prices of 1920 to a normal basis. Further efforts undoubtedly will be made to reduce costs of manufacture in which Youngstown and Pittsburg producers and Midvale Steel are expected to participate. A similar process is under way in the coke region, where wages are being reduced and workers are continuing at smaller pay.

Locally manufacturing continues quiet and the building tie-up is unbroken, although members of building trade unions have announced willingness to arbitrate differences with employers.

LOCAL GRAIN MARKET QUIET, BUT STEADY.

Little interest was shown by traders in any of the shipments of barley during the call yesterday on the local grain exchange. The market was very quiet throughout the session, but the undertone was firm, in sympathy with the advances made by the eastern markets. There was no trading in the near-by deliveries, and activity in the future months was limited to the July and August shipments. The former delivery showed a gain of about 25 cents during the day. While August closed unchanged. Two cars of Kansas bean for ten-day shipment were sold at $24.75.

Land Security Plus Guarantee
The $1,500,000 First Mortgage Serial 8% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of Babbitt Bros. Lands, Inc., selling at par and interest to yield 8%, have land security twice the amount of the bonds. In addition to this, the personal guarantee of the Babbitt brothers, whose net worth is equal to the amount of the issue, has been given to the bonds. Truly these are well secured, good bonds.
The land comprises over 375,000 acres of well watered grazing land, which controls for grazing purposes approximately 2,000,000 acres in Northern Arizona, and 4286 acres of agricultural land in the Salt River Valley. In California the properties consist of 488 acres of the Laguna Ranch along the Whittier Boulevard from the eastern city limits of Los Angeles to the corporate limits of Montebello.
A conservative value of all these properties is placed in excess of $3,000,000.
As additional security, these bonds are guaranteed unconditionally, both as to the payment of principal and interest by Messrs. David, C. J. and William Babbitt, jointly and severally. The net worth of these men, in addition to this financing, is well over $1,500,000.
Finally, the capital stock of Babbitt Bros. Trading Company, with a net worth of over $4,250,000, has been deposited with the trustee as security.
These bonds are so safe that we will have them subject to certification as legal investments for California Savings Banks.
It will pay you to get our descriptive circular, which tells the interesting story of these bonds and the security back of them. Write, telephone or call at our office.

There is Financial Strength Here
Examination of the history, territory and financial statements of the CENTRAL ARIZONA LIGHT & POWER COMPANY furnishes strong evidence of the soundness of the present issue of First and Refunding 8% Bonds. They not only constitute an unusually safe investment, but are priced to yield the investor 8.10% for fifteen years.
The various properties of this company have been conservatively appraised at $2,290,000, while the total mortgage bond indebtedness is but $1,622,400.
This company and its predecessors have been serving gas and electricity for thirty years to Phoenix and surrounding territory with an estimated population of over 40,000. Phoenix, the capital and chief city of Arizona, is the distributing center of the great Salt River Valley.
EARNINGS: Statements for the 5-year period ending Dec. 31, 1920, disclose that while net earnings show an expansion of 243%, interest charges increased but 61%. Interest requirements were never earned less than 2½ times over, while for 1920 the margin of safety in this respect was nearly 4 to 1.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—Additional gains were made by many leading issues in the stock market today, but the advance lacked the breadth and vigor of yesterday's session and was materially impaired by profit taking sales before the close.

Shorts also opposed the recovery, basing their operations largely on the belief that industrial conditions as indicated by the steel trade were still subject to downward railroad revision.

Leaders of yesterday's rebound, especially foreign oils, were under pressure throughout the day, although Mexican Petroleum at one time managed to rise moderately from its 3½-point reaction.

Steels and equipments, also motors, coppers, leathers and textiles registered gross advances of 1 to 3 points, but broke sharply with some of the food specialties in the later dealings. Marked heaviness was shown by American sugar. Sales amounted to 535,000 shares.

Further release of July interest and dividend disbursements contributed to the ease of money market, although call loans on the exchange again were made at 5½ per cent despite the lower rate in the open market.

Dealers reported very light trading in foreign exchange, a firmer tone prevailing, however, for sterling and the leading continental rates, with moderate reactions in Swiss and Scandinavian remittances.

Liberty Bonds were irregular, but speculative or convertible rails hardened again on the better tone of transportation shares. International issues were dull and featureless. Total sales, par value, $12,275,000.

WOMEN INDICTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE.

ALLEGED TO HAVE SECURED WHISKY ON ALTERED HOSPITAL ORDERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Two women and three men were indicted by the Federal grand jury today in connection with the alleged removal of more than $50,000 worth of liquor from the warehouse of the Western Industries Company at Agnew by the use of altered hospital orders.

The five were, Mrs. Hannah F. Gray, former matron of the Florence Crittenton Home in San Francisco; Mrs. Frederick A. Plumb, secretary of a local customs brokerage firm, her husband, Frederick A. Plumb, and two brokers, William J. and Robert Ahern.

The liquor withdrawn from warehouses on these changed orders was declared to have been marketed through illicit channels.

CHICAGO MURDERER MUST HANG TODAY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, July 7.—Antonio Lopez, whose march to the gallows has twice been delayed by reprieves, must swing off tomorrow. Gov. Small today refused to interfere further in the case.

Lopez was convicted of murdering Antonio Varchetta, a grocer, in January, 1920. Two of his companions, Joe Constanzo and Sam Ferrara have already been hanged for participation in the crime.

STILLMAN'S FRIEND MAKES STATEMENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—From an associate of James A. Stillman in his divorce litigation, who has furnished information to the newspapers from time to time, came the statement today that Mr. Stillman asserts to his intimates that he has lived apart from Mrs. Stillman for nine years, and for that reason knew himself not to be the father of Guy Stillman. The statement is further made that Mr. Stillman's association with Florence H. Leeds did not begin until after he became suspicious.

The statement denied that Mr. Stillman was "in love with Florence Leeds or intended to marry her." Proceeding from this premise the defender of Mr. Stillman argues that it is absurd to charge Mr. Stillman with seeking to divert to Jay Leeds, Guy's share of the $2,000,000 trust fund established by Mr. Stillman's father. He says that the trust was for "lawful issue," but the effect on the legalizing of Jay Leeds as an heir by a future marriage is not discussed.

The statement is understood to be put out for a better understanding by the public of the rulings to be made Saturday on motions now before Referee Daniel J. Gleason.

NEW YORKER CONVICTED OF SLAYING WEALTHY WIDOW WITH CHISEL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MINEOLA (N. Y.) July 7.—After eleven minutes' deliberation a jury in the Supreme Court tonight found Lawrence Kubal guilty of murder in the first degree, for the slaying of Mrs. Minnie Bartlett, wealthy widow, on June 22. Kubal, whose admission of the crime to his wife led to his arrest, offered no defense.

Mrs. Bartlett was beaten to death with a chisel after Kubal, according to his confession, had entered her home under pretense of wanting to purchase the property. Stolen jewelry of small value was recovered from merchants to whom he said he had sold it.

FIRST MET GIRL AT EL CENTRO.

Dead Convict Kidnaper Was Hospital Employee There.

Fagan Also Jailed in Imperial for Annoying Nurse.

Abducted Women Recovering from Nerve Ordeal.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HOOD RIVER (Or.) July 7.—Mrs. T. J. Miller and daughter Pearl were today recovering from nervous collapse suffered as a result of being kidnaped by Luther Fagan, ex-convict, who was shot to death by a civilian posseman late yesterday after taking them and a boy captive in Miller's automobile to a grove, near here.

POSSE HELD AT BAY.

Fagan had carried them off after shooting and wounding T. J. Miller, at the latter's ranch home, near here yesterday, after Miller had refused to divulge the whereabouts of Miss Louise Watkins, a nurse, daughter of Mrs. Miller, for an attack upon whom he was sentenced to the State penitentiary in December, 1919. The shot that killed Fagan was fired about sunset. For two hours Fagan had held the posse at bay. Fagan, with his pistol pressed against Pearl's body, with threats to shoot if officers or citizens of the posse approached too closely, alternately laughed scornfully and cursed bitterly at the officers.

Frequently members of the party tried vainly to fire on the apparently crazed desperado, but the proximity of the man and the women, caused them to withhold fire for fear of injuring or killing the latter.

WOMEN THREATENED.

When Fagan sighted threatening moves of men with guns, he would renew his threats against the women. The pleas of officers and citizens apparently only had the effect of increasing his anger. He declared his intentions of killing his captives before he would release them. Finally Fagan was offered a purse of $50 if he would permit the boy to go free. He accepted, and City Marshal William Hart went forward with the money.

SHOT THROUGH SKULL.

Fagan left the car, pushing the Miller girl ahead of him with his left hand, while Le pressed the pistol against her body with his right. As he reached for the money Herman Pregge fired his bullet ploughing through the top of Fagan's skull.

Fagan was recently granted a conditional pardon. He was convicted and sentenced, following an attack on Louise Watkins, daughter of Mrs. Miller by a former marriage. Evidence at the trial showed that Fagan had annoyed the young woman for a long time, and that he had become infatuated with her while she was superintendent of a hospital at El Centro, Cal.

MET AT EL CENTRO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL CENTRO, July 7.—Miss Louise Watkins and Luther Fagan, the two principal actors in a series of events in Oregon that led to Fagan's death at the hands of a posse, were both formerly employed at the Imperial County Hospital at El Centro. They were there during the first four months of 1919. Miss Watkins was a nurse and Fagan an ambulance driver. His conduct toward the girl resulted in his being jailed here.

Superintendent Adams of the hospital, said today that Fagan first met Miss Watkins at the hospital. The man asked Miss Watkins to accompany him to social events, and on the second time that she did so, she complained on her return of his actions. The superintendent investigated, and discharged Fagan at once. After the discharge Fagan remained in El Centro and annoyed Miss Watkins until he was finally sentenced to the Imperial County Jail on a misdemeanor charge, resulting from his action. He served a term that the jail records indicate was about three months, and then disappeared. Miss Watkins left here about the time that Fagan was freed.

NONPARTISAN LEAGUE IS IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

FARGO (N. D.) July 7.—Members of the State executive committee of the Nonpartisan League arrived here today to consider steps in connection with the conduct of league newspapers as a result of yesterday's suppression of a part of the edition of the Fargo Courier-News, ordered by a majority of the committee. The Nonpartisan League headquarters here announced the arrival this morning of all State executive committee members.

In a statement published today the Fargo Courier-News explains that charges of mishandling campaign funds against members of the State committee contained in the suppressed edition of the newspaper of yesterday were brought about by "disgruntled employees."

WINS LARGE PENSION.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—After seventeen years' litigation over a $600-a-year pension granted him by the police commission in 1904 and later revoked by them, James F. Sheehan, former San Francisco policeman, will receive $4600 in back money granted him by the Superior Court in 1911, plus interest since that date, according to rulings of the District Court of Appeal.

Brick for Pharaoh!

Drove Children of Israel to Flight—

That was ages and ages ago. Driven to desperation under the lash of the Egyptian tyrant, the chosen people of God shook off their shackles and fled into the wilderness rather than continue making brick in slavery.

Brick is as old as history. In fact, earliest records of brick making are shrouded in antiquity. The Temple of Babel was built of brick. Ancient rulers constructed their palaces and temples of brick—ENDURING BRICK.

Babylonian brick buildings have been discovered in which the brick is still sound. Brick made in Nebuchadnezzar's day and stamped with that despot's name have been recently used in the construction of a modern town of 8000 people.

FRANK WIGGINS SECRETLY WEDS.

Commerce Chamber Secretary Marries Aide.

Get License in Santa Ana; Are United in Orange.

"Just Tell the Boys We're on Our Way," is Good-by.

Frank Wiggins and Miss Anne [illegible], his secretary, were married [illegible].

The news devoid of all details, fell [illegible] like a bombshell late yesterday afternoon at the tag end of a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, of which organization Mr. Wiggins has been secretary for a quarter of a century, and where Miss Baillie has been his secretary for fourteen years.

"Just tell the boys we're on our way," was the only message Mr. Wiggins sent to the board meeting when Secretary A. G. Arnold, who had called over the telephone [illegible] when and where did it happen. Who performed the ceremony asked Mr. Arnold.

"Never mind the details," replied the veteran secretary, "we're on our way, that's all."

Then did Frank Wiggins, long known for doing things quickly and getting "slip over" a secret marriage under the very noses of his friends. The directors soon overcame their astonishment enough to give a rousing cheers for the bride and then adjourn.

It is said in Santa Ana it was learned that a couple obtained a marriage license at 2:10 p.m., then motored to the home of Mr. Wiggins, where the Rev. C. J. K. Jones of Orange, a friend for many years of Mr. Wiggins and his former wife, died in April, 1920, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Baillie gave her age as 54; Mr. Wiggins said he was 71.

Mr. Wiggins home in Santa Ana, no additional facts could be learned.

"Don't ask me anything. I don't know anything about it," said the bride when she answered the telephone.

Asked as to the recent activities of Mr. Wiggins shows that he had just executed the surprise on his usually successful friends. He came to work as usual yesterday morning. True, he wore a new suit and might have looked the part of a prospective bridegroom to those who was anticipating events, but to his associates there was nothing of the event the slightest forth.

[illegible] went away from the office of the Chamber of Commerce some time, on her vacation.

[illegible] OVER PHONE.

"TIMES" PHOTOS BY WIRE PROVEN ACCURATE.

Extraordinary Plan Devised by This Journal Demonstrates Pictures Can Be Sent by Telegraph.

The Times presents herewith incontestible proof that pictures can be sent by telegraph as readily as can ordinary English.

In adjoining columns are reproduced the Dempsey-Carpentier knock-out pictures sent by telegraph to and printed by The Times last Sunday morning and Monday morning. Beside each one are reproduced the actual photographs which were used in New York to form the code by which these pictures were sent. The original photographs were received by mail from New York yesterday and are printed herewith as they were received, without any "doctoring" to make them look like the telephotographs made from them. The photographs and their telegraphed reproductions will be on display at the Times Building at First and Broadway today and may be examined by anyone.

In view of the fact that sending photographs by wire has been for over thirty years an unrealized ambition of every newspaper in the world, the importance of this achievement by The Times is apparent. By this method it becomes possible to transmit photographs of important events by telegraph or wireless from any point in the world to any other point with only such inconsiderable delay as coding requires. In the case of the first fight photograph herewith reproduced, this picture was sent 3300 miles by telegraph, the coding, transmission and decoding requiring in all a little over three hours. In other words a photograph of an important news event in New York can, by this method, be published in Los Angeles practically as soon as if the event had occurred in this city. The Times broke all records in bringing actual photographs of the fight here by airplane across the continent, but this method took forty-seven hours, fifty minutes.

It is fair to say that, as in the case of most first experiments, the results obtained by The Times with these fight pictures are not as good as will be possible with refinements of the method which are already under way. In part, this is due to the haste and inexperience with the method of the Times artist in New York, who coded the pictures. For example, unimportant parts of the photograph showing Dempsey and Carpentier were not coded at all and consequently do not appear in The Times' telegraphed picture. The spectator's head at the side of Dempsey is an example of this. Again, through an inaccuracy of measurements, Dempsey's hair shows above the top rope of the ring in the telegraphed picture, but not in the original. In every essential, however, the pictures are duplicates. Where the lines were involved and difficult and were therefore coded with extra care, as in the case of Dempsey's left leg, the reproduction is minutely exact.

The Times has made no effort to copyright this revolutionary device, nor does it intend to do so. With its first telegraphed picture or "telephotograph," printed July 3, The Times published a full explanation of the method and the text of the code which produced the picture. For the benefit of those who did not see this, the essentials of the explanation are repeated herewith and are especially commended to those not few persons who hastily branded the picture a fake. The method devised by The Times for producing the first successful telegraphed pictures by simple means is presented gratis to the newspaper world and the public by The Times in the hope that it may be of as great use as now appears probable.

HOW IT WAS DONE.

Briefly, the history of The Times telephotographs follows:

Photographs taken especially for The Times at the ringside at Jersey City last Saturday afternoon were rushed by automobile and motorboat to the office of the Daily Illustrated News in New York City, where the plates were developed.

As soon as prints were sufficiently dry they were placed under specially prepared transparent sheets of celluloid on which numbered perpendicular and horizontal lines one-quarter of an inch apart had been drawn. These sheets were prepared in The Times office in Los Angeles and were mailed to New York several days before the fight.

A detailed tracing of each photograph was made by The Times artist in New York, each contact of the traced lines across the quarter-inch squares furnishing a unit number destined for the telegraphic code.

Where curves or small inequalities occurred in the tracing fractional numbers were used.

The complete code, consisting of more than 400 separate number combinations, was wired to The Times Washington office and thence relayed over The Times' leased wire direct to Los Angeles.

The actual time of transmitting the picture by telegraph was fifty minutes, while an hour and ten minutes were consumed in decoding. The insertion of the blacks and whites, supplied by telegraph, took a little less than another hour.

A duplicate of the celluloid sheets used to code the picture in New York was used in The Times office in Los Angeles for translating. The numbers into a line drawing which, in turn, became a faithful reproduction of the original photograph by the addition of the lights and shadows described by wire.

The code numbers which produced the picture printed last Sunday are repeated herewith. By it those still skeptical may, if they wish, draw the picture for themselves on such a screen as was printed in The Times last Sunday. The screen may be made by ruling a sheet of paper with lines forming exact squares one-quarter inch each way. Beginning at the bottom number the horizontal lines 1 to 62, inclusive. Beginning at the upper left-hand corner number the vertical lines 63 to 110, inclusive. Each pair of numbers marks a point on this screen; these points, connected, make the picture in outline. The code for the first picture follows:

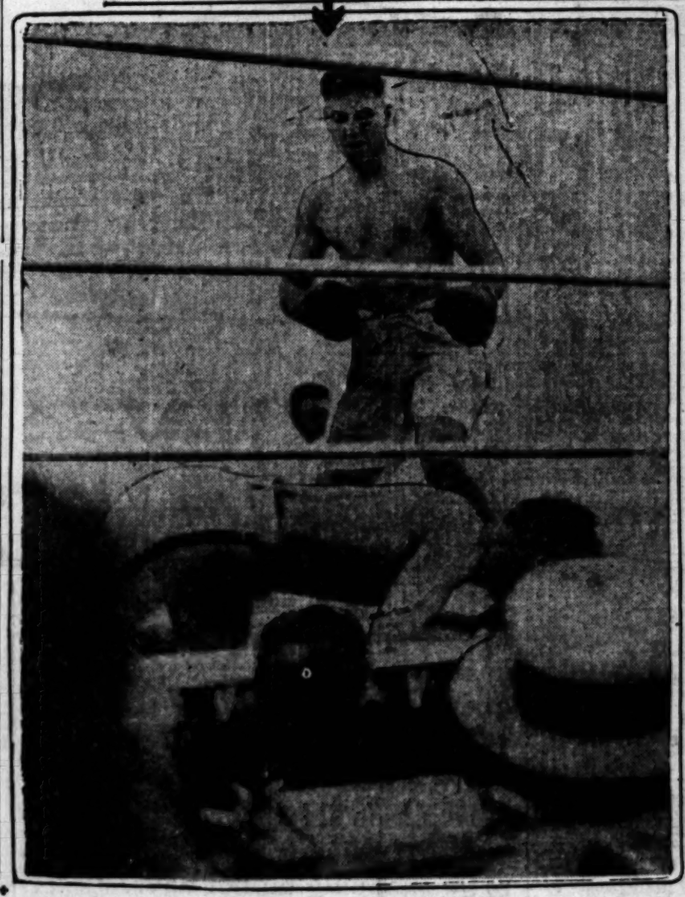
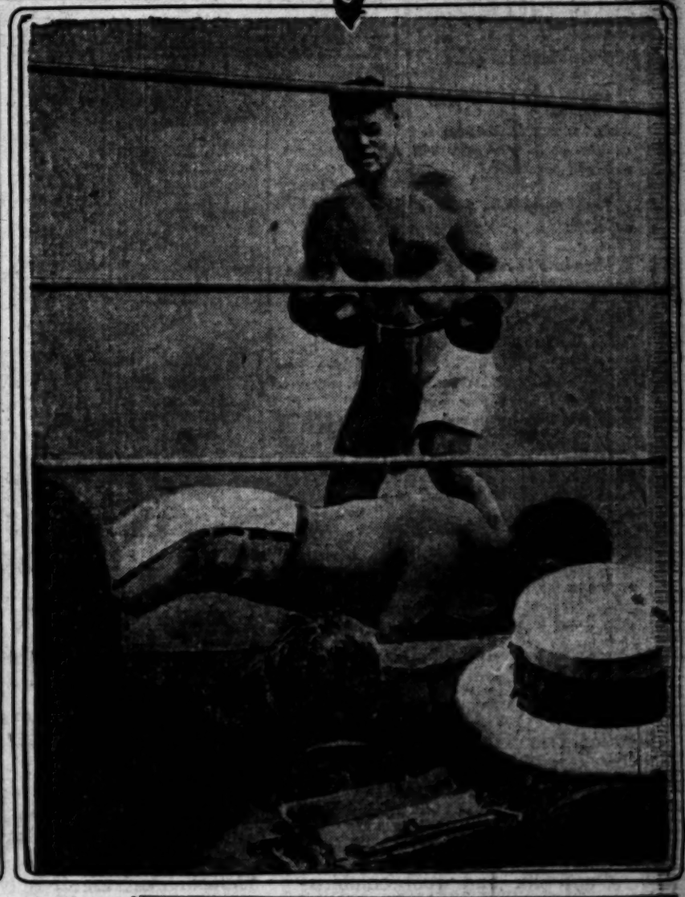
Proof of Practicability of New "Times" Process for Telephotography.

THIS IS THE ORIGINAL PHOTOGRAPH



THIS IS THE TELEGRAPHIC REPRODUCTION PRINTED IN THE TIMES OF JULY 3.



ORIGINAL PHOTOGRAPH

TELEGRAPHIC REPRODUCTION FROM THE TIMES OF JULY 4TH

Here Are "Times" Telegraphed Dempsey-Carpentier Pictures and Their Originals.

The latter, received by mail from New York yesterday, are printed exactly as they came. The telephotographs are reproduced from The Times of July 3 and July 4. The slight discrepancies are due to incomplete coding of unimportant parts of the original photographs and in one case to an inaccuracy on the part of the artist who did the coding or some one of the telegraphers in transmitting the numbers.

TELLS OF MANY LOVES.

Clifford Wood Whiting was a man of many loves. He had an eye for beauty and a plausible tongue, it seems. When he married Anna Elaine Knost, he already had a wife and when Carol D. Whiting became his bride, she was his third wife.

Such was the testimony of Anna Elaine Knost yesterday when she sought and won before Judge Summerfield an annulment of her marriage to Mr. Whiting in Wheaton, Ill., on Jan. 29, 1919.

The April following Anna's marriage to Mr. Whiting he wooed and wed Frances Willard Yule, the plaintiff said. The next December Anna left her husband.

Mr. Whiting sought the consent of George H. Yule, a Baptist minister, to marry his daughter, Frances. In Mr. Yule's deposition, part of which follows, he declared he asked Mr. Whiting many questions as to his standing as a Christian:

"Mr. Whiting told me he was a philanthropist, Red Cross man, Y.M.C.A. man and a Christian. He told me he had never been married before. Later my daughter heard through a friend that a woman had married Mr. Whiting."

The marriage of Frances Willard Yule was annulled in Chicago, the testimony developed.

THREE AGED WOMEN HURT ON STREETS.

One is Railway Accident Victim; Another Hit by Car; Third Falls.

Three women, the youngest 70 years of age, were painfully injured late yesterday afternoon on the city streets and all taken to the Receiving Hospital for treatment. One was removed to the County Hospital and the other two to their homes.

Mrs. Lorenza Cervantes, 95 years of age, suffered a sprained back and other injuries when she was knocked down by a freight engine while she was picking up waste grain on the Globe Milling Company's siding at Third and Garey streets. The aged woman, according to the police, was between two freight cars picking up the grain when a freight engine bumped the cars and hurled her to the ground. She was dragged a short distance before the engine could be stopped. After treatment at the Receiving Hospital she was removed to the County Hospital.

Mrs. Mary Lordon, 77 years of age, of 2628 Michigan avenue, was slightly injured when she was knocked down by a street car at Third street and Broadway. She was treated at the Receiving Hospital for shock.

Mrs. May Griffin, 70 years of age, of 723 Gladys avenue, was rushed to the Receiving Hospital from Forty-eighth street and Central avenue after she had plunged from the step of a moving street car. She was treated for a fracture of the left shoulder blade and then taken home.

FIGHT SCHOOL TAX CUT.

Perturbed by the rumor that the school tax rate may be reduced under the new budget, representatives of the school districts of the county appeared before the Board of Supervisors yesterday to show the urgent necessity for maintaining the 44-cent tax rate. Individual members of the board assured the school representatives they will see that the schools have the money, but until the budget is filed no school tax rate can be fixed.

TRY TO BAR CITY IN POWER PLAN.

Opponents Get Change Put in Colorado River Report.

Delay in Work May Eliminate Any Municipality.

Construction Estimates Vary from Two to Ten Years.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Delay in immediately financing and constructing to completion and use of the power to be developed in the Colorado River at Boulder Canyon or elsewhere, will eliminate Los Angeles or any other municipality from participating in the project except as a user of power, if the suggestions placed in the report today by Chief Engineer Davis of the Reclamation Service are carried out.

At the request of A. H. McPherran, representing Imperial Valley, and Thomas Yeager, representing Coachella Valley, Senators Cameron and Ashurst, Congressman Carl Hayden, and Sims Ely, reclamation head, all of Arizona, Chief Engineer Davis reluctantly changed his report and added a paragraph that undue delay or failure to get into action would eliminate municipalities, which, under the Waterpower Act, have a preference right, and that such failure should permit the building and operation of the projects as private enterprises.

NO OTHER CHANGES.

While some of the other features of the report were not entirely to the liking of the Californians, no other changes of importance were made, and no further conferences are expected on this subject as Director Davis expects to start tomorrow on an inspection trip to the more important reclamation project, on which trip he will be accompanied by Secretary Fall.

Messrs. McPherran and Yeager expect to return to California Saturday. In the meantime the amended report will be transmitted to Secretary Fall, and by him to the House Committee on Irrigation for the use of its members and probably for publication and distribution.

The change secured today will in a large measure offset the plans for active participation in this project made by W. B. Mathews, city water attorney for the city of Los Angeles. He has advocated all along that a project of this kind and magnitude would take several years to complete, and that there would be no expectation of power for distribution for several years.

TEN-YEAR JOB.

Delay in construction and distribution of current could be accounted for in organizing the work and completing construction, but none of the estimates of competent engineers called for more than two or three years from the time of starting, whereas Mr. Mathews in several of his suggestions intimated that the time of construction probably would be ten years.

Perhaps it was a coincidence, but some of the Imperial Valley people interested recalled that the contract of the city of Los Angeles with the Edison Company runs for thirty years and cannot even be abrogated by a vote of the people for ten years. That contract, they recalled, prohibited the city of Los Angeles from selling any power outside of the city within that period, and at the same time prevented the company during the time the contract was in force from selling power within the city limits.

It may have been just a coincidence, but it made a deep dent on the sensibilities of the men from the Imperial Valley and is responsible for the conference today with Director Davis and the subsequent changes in the report.

Bride is Hunted to Face Divorce, Annulment Suits.

Process servers were busy last night trying to locate a woman known as Mrs. C. E. Gorham, Jr., accused of still being Mrs. Fred T. Kidd and who, it seems, is the same as Mrs. Dorothy Brewster. They wished to inform her that Mr. Gorham seeks an annulment of their recent marriage on the ground that at the time she was the wife of another man.

Likewise, Mr. Kidd is seeking a divorce, charging that his wife was guilty of a statutory offense with Mr. Gorham. Mr. Gorham's troubles began when he was arrested for failure to pay his hotel bill, about the time he was planning to make a honeymoon trip in an airplane to San Francisco. He stayed in Los Angeles, however, and settled the hotel account.

Investigators are still attempting to locate a Mr. Brewster, if there be one, but particularly Mrs. Gorham-Kidd-Brewster.

RICH MAN MUST GO TO PRISON.

Imperial Valley Banker Unable to Escape Slave Penalty.

Peter Hovley, Imperial Valley banker and ranch man, must begin on the 31st inst. the serving of one year in the Orange County Jail—a sentence imposed after the Brawley banker had pleaded guilty to a violation of the Mann Act.

Final efforts of Hovley's attorney, Joseph Scott of Los Angeles, to get Atty.-Gen. Daugherty at Washington, to have the sentence commuted came to naught yesterday. Inasmuch as President Harding will take no action without the approval of the Attorney-General, the case is closed.

Hovley was indicted early in 1920 by the Federal grand jury here on a charge of bringing his niece, Mrs. Barbara Staalduynen, from Chicago to Los Angeles for an immoral purpose.

CUTTING STEEL.

The United States Steel Corporation has been cutting the prices on its wares. This will be fine. The wife may need a few hairpins.

AMONG THE GREAT DANES.

Pussyfoot Johnson is campaigning in Copenhagen. He thinks it will be easy to put prohibition over on the Danes. Old Dock Cook fed them the North Pole.

A REGULAR FIEND.

Some of the ladies who were at the fight are sure that Dempsey is a brute. They say he went to the extent of hitting Carpentier in the face when the Frenchman was not expecting it. If Dempsey persists in being coarse in the company of ladies and gentlemen he may take his money and go home.

A PEACE PROMOTER.

If Gen. Jan Smuts can pave the way for successful peace negotiations in Ireland he will have further demonstrated his splendid capacities for the extension of good will. Next to Lloyd George he is perhaps the most vital force in the British Empire. Kings and princes are important, but patriotic statesmen are essential. In ironing out the roughnesses of a world Gen. Smuts is a wonderful worker.

WASTE OF MATERIAL.

Atlantic City doesn't need any advertising. The discovery there of a wild woman who makes her home in a tree is unnecessary. Possibly she bet money on Carpentier and went wild in a hurry. She is not the first wild woman at Atlantic City by a long shot. It would be far more effective and interesting if they should find a long-haired Venus clambering through the treetops in Central Park, New York, and fighting with the squirrels for their food. That would make a better story.

GATHERING CHICKEN FEED.

The government is sending out an army of two or three thousand special agents to round up delinquents in the return of petty sales taxes. There is a tax of a penny, for instance, on ice cream cones, and this is supposed to be garnered from every little cross roads station where this form of refreshment is offered. Many of these small sales taxes are hardly worth the collection and it is likely that this dinky assessment upon the children of the poor does not yield as much as the cost of its gathering. For such a levy there can be no good warrant nor defense.

WOMAN AGAINST WOMAN.

This Cleveland woman who is accused of the murder of her husband is unwilling to permit the presence of another woman on the trial jury. She does not want to take any chances with her own sex. While the perfect lady of a certain type is ready to shoot up her own husband on the slightest pretext, the sex as a whole seems to hold husband-killing as a crime. Individual husbands are a nuisance and merit extermination, but the women are ready to give battle for the collective husband. They will excuse themselves for cyaniding hubby's soup, but when another lady behaves in a malignant manner to her spouse they are quick to resent it and champion the male.

THE LONG SLEEP.

Persons who indulge in the new private vice of inhaling chloroform should leave a call before embarking on a siesta. There have been several cases in this country wherein the victim has failed to awaken at the expected time. Tales of suicide or murder are apt to follow. It is hard to explain this form of dissipation, but it is spreading. It at least furnishes a stupor that takes the place of sleep and this condition is said to be frequently attended by dreams of an entertaining and inspiring character. But the danger in using chloroform is so great that no one should ever indulge it at a solo performance. Unless the heart is absolutely right there may never be an awakening. Also there is usually an unpleasant and sickening reaction. It is dangerous without any compensating joys. The spreading of the vice is simply a part of the great quest of many souls to relieve themselves of the pains and pangs of prohibition. More than one mysterious death recently can be attributed to adventuring with this lethal drug.

LOOKING THEM OVER.

The Los Angeles Supervisors had a committee to hunt ideas in jail construction. They went forth with the thought that the prison farm proposition might be incorporated in the program of the future. But in the cities they visited they did not find many friends of the idea or many concrete examples of its efficiency. Most of the folks who break into jail do not seem to know a blooming thing about farm work and when put to it are rather helpless. In some cases where several hundred prisoners were available it was necessary to hire men to do the real work. The prison farm is not always a money-saver. What would be fine in the California climate would be a combination affair that would be part farm, industrial plant, jail and hospital. Such an institution might easily be made self-supporting and amid Los Angeles surroundings could be healthful and of physical benefit to the prisoner. To be merely locked up in a cell of steel and stone is bad for the inmate and of no material benefit to the State. But we must have an adequate and decent jail.

INDUSTRIAL MAGNA CHARTA.

Congressman Fordney, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, has aptly termed the administration tariff bill the "Magna Charta for the perpetuation of American standards of living." By so doing he elevates the discussion over the tariff to the place in the public mind that it deserves. A protective tariff represents a principle which cannot be too often repeated; it protects American labor from underpaid foreign competition by protecting the products of labor.

Industry is profitable only when the thing that a workman creates, or helps create, will sell for enough to pay him for his labor and to give a sufficient return on the capital invested in the business, including efficient management, to make the investment attractive. The employer is the medium through which the workman ordinarily receives his share of the value of what he creates. If the thing will not sell for a sufficient price to give him a living wage the industry at once becomes unprofitable.

Modern business has found that the employer is as necessary to the well-being of the community as the workman. There is no legal barrier to prevent any workman's marketing the product of his toil. Experience has proved that quantitive production lessens the cost and permits an article to sell for less. It has also proved that a workman earns more by devoting himself solely to the creation of an article—leaving it to others to furnish the raw material and the machinery and to care for the marketing—than by trying to do all these things himself.

American standards of living are higher than those of almost any other country. That condition has been made possible because the country is so rich in raw material, industry is so efficiently organized and our transportation system is so superior to that of other countries that we can pay the American workman more than double the average world wages.

But the industry and transportation of the world as a whole have become so efficiently organized that, to continue to pay those wages, the products of American labor must be protected from cheap foreign competition. Putting the principle of protection into effect is an intricate process. Tariffs that are too high increase unnecessarily the cost of living; tariffs that are so low as to become synonymous with free trade force radical reductions of wages or widespread unemployment. For at the instant that the product of labor will not sell in the open market for sufficient to pay the wage necessary to maintain our standards of living the whole fabric of industry is rent.

Some students of political economy hold that the time must arrive when a dead level standard of wages will prevail around the world, when the fellah and the coolie will receive the same pay as the skilled American workmen. But the tariff, which Congress is now perfecting, deals not with the remote future, but with the present. There are scientists who assert that the time is coming when the earth will lose its heat and the atmosphere will be so frigid that human life will no longer exist. But that is not a reason why the present generation should consume all the reserve of wealth on the globe. And there are other scientists who argue that, in some distant age, the surface of the earth will become so hot as to be uninhabitable. It is plainly the duty of the present sojourners on the earth to adjust ourselves to present conditions and leave the problems of the remote future for future generations to solve.

This much we do know: before the fellah and the coolie can command wages equal to those of the American workmen they must possess the strength and the skill to create products equal in value to those which we produce. That equality of production will not be perfected in this generation; but there are some things which they can produce in quantity and of sufficient quality to compete in our own markets with what our workmen produce. Lemons, cotton, beans, wool and scores of other products are tended elsewhere by labor that is grossly underpaid and are brought here for competition with the products of our own labor. If they are given free entry to our markets our own products will not sell in the long run for enough to preserve the present American standards of living.

When Congressman Fordney talks of our industrial Magna Charta he is demanding the protection for the pay envelope of the industrial worker and for the products of our farms. That protection is vital to the preservation of our American standards. The amount of protection necessary is measured by the difference in labor costs here and in the countries where the competing articles originate, plus the difference in transportation costs.

Free-traders argue that the whole principle of protection is wrong. But that argument is based on the premise that all men of all countries are industrially equal and that the reward for their labor should be equal. It is one of those glib abstractions that never builds anything up, but may serve to tear our American standards down. To argue that all men are industrially equal is to argue that all standards of living should be equal; but it then follows, since we cannot raise the standards of other countries to our own, that we should voluntarily reduce our standards to their level.

Our new Magna Charta declares that we have a right to fix our own standards and to do all in our power to preserve them. That it is necessary to give an employer who pays a workman $8 for making a pair of shoes some protection against the employer who pays but $1.50 for the same service is self-evident. The same is true of the farmer and his crops. It is to be expected that the foreign employer of cheap labor will protest; but it is also to be expected that our national Representatives will listen to the appeals of American producers, paying little attention to remonstrances coming from foreign sources.

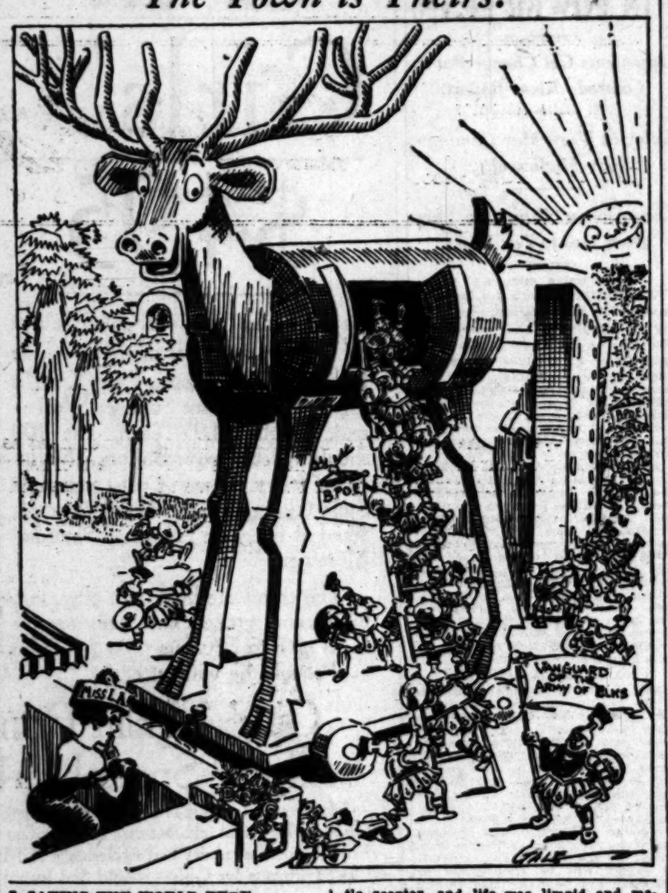
UNION IS STRENGTH.

Plates of thin steel with a slight panel of wood between are said to be stronger than the solid steel itself. There is neither the weight nor thickness of the metal and yet the strength is greater. The principle is being now used in construction work in various lines. It is found to advantage in shipbuilding. It is age-old, yet sometimes forgotten.

THE NEW JERUSALEM.

According to the new city directory there are more Cohens and Cohans than Smiths in Gotham. That shows what George M. Cohan can do for a town. It takes a good deal to put the John Smiths out of the running.

The Town is Theirs!



MAKING THE WORLD PURE.

Although Georges Carpentier holds no grudge against his assailant and still smiles amiably at all Americans, Dr. Wilbur Crafts, the alert representative of the International Reform Bureau, has gone after Jack Dempsey with all the passionate persistence of a bloodhound. He is going to find some court that will give him a warrant for the arrest of Dempsey. The reformer says that Jack is guilty of assault. Ninety thousand persons saw him strike Carpentier and if necessary he will summon the entire ninety thousand to prove it.

Aside from that, the program of Dr. Crafts includes the impeachment of the Governor of New Jersey for aiding and abetting the assault by his unprotesting presence. If Gov. Edwards had had the sand to stand up like a man and exclaim: "Now, Jack Dempsey, keep your hands off that little man; he never done you any harm," there would have been no blot on the escutcheon of New Jersey today.

The national government collected nearly half a million dollars out of the proceeds of this ticticuffing festival. That is blood money, obtained under false pretenses, and wholly indefensible. It will be the endeavor of Dr. Crafts to hale the administration into court and shake down its ill-gotten gains. When Dr. Crafts gets through President Harding, Gov. Edwards, Jack Dempsey and Tex Ricard will be an interesting ball-and-chain quartet. They are all to blame. Any one or all of them might have stopped this lawless meeting and saved the nation from its infamy.

Dr. Crafts talks like a man whose noodle had gone to his brain. He apparently takes pride in calling himself a professional reformer and a Christian lobbyist. He admits that he is in charge of the morals of the nation. He has said that he would puritanize the impuritans of America. Now he says he is going to have the laws permitting boxing repealed and will stop all future meetings in the arena.

But Dr. Crafts says that he is not going to be merely destructive. He says that the program of the International Reform Bureau is to be a constructive one. While it is true that they are going to take away the prize fight, the Sunday movie, the cheek-to-cheek dance and other vicious amusements, they will not leave the people without their sport. They hope to provide community organizations whereby the young and old may gather and play bean bag, leap frog and other harmless pastimes without losing their immortal souls.

The International Reform Bureau is an organization dealing in propaganda. It has some 15,000 members and is said to have a war chest reaching toward the millions. It not only maintains Dr. Wilbur Crafts, but it has a lobby at Washington. It seeks to do by force of law what Christ did by modest example and kindly persuasion. The International Reform Bureau is the self-constituted custodian of the morals of the world. If it gains its ends the lives of all men and women will run in grooves of its making. Congressmen and Senators are threatened with political extinction unless they surrender to its program. If the distillers were as active or assertive they would want to call out all the national reserves for their repression, but when this lobbying is offered under the cloak of morality it is not only proper but most commendable. And yet this bureau is but another form of political graft. Neither Dr. Crafts nor his aides would stay on the job were it a penniless one.

CALIFORNIA, LAND OF GOLD.

When Los Angeles was scarcely more than a wide spot in the King's Highway the plains were dotted with trekking caravans of hardy pioneers, who endured months of unbelievable hardship, facing death and worse, that they might lay hands upon the pot of gold which nestled at the foot of the rainbow whose farthest arch found a sparkling resting place just over the Golden Gate.

"The Land of Gold" the Forty-niners called it, and it was, and it is, but the way has been long, as time is measured by achievement, though short in years, since those first fortunes were fairly wrested from the bosom of Mother Earth, and often scattered to the four winds in a few wild nights in 'Frisco and other mining camps.

No one paid any attention to the little pueblo away down south over which the good Franciscan fathers wielded their gentle scepter, and life was limpid and manana was the password for today. There was no gold in the City of the Angels and very little to get excited about in those early days when the north was reeking with excitement and the eyes of the world were focused upon San Francisco Bay and the distant Sierras which held so much of mystery and of hope.

Seventy years have added their scroll to history's tablet since those mad, devil-may-care days, and California is still the Land of Gold. The rainbow still arches westward, but it rests on only a corner in the Golden Gate. The other corner is on the tip of Point Loma and in between its effulgent glory is all embracing.

The center of population has shifted and the little pueblo has become the metropolis of the West. There is still gold in those forbidding mountains, but they have lost much of their mystery, and electrically propelled machinery delivered in motor trucks over well-made highways to be operated by university-trained engineers have taken the place, to a large extent, of the picturesque prospector of ante-bellum days.

Last year $17,398,000 worth of gold was mined from California lodes. A goodly sum and deserving its high place in the world's production figures; but in Los Angeles county, a municipal division which did not exist in those early days and which consists of a comparatively few thousand acres outside of the metropolis which is its hub and capital, there was produced last season a golden crop of oranges which exceeded in value by $1,567,000 all of the gold mined in all of the State besides; a crop of golden fruit which returned to its growers, the most remote distant from his neighbor but a short motor trip, $18,965,800.

Nor is this all, for in the same county and for the same period thirteen other crops contributed their totals to the world's store of food, not one of them falling below $1,000,000 and ranging from that on up to very nearly the high mark attained by the sunkist globes so readily translated into Federal reserve notes. These are walnuts, grapes, olives, lemons, peaches, melons, strawberries, tomatoes, sugar beets, alfalfa, potatoes, beans and barley.

The Times mentions Los Angeles county because such production is auxiliary and tributary to the great city which it helps to support. Surrounding this county and pouring its golden flood into and through it are such world-beaters as Orange, Riverside, Ventura, San Bernardino and San Diego counties, whose combined output would make the gold metal production hide its head in shame and sink into comparative insignificance.

The lesson The Times would convey to its friends beyond the ridge is that California is the Land of Gold to a much greater degree than it was in 1849, but it is a land of gold to be mined, not by the ore bucket, the stamp mill or the sifter, but by the tractor, the irrigationist, the gas or the electric engine, the soil tiller.

California is filled with gold. One county, given up in part to large cities, produced from its soil $40,000,000 or more in a single year. The rainbow is not deceptive. The pot is there, but it cannot be found by a divining rod or a soothsayer. It takes real men to strike the pay dirt, just as it took real men back yonder in the forties. It was a gamble then. Now it is a sure thing. The gold is there either in the forms described or in a score of others.

California, and especially Southern California, is the Land of Gold. The latchstring is out. There is plenty of room and plenty of water and plenty of climate and plenty of everything that goes to make life worth while—and plenty of he men and plenty of ideals. The Times extends an invitation to the world to come and see.

DEBONAIR LEGISLATORS.

Charles Edward Russell writes interestingly of the Philippine Legislature, but in commenting on the attractive white clothes worn almost as a uniform in both houses he says that a member of our Congress so dressed would be defeated for re-election. He spent, he says, "many dreary days" in Washington, yet he never saw the Hon. Tom Heflin of Alabama garbed in flannels whiter than snow, cut in tomorrow's Piccadilly fashion, creased like an envelope, worn with debonair elegance which is the envy of the East, the despair of the West and the pride of the South! Who denies that it was because of his pearly garments that the Hon. Tom was translated from the House to the Senate?—[New York Herald.

PLAY AND PLAYS.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

One of the jolliest vogues that has struck town is this idea of the little theaters. There must be at least twenty of them now, run largely by ebullient amateurs, with a sprinkling of professionals or semiprofessionals—and most of them would-be professionals. I will wager they are keeping a lot of young people out of mischief, providing some tangible fun allied with hard work, study, self-control and the importance of being earnest.

There are the Community players of Hollywood, who have managed to attain a stylish eclat, as have also the Pasadena Community Players. There is the old-established Amateur Players' Society for the society folk. There is the Mummers' Workshop in Morgan place, which is fast gaining a glittering reputation in the funny old barn which has seen several such very excellent performances. There are the Caravan Players, a little more ambitious, that talk of taking a downtown store and carrying out the caravan idea with luxurious distinction. There is Egan's Little Theater, rather more securely established on a professional basis. And there are hosts of lesser companies formed to stage plays for their own amusement, connected with clubs and colleges.

They all have large but inexpensive memberships; they all take the drama seriously, with a leaning towards "the higher drama;" they are all ambitious—and they all work like the dickens. It takes any amount of study and hard work, imagination, intelligence, good comradeship, mutual appreciation and understanding to stage these often-superlative little plays that might prove a shade over the heads of the average theater audience and so rarely see the light in the professional theaters. Yet there is a fairly large and appreciative audience for them, since those doll's-house theaters are always full and the whole atmosphere is quite enchanting.

They obviously fill a useful purpose from the highbrow authors' point of view, too. For there are always a certain number of imaginative original authors who just must get out of their systems certain unusual plays which they could never hope to see acted as popular downtown draws. Yet they are often very worth-while, indeed, and it would be too cruel to have them born to blush unseen. Now the little theaters seize upon them with relish, interpret them with exalted sympathy, stage them with infinite pains and detail, and not only get any amount of fun out of it themselves, but are rapidly creating an ever-growing army of little theater fans for whom the everlasting film play has become wearisome.

Not only actors and actresses are drawn to these merry companies, for the stage electricians, carpenters, scene painters, costumers, etc., are flocking to them as talented amateurs with an eye to future professional glory. They do it for love in their spare time, just sheer artistic love of the drama in its more subtle and intelligent forms. They are bursting with enthusiasm, and when they have finally staged a success, like "Dear Brutus" or "Plays and Photoplays" or something of Lord Dunsany's, they just palpitate with that sense of artistic achievement than which there is no more inspiring tonic.

So far these little theaters have attracted a delightful coterie of people—keen-witted, charming, clever young girls; serious, studious young men; amiable, kindly, understanding, older men and women who don't want to spend their evenings in cheap frivolity, in stodgy bridge, in everlasting show-seeing, but do yearn for an avenue of self-expression and don't mind working for it with a cheerful heartiness that would make anything a success. Hence they invariably eschew nasty, morbid plays, sex stuff, vulgar comedy. They select plays with a genuine idea that call for subtlety, for extreme delicacy of treatment, for a high type of intelligent understanding—and they are producing some amazingly clever young actors and actresses who, not being stars, still having their laurels to win, are modest and give the plays of their best, often at a willing sacrifice of their own pet vanities and personal penchants.

These little theaters for the most part don't hope or expect to make any money. They just barely cover expenses. They have to be ingenious and make up in resourcefulness what they lack in luxurious settings. It doesn't cost them a million dollars to put on a good show that sends its audiences home delighted and stimulated. They have precious little beyond their wits and their charm—but they suffice.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

FATIGUE.

When worn from toiling in the sun, from baling hay and cutting ice, the rest that comes when day is done is surely, surely worth the price.
I labored hard and long this week,
I sprung new curves in honest toil;
the neighbors heard my hinges creak as though they needed castor oil.
The neighbors saw me hoe my beans and cultivate the growing spuds as they rolled by in limousines, all doll'd up in their costly duds.
The neighbors rode along the shore and up and down the asphalt pave and found all mortal things a bore, as dour and dismal as the grave.
And when the evening came at last it bored them so they had to weep; they went to bed and lay aghast and cussed because they couldn't sleep.
And I, fatigued by honest toil, found peace and comfort in repose;
I'd left my trademark on the soil, out where the pallid pumpkin grows.
Oh, I had done the best I could to show a line of sterling worth;
I felt I had achieved some good to vindicate my stay on earth.
And that's a feeling most sublime for any man to entertain, to know he has not wasted time or let a day get by in vain.
And so a spirit calm was mine, when to my couch night saw me creep;
there I indulged in fifty-nine varieties of balmy sleep.

ON OUR CHIMBLY.

A Boy Meditates on the Mocking Bird.

BY CHARLES COKE WOODS.

He sets up there on our chimbly
And sings ist fit to kill;
He shakes hisself ist awful trimbly,
And lets his music spill;
That bird's the gladdest little feller
That ever tried to holler;
His little mate, he tries to tell 'er
To ketch the key and feller;
But, gee, the hen bird ain't no singer,
In April, May or June;
To Sunday-school he wouldn't bring 'er—
She couldn't keep the tune.

You bet he's there on our chimbly,
He's startin' up again;
Ist look, he lifts his wings as nimbly
As some old settin' hen;
Oh, boy, that mockin' bird's a wonder,
He knows what he is at,
Speshly when he scolds like thunder
And flops down on the cat;
His little mate's somewhere a-settin'
And must be let alone;
But that man-bird, believe me bettin',
Could lick a tigger grown!

Birds ain't like them human sinners
That's breakin' up a nest;
Then struttin' out to fashion dinners
And flirtin' with the rest;
But birds stick clost to one another,
As lovin' as can be,
The little father bird and mother,
With babies in a tree;
And if your home wuz not so scrappy,
And full uv scoldin' words,
I'll bet you'd be as dog-on happy
As them there mockin' birds.

One day that singin' bird wuz cryin'
In our old apple tree;
And then he quit and come a-flyin'
And lit right clost to me;
I said to him, "Ain't you in trouble
And wished that you wuz dead?"
But he ist blowed a music bubble
And dropped it on my head;
He sings in sunny day or dim,
Ist sings and sings and sings;
I'll bet—the way sound comes frum him—
He's made uv fiddle strings!

She was a stranger to London, says the Sketch, and was traveling from Brixton to the inn known as the Elephant and Castle. All the way she bothered the passengers on either side of her with inquiries whether she was nearing her destination. Finally, getting really anxious, she reached over and deliberately poked the conductor with her umbrella.

"Tell me, my man," she said. "Tell me, is this the Elephant and Castle?"

"No, ma'am, it isn't," sharply replied the man. "It's the conductor."—[Unidentified.

The politician who was running for re-election called upon a Quaker family and asked the wife, who came to the door, to see her husband.

"Have a seat and my husband will see thee," the Quaker lady responded.

"I thought you said your husband would see me?" he said.

Virtue Rewarded.

A man said in a sanctimonious tone one evening to his wife:

"How happy I am this evening, dear! I have done three good deeds today."

"What were they?" inquired his wife.

"On the way to business," said he, "I saw a young woman weeping on a church step with a baby on her knee. I asked her what the trouble was and she said that she had walked seven miles to have her baby christened and now found that she had lost her money on the way.

"I told her to cheer up and handed her a ten-dollar bill and bade her have the child christened and bring me the change. She did so—and thus, my dear, I did three good deeds. I performed, first, an act of charity; I started, second, a little child in the way it should go, and I got change for a bad bill!"—[Houston Post.

"But he admits he fired the gun."

"Yes, but he fired into the air," explained the lawyer.

"Ten dollars and costs," repeated the judge. "He might have hit an angel."—[Exchange.

Not a hundred miles from Folkestone a few months ago, a wife lay very ill. Having brought up a clever orphan girl, the sick woman called the young woman to her and said:

"I shall soon leave my little children motherless. They know you and love you, and after I am gone I want you and my husband to marry."

The young woman, bursting into tears, said: "We were just talking about that."

Heated Hearing On Street Car Transfer Rule.

[illegible] against the rule of the Los Angeles Railway Company requiring patrons to ask for transfers at the time they pay their fares was held in a spirited hearing yesterday afternoon by the Board of Public Utilities, at which both sides of the case were vigorously presented.

The patrons' side was voiced by [illegible] Irving and Owen Adams, who said of instances when conductors had refused to give transfers because the patrons had not secured them when they dropped their fares into the fare boxes. George [illegible] Anderson, representing the company, defended the rule, but said conductors were expected to exercise judgment, tact and discretion in carrying out the company's rule.

The commissioners declined to settle the vexing problem yesterday afternoon, but referred the matter to Chief Engineer Osborne for further study and report.

The first woman ever to be thus recognized, Miss Lillian Halfpenny, well-known Ontario girl and daughter of W. H. Halfpenny of 238 West H street in that city, who is now home on leave of absence from her missionary duties in Tientsin, China, yesterday received a handsome medal and certificate from the Chinese government for the part taken by her recently in flood relief work in China.

The medal consists of a gold base with a cross and laurel wreath done in red, white, blue and green enamel and bearing an inscription in Chinese. The certificate bears a map of the Chinese republic in pale green over which is a lengthy inscription in Chinese done in red and black ink.

The medal and certificate were forwarded to Miss Halfpenny by Dr. Iva M. Miller, head of the Isabella Fisher Hospital in Tientsin, who wrote:

"I have been asked by C. Y. Sun to deliver to you the medal and certificate which His Excellency Hsiung Hsi Ling, with the approval of Hsu Shih Chang, President of the Chinese republic, wishes to confer upon you for your hearty co-operation in flood relief work.

"This is the first instance in which the Chinese government has bestowed such an honor upon a woman."

JUDGE-PICKING PLAN WINS.

Gov. Stephens has agreed to the plan proposed by the Los Angeles Bar Association for the selection of the three Superior Court judges in this county. Under the plan the association will take a secret ballot from all attorneys in the county and from the results select eight candidates of whom the Governor will appoint three.

This plan was suggested to the Governor by Frank James, president of the bar association. There are some sixty candidates for the appointments, and the Governor admitted the difficulty of ascertaining their relative merit. Mr. James suggested the plan merely as a recommendation for your consideration," since "the bar does not desire to circumscribe your functions as Governor."

"I suggest for your consideration," he wrote, "that the candidates be separated into two groups, one including attorneys resident in the city of Los Angeles, and the other including attorneys resident elsewhere in the county. All attorneys in the county, whether members of the Bar Association or not, shall be given the privilege of voting for both groups of candidates."

The Governor answered that he had not made up his mind regarding the appointments and would defer the matter until the poll was taken.

"I am rather impressed with the suggestion," he wrote, "that the portion of the county, outside of Los Angeles city, has furnished less than its fair proportion of the judges now on the bench, having due respect to relative population."

How Nuxated Iron Helped Me To Whip Carpentier

Put Me In Such Superb Condition As To Enable

JACK DEMPSEY
"TIGER OF THE RING"

And Win The World's Championship

Tells a Secret Of His Training—Advises People Who Are In a Weakened, Rundown Condition To Use Nuxated Iron To Increase Their Strength, Vigor and Vitality

Today, recognized as the physical superior of any living man, the superman of the age, Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, explains below the part Nuxated Iron played in helping to prepare him for the two supreme tests of his career. First he used Nuxated Iron as a part of his training to increase his strength and endurance in his decisive smashing victory over the mighty Willard who had never before been knocked from his feet. In this battle Dempsey displayed a dynamic overwhelming strength and power never before known in the history of the ring; and now again in his phenominal victory over Carpentier he displayed that same indomitable force and nerve never before seen in any human being. The fact that Dempsey took Nuxated Iron as part of his training for both Willard and Carpentier is convincing evidence of the importance he attaches to keeping his blood rich in strength-giving iron, and the high regard in which he holds Nuxated Iron as a master strength and blood builder.

Dempsey made out his headquarters at a New York hotel after the fight Jack Dempsey said: "A couple of years ago in preparing for my fight with Jess Willard I took a great deal of Nuxated Iron and found it helped me wonderfully. I was positive I could go better and I firmly believe that Nuxated Iron put added power behind my punch and helped me to whip Jess Willard and thereby win the world's championship at Toledo. After that time whenever I felt rundown I used Nuxated Iron to help build up my physical condition; and when I started to train for the international championship against Carpentier I resolved to make use of Nuxated Iron, feeling sure that it would help give me that ruggedness, endurance and power that is necessary for success in contests of this kind. Carpentier being regarded as one of the strongest men in the ring, it was necessary for me to be in the pink of condition to defeat him. I used Nuxated Iron again and found that it played an important part in helping me into such fine physical condition that I felt I might have a battle royal on my hands; but I found him even easier for me than Willard and I felt practically as fresh after the fight as when I started."

It should occur to every thinking person that if a man as physically fit as Dempsey should consider it advisable to take Nuxated Iron, in training for his battles with Willard and Carpentier, how much more important it is for the average man or woman to see that there is no lack of iron in the blood or nerve force in the nerves. Thousands of men and women are weak, rundown and old before their time, their nerve force shattered and their health wrecked simply because they have allowed worry, overwork, grief, constant nervous strain and excesses of various kinds to sap the vital nerve fluid from their nerve cells and the iron from their blood. In such cases one may not only suffer from terrible physical tortures such as great nervous irritability, heart palpitations, indigestion, splitting headaches, pains across the back, dizziness, sleeplessness extreme weakness, etc., but the mind is naturally more or less affected, the memory becomes poor, the judgement bad, and such often results in business failure and may even cause the sufferer to commit suicide or land him in an asylum.

Many a capable man or woman falls just short of winning success and happiness in life because they do not back up their mental ability with the physical strength, energy and endurance which comes from having plenty of good rich red blood and nerve force. In such cases it is often worse than foolish to take more stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs. What you need is something to put more nerve force in your nerves and more iron in your blood. This is most effectively accomplished by the free use of Nuxated Iron. This valuable product contains the principle chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form which most resembles that in the nerve and brain cells of man. It also contains organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. This form of iron will not blacken or injure the teeth nor upset the stomach. It is an entirely different thing from metallic iron which people usually take. Nuxated Iron may therefore be termed both a blood and nerve food as it feeds strength-giving iron to your blood and the principal chemical ingredient of active living nerve force to your brain and nerve cells.

Important Statement of Jack Kearns, Manager for Dempsey

"Knowing the benefits that Dempsey had derived from the use of Nuxated Iron in training for his contest with Willard, I strongly insisted that he must again use this product as part of his regular training for his battle with Carpentier, and from the results which Dempsey has obtained from the use of this product in both his phenominal victories over Willard and Carpentier, I strongly advise people who are in a weakened rundown condition to try this wonderful strength and blood builder."

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: From the above article the reader must not infer that Nuxated Iron will make a giant in strength or a world's champion out of the average man; but Nuxated Iron will increase the red blood corpuscles and by so doing greatly increase your strength, power and endurance, and supply increased nerve force to the starving nerve cells. You can try Nuxated Iron on our absolute guarantee that if it does not increase your strength, power and endurance in two weeks time and give you perfectly satisfactory results your money will be refunded. Beware of substitutes. Look for the word "Nuxated" on every package. Nuxated Iron for the blood and nerves is sold by all druggists.

The People and Their Daily Troubles

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

Do You Plead Guilty, or Not Guilty.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

Listen, family:

This is a plea for the only genuinely oppressed, downtrodden slave that is left in the world. It is a plea for wife and mother. Not for wives and mother, but for your wife and your mother, and it is addressed to you individually.

Have a heart as regards wife and mother. Treat them with a little consideration. Show them a little mercy. Have a little pity on them. Try to remember that they are made of flesh and blood that wearies just as yours does, that they have nerves that overstrain brings to the breaking point just as it does yours, and that they can be worked to death just like any other patient, dumb beast of burden.

This will be a brand new thought to you. You have always looked upon your mother or your wife as a sort of perpetual-motion machine that was started to running by your birth or a wedding ceremony, and that goes on automatically functioning because she is built that way and can't help it. Therefore you feel no more need to spare her than you would an automobile truck or a steam hoist or any other piece of machinery constructed for hard service and lifting heavy loads.

Of course you will deny all of this and tell me how you love wife and mother, and how you would die for them, and so on. Easy talk. And unconvincing, because nobody is called upon to die for another, but how do you live for wife and mother? Are you killing them by inches by your selfishness, and laziness, and by your exactions? Do you wait upon yourself, or do you make some worn and weary woman wait upon you?

In this country only one family in forty keeps a maid. Yet the other thirty-nine families expect to be as elaborately fed, and as carefully tidied up after, and mended, and buttoned, and washed, and pressed, and waited as if they had a whole retinue of servants to slave for them.

They know perfectly well that it is wife and mother who must combine in her one person cook, and chambermaid, and laundress, and seamstress, and butler, and do the work of all for them, yet it occurs to neither husband or children to do anything to even try to lighten her labors, and lift some of the crushing burden from her shoulders.

When the men of the family read the newspapers they scatter them from one end of the house to the other, though they know poor, tired wife or mother will have to pick them up. When they smoke they drop their cigar ashes on the floor, and scatter cigarette stubs all over the place, though they are perfectly aware wife and mother has got to sweep up after them.

When hubby bathes he wrecks the bathroom, and uses half a dozen towels that wife and mother has to wash out the next day. When he puts on a clean shirt he messes up two or three others that she has spent half a day over a sweltering tub and ironing board doing up. He hangs up his clothes on the floor, and wife and mother gives the time to brushing and pressing them that she ought to spend in trying to rest a little.

Grown-up son follows hard in father's footsteps, and being at the dressy age when the set of a collar is a matter of life and death, he thinks nothing of ruining half a dozen that mother will have to launder over again, before he finds one to suit his critical taste. Grown-up daughter is even worse, for she must have as fluffy ruffles as the girl who gets her finery from Paris, and mother must not only produce them, but be knocked because she hasn't the skill of a French modiste.

If there are old people in the family they have a thousand whims about their food that must be catered to. They must have separate dishes, cooked in different ways from the family meal. Often they insist on having their food at strange and inconvenient hours and they demand, as a tribute to them, that they be waited upon hand and foot, and that somebody do for them the things they are perfectly well able to do for themselves. Yet they know there is no one to do all this extra work but one piteous, overburdened woman.

This is not an overdrawn picture of average family life. It is your own home, very likely, only you are so accustomed to seeing wife and mother being slowly slain by those who ought to protect her that you have never noticed what a cruel thing you were doing.

Therefore I call your attention to it and ask you to start a reformation in domestic conditions in your own bailiwick just as soon as you put down this paper.

Nine-tenths of the work that wife and mother has to do around the house is unnecessary. She takes a million steps a day picking up things that the family drop that they might just as well not drop. It's no more trouble to hang up clothes in a closet than on the back of a chair. It's just as easy to put books and papers where they belong as it is to leave them where they don't belong. Any man who is too feeble to reach for an ash tray has no business smoking.

It's just as much up to the family to clean up the bathroom after their ablutions as it is for mother to scour the tub for the whole bunch of them, and if every man would try to visualize the ache in mother's back as she bends over the washtub, he would find a clean handkerchief by the simple process of stirring in the contents of a drawer until one came to the top.

You remember the old copy-book precept, "Wrong is wrought by want of thought as well as want of heart." That's the trouble with family life. We don't think, but it's time we thought about how we are killing WIFE and MOTHER by putting unnecessary work upon her. And it's high time to stop it.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Likes the Editorials.

LOS ANGELES, July 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] May I ask enough of your time for a reading of this little appreciation of your editorial on "The Speaking Voice?" I might have written it myself. It is both in substance and manner, especially the opening paragraph, so startlingly like what I have said so many times and have never before heard or read from anyone else.

By this token, however, I know that I did not write it, for I should have gone on and made a plea for the revival of the finest of all accomplishments, the art of reading aloud. For several generations our family has made a special study of good reading and in every generation there has been at least one endowed by nature for this form of expression, so that we have developed some exceptionally good readers. I have a nephew now, a boy of 11, who can take a book he has never seen and read it aloud in a way that is a delight to hear. From the way a paragraph opens, he can sense its conclusion and the balance of its phrases and interpret it to the listener without a break in the smoothly flowing voice. One of the cherished memories of my childhood is my sister's beautiful voice reading aloud to the assembled family.

It was through this established custom that we became familiar with Shakespeare, the English novelists and the great poets. Few people seem to know that real poetry is written for the ear rather than the eye.

Girls who have spent years at schools of expression cannot read aloud intelligently a paragraph from a newspaper.

That is all. Every one of us needs heartening at times. I have written this merely to tell you that one person read your editorial and is deeply in sympathy with you and hopes to see many paragraphs on the same theme in your paper. "The Speaking Voice" is such a fine bit of writing that I wish it might be printed as a monograph and given a wide circulation, especially in the schools.

Since writing the above, I have the editorials on Admiral Sims and "Westward, the Empire" and wish to add my little word of praise for them, too.

Money and Wages.

LOS ANGELES, July 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] While money is essential to civilization, its use causes much confusion of thought. And there is no greater evidence of such confusion than the common supposition that men toil for money. They seem not to understand that when wages is paid in money, the transaction is only half made. When it is completed, men find that what they have really toiled for is food and clothing and shelter.

Were wages paid directly in the necessaries of life, the absurdity of limiting the output, curtailing production, would at once become apparent. The toiler would see that his wages are drawn alone from the volume of wealth produced. His reason would show to him, therefore, that the less wealth were produced, the less would be his wages. This truth is shown everywhere, every day, but because money intervenes, it is obscured.

Money, being merely the representative of the wealth produced, is able to buy only its relative quantity of wealth. If there is an abundant production, the same sum of money will buy more of the product. If production is curtailed, prices will advance in the same proportion, and less of the necessaries of life will be purchased for the same sum. So far as the effects go, the transaction is the same as it would be were actual barter the rule. In the latter case, barter would at once bring home to the toiler the simple truth that his wages consist in food and clothing and shelter, and that the less of these may be produced, the less must be his earnings.

This is no plea for a return to the barbaric system or barter, but merely to point an economic truth, the understanding of which would go far toward correcting a common error. Were labor unions wise enough to understand that truth, their struggles to reduce below normal the hours of labor and to limit the output would at once cease. They would see that wages, being drawn from wealth produced, the greater the production, the greater would be the reward of toil. L. J. QUINBY.

The Japs and Garbage.

LOS ANGELES, July 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I repeat what I said before the Council on Thursday, that the disposal of garbage is a sanitary and not a commercial proposition, and that it should be entrusted only to men who have moral regard for sanitary regulations; that a Jap cannot be held to the observance of such an obligation except by a file of soldiers, and that this is not a military government. I expressed the conviction that the highest bidder was a tissue mask behind which were the Japanese hog-feeders, who so far appreciated the consequences of their presence during the deliberations that they were at the moment as scarce as snakes in Ireland, and so stupid that they gave the game away by crowding the corridors just previously in sufficient numbers to give that venerable building the appearance of a little Tokio, and not very little, either. The obvious identity of the parties in interest was admitted, and yesterday, when asked if a permit for the establishment of a piggery at the place designated in the proposal had been granted, and what would be done if the request for a permit was refused, the attorney for the bidders admitted that a permit had not been granted, and that, in event of its refusal, the garbage would be distributed among the various existing hog ranches which were ample to take care of it. If that distribution can be made should the request be denied, why can it not be made if the permit is granted? Does that mean that Japs will be trucking the garbage all over Los Angeles county?

The Council has voted for a ten-year contract. Ten years is quite a while in international affairs. If you are in doubt review those of the last seven. It is a matter of prudence to note that Japanese statesmen predict an armed conflict with this country considerably within that period. In view of that contingency, is it wise to place a matter of such supreme sanitary importance in the hands of subjects of the Mikado? Bear in mind that the Germans, whose financial, political and military imitators the Japs are, poisoned wells.

I have been opposed to the contention of the restaurant-keepers that they be permitted to handle and dispose of the garbage produced on their premises under such regulations as the city may prescribe, because I was of the opinion that the municipality could handle it in a more sanitary manner. But as between turning that material over to Japs and permitting its disposal by the original and—except for a technicality—true owners, there is no room for debate.

Making More Money.

Decorator Makes a "Cleaning" With a Process to Make New Again Dirty Window Shades.

SOME years ago, and not so many at that, Charles Segall, of New York, was a decorator and, in the course of his profession, many times came face to face with what was apparently a problem impossible of solution—dirty or soiled window shades. They couldn't be dyed. Repeval was an expensive process and Inquiry failed to develop any way of cleaning them. Therefore, sensing a field that was wide open Segall commenced to spend every moment of his spare time, day and night, finding a method of doing what appeared to be impossible.

Week after week and month after month he worked along this line, trying one compound after another until finally he discovered a mixture which would turn the trick at comparatively little cost. But even then, he was up against the firmly implanted idea of real estate men and property owners that "it can't be done."

"We've tried all the processes on the market," they informed Segall, "and we have come to the conclusion that window shades simply can't be cleaned without serious damage to the fabric in one way or another. There's no use trying."

"All right," replied Segall. "I'll make you a proposition. Let me have six of your dirtiest shades. I'll either return them fresh and spotless or I'll guarantee to buy you new ones. The price per shade will be—," and he named a figure almost as unbelievable as was the statement that shades could be cleaned at all.

Now Segall is handling 500 shades a week and he is so far behind in his orders that he is asking people not to tell their friends who did the work for them because he simply cannot take care of any more business.

Question. Is it possible to destroy the grubs that bore into lumber?

A. M. R.

Answer: The Forest Service Laboratory says that kiln drying is fatal to some if not all wood-boring grubs. Air seasoning has no effect on their activities, but any kiln-drying process which is considered practical for seasoning the wood is helpful and in the case of ash, puts an end to the borers.

Q.: Please name the different types of battleships in our Navy?

Q. What is the difference between sterilization and Pasteurization of milk? B. O. O.

A. Sterilization is a process by which the temperature of milk is raised high enough or maintained long enough to destroy all germs and spores. This method is seldom employed because it gives the milk a boiled taste. In Pasteurization the temperature used is only high enough to destroy most germs, including disease germs such as those of tuberculosis and typhoid.

Q. Why was the aerial mail route between Washington and New York discontinued? L. F. D.

A. The Post Office Department says that there is no further necessity for continuing the New York-Washington route was an experimental one because there are better opportunities for conducting the necessary experimental work on the New York-San Francisco route, and because it is not possible at present, on account of lack of funds, to develop a long distance route from New England to the southeastern States, which would include this.

Q.: What is the insignia of the Militia Bureau? L. W. K.

A.: Insignia for the Militia Bureau has been approved by the War Department. It consists of two fasces crossed, and superimposed on an eagle with wings outspread. It will be worn by all officers and enlisted men detailed in or under the jurisdiction of the Militia Bureau, which also applies to instructors of the National Guard.

Q.: What is a man called who studies crop production?

E. C. P.

A.: All farmers study crop production, but a man who specializes in the branch of agriculture that deals with theory and practice of crop production, is called an agronomist.

Q.: How large must a piece of ice be to weigh fifty pounds?

R. C.

A.: In order to weigh fifty pounds a piece of ice should contain about 1610 cubic inches.

Q.: Does the King of England have to belong to the Episcopal church? E. G.

A.: It is required that the ruler of England be a member of the Church of England, which is Episcopal.

Q.: Does it take the temper out of a razor to stick it in boiling water? S. B. S.

A.: The Bureau of Standards says placing a razor in boiling water does not take the temper out.

SPORTS MOTORING FILMLAND DRAMA

CAULEY BREAKS SPIKE; TIGERS GRAB THE GAME.

Angels Sail Into an Eighth Inning Tie But Hit Severe Squalls During Extra Session.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

One busted castiron spike, 30 cents, wholesale, lost Los Angeles a perfectly good ball game, and the Vernon convalescents, by flat-footed triumph, made it two out of three for the series just closed at 3 to 2.

It is true that Vic Aldridge balked the winning run across in the ninth, but if Jimmy McAuley's cleats hadn't crumpled under him in the eighth, there wouldn't have been any tenth.

Such is baseball. Vernon goes into the fracas with a large assortment of busted arms and legs, and wins ball games. One contributes a slight fracture of a bit of metal bric-a-brac clinging to his locks, and this small thing loses the war.

AT EARLY LEAD.

Vernon took an early lead when Ham Patterson came in the first, Ham having tripled a home run onto the roof of a right field, meaning the same. This is the same guy who pulled Wednesday's game into the middle of next week, and who, tonight, couldn't stop anything with a pie pumkin, with which rolling up hill. Ham is no hitter as a right fielder a batter he would put in a pie can. Chadbourne was on the mound at the time of Ham's four-base clout.

Vernon had the Angels in the state of mind where they would probably fondle grape jelly in the palm of his hand. Until the eighth, when they got hold of the hand that reached them. Bob was given two runs, enough to tie the score, and the Angels would have at least three had not Vernon, in his malice, said impolite things about his triple down the alley. More concerning that anon.

JIMMY'S FOUL.

Jimmy Cauley, who occupies an exalted position just above the middle of the batting order, led off the eighth with a foul tooth by dumping a fly along the first base line. The ball was pounded on the pill by Mr. Ham, but Umpire Moriarty called it foul, and Mr. Cauley should be heard heeding bitter boos in as good a position to the umpire. However, the bunch seemed to be satisfied that it meant the game and Jimmy was called back and given another chance. And there have been a lot worse hunches. Gorman then jammed a fly that fell just between the almost meeting finger tips of Carroll and Statz, and the ball struck among their feet for a double.

CROSSES THEM.

McGraw then went quite a ways toward winning his own game, by crossing the Angels cross-eyed. Delivering the ball, Aldridge lunged over to the third-base line, expecting a bunt in that direction. Instead, McGraw bunted to the right of the box, and was at first with Gorman on third before McCabe could come in on the ball. This looked like the game all right, but it ended in a most unexpected manner, and enabled the tripe-eating Tigers to register what is technically known as a flat-footed victory.

Aldridge started to throw to first, either to relieve his mind or nip McGraw off that base. If a sign had been given, Griggs didn't get it. He was so far from the base that Aldridge didn't dare throw, and the movement constituted a balk. Gorman was waved home, and flat-footed in with the winning marker.

DEADLY BURST.

A sudden and deadly burst of speed by "Twin Six" Statz put the Angels in the running. "Twin Six" started the eighth by beating out a hit to French. McAuley followed by shooting a short liner to left. Stumpy Edington, instead of playing the ball safe, tried to scoop it, and it escaped him for an easy three-bagger, Statz scoring. But turning first, McAuley was seen to slow down, while one of his feet began to rattle. He limped as far

FILLY WINS IN INITIAL START.

Jeanette Rankin Captures the Big Tavern Stake.

Carries Off the Event in Two Straight Heats.

Princess Etawah is Second; Hilda Fletcher Third.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NORTH RANDALL, CLEVELAND (O.) July 7.—Making her initial start on the Grand Circuit, Jeanette Rankin won the $5000 Tavern "steak" for 2:14 trotters, today's feature of the harness horse racing at North Randall. The filly, which is owned by George E. Dudley, of Youngstown, O., captured the event in two straight heats.

In the first heat of the Tavern, Saint Patrick, the Great, took the lead at the start and held it to the stretch, where Jeanette Rankin took command and never relinquished it. Princess Etawah dislodged Hilda Fletcher from second place.

Jeanette Rankin set the pace throughout the second mile, and won easily. Princess Etawah and Hilda Fletcher again finished second and third, respectively.

Princess Etawah had no trouble winning the final heat.

The 2:06 pace went to Johnny Quirk. After finishing third in the first heat he captured the next two.

Bettors received a jolt when Brooke Worthy, Tom Murphy's horse, was defeated in the 2:10 trot, which went to the Toddler in straight heats. Brooke Worthy sold for $1000 in a $1700 auction pool.

It required four heats to decide the first division of the 2:20 pace, which event went to Wrack. The results:

Who is leaving for the East next Monday to take another fling at the national tennis championship at Forest Hills and incidentally help repel the invasion of Mme. Suzanne Lenglen, the French star. Miss Mary was national champion for three years' running—1912, 1913 and 1914.

DEMPSEY IS ON WAY TO SALT LAKE.

Hops Rattlers in Chicago as He Bids Good-by to a Curious Throng.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, July 7.—Stepping on his toes at a rapid clip through the Northwestern Station to hop a train for Salt Lake City, home and mother, Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight, found his path blocked by a curious throng tonight. Somebody in the mob spotted Jack and before he could escape, the champion was surrounded and his progress stopped momentarily.

Dempsey, who was accompanied by Teddy Hayes and a couple of other pals, broke the line in time to jump aboard the 8 o'clock train and Chicago will see no more of the world's champion for quite a spell. After he visits with his parents, his sisters and his brothers at Salt Lake, Jack is going to Los Angeles for the intensive labor incidental to turning out another movie creation. This latter stunt may require several months.

The world's champion put in a strenuous day today despite the heat. Up early in the morning he bummed around the loop visiting with friends. Then in the afternoon more friends got the hooks under his elbows and pushed him into an automobile and along the Lake Shore boulevards. He didn't finish this trip until supper time.

In the meantime Hayes was kept busy. It was Hayes's job to see that Sophie Ginsberg was placed safely aboard the train for the trip westward. Teddy took the Belgian police dog to a "vet" before going to the station.

It was too hot to talk fight today, at least Dempsey felt that way about it.

"But if Tex Rickard or any other promoter wants to go ahead and make a match for me, it will suit me," said Dempsey just before he departed.

GREY LAG WINS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—Grey Lag, star colt of the Rancocas stable, today won the Dwyer stakes at Aqueduct and equalled the world's record for a mile and a furlong set last month at Belmont Park by the selling plater Goaler. The time was 1:49.

GILBERT IN TEAM.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, July 7.—J. B. Gilbert, it was announced today, will replace Maj. Cecil Campbell of the British Davis cup team.

DATE OF MATCH CHANGED.

The Thye-Miller bout for the world's middle-weight wrestling championship, which was scheduled for Monday night at the Bike Stadium, has been postponed until Friday, July 15, it was announced yesterday. This will undoubtedly benefit Ted Thye, as the Portland grappler has only recently arrived from the Northwest, and the postponment will give him more time in which to condition himself for the big affair.

From all indications the match will be a first-class exhibition. Walter Miller, who holds the title at present, has tangled with Thye on several occasions before, taking the middle-weight crown from him in the L.A.A.C. gym at their last meeting. In this bout an iron post at the corner of the ring figured prominently in Thye's downfall. Previous to this argument, Thye had relieved Miller of the title at Portland, putting him thoroughly out of commission in the act.

According to Hoyle, it is Thye's turn to win the championship, as Walter Miller has been in possession of it for almost two months now. Whoever wins will have to put in a busy evening, and the bugs are promised a thrilling struggle by Capt. John McGraw, who is promoting the scrap. One-half of the total gate receipts will go to the Los Angeles Post of the Disabled Veterans of the World War.

RECAPITULATION SHOWS THAT L. A. A. C. LOST TWO RELAY RACES RATHER NEEDLESSLY.

While it may have been good form to let the New York Athletic Club win all five relay races at Paddock Field last Tuesday, it was hardly necessary. Had the proper men been used, L.A.A.C. runners should have circulated around the track fast enough to account for wins in at least two of the events.

Purtell, for instance, was used as second man in the 440-yard relay, and lost far more than the advantage that Farrell had over Paddock at the tape. Blankiron had a two-yard lead over Bernie Wefers, Jr., in their heat, But Purtell lost this and three more besides. Bill Yount worked like a trojan and did his best to send Paddock away on even terms with Farrell.

But the champion of sprinters seemed frozen to the spot and before he could get away, Farrell was dashing up the track like a mad man. Instead of availing himself of a running start, Paddock took the baton from Yount standing still.

RETURNS TO FIRST LOVE.

Mary Browne Starts East Monday to Battle for Tennis Championship.

BY PAUL LOWRY.

Little Miss Mary Browne, national tennis champion for women in 1912, 1913 and 1914, leaves for the East next Monday. Contrary Mary, who recently copped our Southern California golf championship for women by upsetting all the dope, has gone back to her first love. She has designs on the national title again, and will enter the titular tourney to be contested at Forest Hills, L. I., starting August 15.

Renewed interest in the game on the part of our former champion lies in the coming of Mme. Suzanne Lenglen, the dashing Frenchwoman, to our shores the latter part of this month.

The French lady tennis artist has conquered everything and everyone who wears skirts on her side of the pond, including Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, our present national champ, and is galloping over here to conquer new worlds.

HATCHED IT UP.

When news of the coming of the French champ trickled over the telegraph wires little Miss Mary and May Sutton Bundy, who won a national championship as far back as 1904, put their heads together.

The audacity of the French lady was impossible, they decided. It would never do to let a foreigner flit in and capture our national crown without a protest. And with Mrs. Mallory apparently unable to stem the tide, as evidenced in St. Cloud, France, last month in the clay court championship, Mary and May decided to take the rackets down from the mantel piece and dust them off.

They practiced a few times with favorable results. They made their decision and announced to the wide world that Southern California was ready to defend the honor of the United States. Both played exhibition matches in the recent Pacific Coast doubles championship for men, and displayed much of their former skill and cunning. They had the same old sting, the same old zip to their drives, and the experts agreed that practice was about what both of them needed the most of.

Miss Browne leaves Monday with Mrs. Louise Williams. They will go straight to Philadelphia, and practice there, perhaps playing some exhibition matches, Mrs. Bundy will follow later.

Plans call for the southern trio to play in the New York championships starting July 25 and all other tourneys prior to the national.

The invasion of the East by lady tennis experts from Southern California marks the first since 1914, when Miss Browne last won the national title.

In fact Southern California has sent no representatives of the first water East since McLoughlin and Bundy made their last unsuccessful trip in 1919.

The next tourney to occupy the demon experts here in the south will be the annual Southern California championships. This is billed for the week of July 25-31. All events will be held—men's singles, men's doubles, women's singles, women's doubles, mixed doubles and junior events.

Following this comes the annual handicap meet, starting August 31. Both tourneys are to be played on the new courts of the Los Angeles Tennis Club at the corner of Melrose and Cole. Directors are planning a doubles tourney for members about the middle of this month in which the first-class players will pair with second class.

GRAHAM FINED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Manager Charles Graham of the San Francisco baseball team was fined $25 today by President W. H. McCarthy of the Pacific Coast League for arguing a decision with Umpire Croter in yesterday's game between San Francisco and Oakland Milton to Race Sarles July 17 at Speedway.

Southern California speed fans have a rare treat in store for Sunday, July 17, when Tommy Milton and Roscoe Sarles, the two foremost racing drivers of America, will meet at the Beverly Speedway to decide the supremacy of the world. It is planned to stage the speed duel in three heats, totaling about fifty miles. As both pilots are daring, skillful drivers, and as the Beverly bowl is one of the fastest in the nation, speed records are liable to tumble, and spectators may be sure of witnessing one of the classical events of racing history.

Both Sarles and Milton have made enviable records during the past year. The Indianapolis Sweepstakes were won by Tommy Milton, with Sarles pressing him hard in the second position. At Uniontown Sarles finished first, Milton running a close second. Again, at Tacoma, Milton once more won first laurels, Sarles thundering across the line a few seconds behind him. These two speed kings will settle the dispute over the racing championship for the season on July 17.

Diamond Stars Are Likely to Testify in Scandal Case.

Quartet of Jurors Have Already Been Chosen.

Players' Big Salaries Divulged by the State.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, July 7.—Some of the greatest stars in baseball, including Ty Cobb, manager of the Detroit Americans, Eddie Collins, captain of the Chicago White Sox, and half a dozen other Detroit players, may be called to testify in defense of the White Sox players and others on trial here. This was made known by the defense today in accepting the first four jurors.

Henry Berger, defense attorney, said these men might testify as to the character of the indicted players, render opinions as to the possibility of a game being thrown or about the pennant-winning drive of the White Sox at the close of the 1919 series, in which a number of games were won from Detroit.

CHOOSE FOURTH.

The fourth juror to be chosen was Stephen Shuben, a machinist. He is married and is 42 years old. The other jurors sworn in with him follow:

Paul Luepcke, 33, married, telephone company employee.

Herbert Jordan, stationary engineer, 41, married.

Joseph Vessely, 31, married, foreman for a motor company.

Statements from defense attorneys during examination of prospective jurors in the baseball trial today that the indicted White Sox players were not high-salaried men as had been supposed, resulted in the State making public a list of salaries which included figures as low as $3000 per season for some of the men and as high as $7250 for others.

SOME LIST.

The list, as given out by the State, follows:

Chick Gandil, $666.66 per month for the playing season of six months in 1919.

Charles Risberg, $3250 for the 1919 season, plus $138.76 for the extra time required for the world series.

Buck Weaver $7250 for 1919, plus $419.34 for world series period.

Fred McMullen, $500 per month for season of about six months, plus

BILL YOUNT PUTS SHOES ON THE PEG.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, July 7.—Wild William Yount, who, for four years has been a well-known figure in the collegiate athletic world in the United States, came home from Pasadena today and hung up his old spike shoes on a nail. "I'm through now, for all time," said Bill. "I've been in training for about eight years now, in high school and college, and it is enough. I'm going to be free, white and twenty-one for the time being."

Yount has probably one of the most extensive collection of medals of any man in the country today. William has medals starting in when he ran his first race in high school and since then he has been getting all kinds, gold, silver, bejeweled and some bronze. The medals show how many first places he has won in various meets for the gold ones predominate.

He also has gold watches, loving cups and a number of other little knick knacks he has picked up in various travels. He has gone across the continent three times for various events, twice as the University of Redlands relay runner and he has also been across the "pond" as he was a member of the 1920 Olympic team.

Yount deserves all credit for his success for it was eternal training that did the work for him. He is not built to be a hurdler, but by continual training overcame that handicap and there are but three or four men in the world who can beat him over the high sticks.

fore and is familiar with the privilege of drifting back and obtaining a running start. Whether he lost his head or fell victim to the wiles of "Gas-Bags" Bernie Wefers, Sr., is a subject for discussion.

Observers standing at the 880-yard line, where Paddock received the baton from Yount, say the former inquired the limits within which he could take the stick. Wefers, so the story goes, pointed to a line about six feet back, and Paddock fell for it. Paddock knows better than this, that there is a ten-yard leeway on each side of the finishing line.

This, however, does not condone the running of Furtell, a slow man in the hundred, on the second 110-yard lap. Cliff Argue, who easily beat Furtell in the A.A.U. meet at Redlands this year, and is a consistent 10 1-5 man in the century, was available. Argue could have held the advantage Blenkiron piled up and Yount would have sent Paddock away in the lead, negativing in a large measure the latter's wretched start.

The same thing, only different, happened in the 880-yard relay. Kilby has been running quarter miles all year. He was put in to run a 220-yard lap and started as if he thought he was toping a 440. One hundred yards from the starting line Wefers, Jr., had a six-yard lead, and by the time Kilby was aware of the state of things and had decided to get

Tanlac Was Simply Wonderful in Her Case.

Tanlac Will Help Anyone Who Tries It.

Another highly esteemed Los Angeles woman testifies to the remarkable powers of Tanlac. This time it is Mrs. J. W. Pickins, of 816 East 41st St. Mrs. Pickins owns and conducts the fruit store at 816 Merrill Ave., and can be seen there most any time she is not at her home. Tanlac has overcome a bad case of indigestion and nervousness from which she suffered for many years standing for which she says she is truly grateful for the good it has given her. "I was so run down before I got Tanlac that I was miserable all the time. I had no appetite, and the gas that formed from undigested food caused my heart to palpitate so that I thought I had heart trouble. For a long time I had a swelling in my legs and it was an effort for me to dress and look after my business. My sleep was broken and restless, and I was certainly in need of something to help me.
Hearing of a case where Tanlac had helped another woman who was suffering as I was, I started taking it myself, and it is just wonderful how three bottles have given me perfect relief from the indigestion and bloating. I eat good meals at every meal now, the gas and nervousness are answered, and I sleep like a child all night. I feel just fine all the time and believe Tanlac will help anyone who tries it."

POLICE MORALS UNIT ABOLISHED.

Chief's Order Leaves City Without Vice Squad.

Acts to Bar Buck Passing in Department's Work.

With one sweeping order Chief of Police Jones yesterday afternoon abolished the police vice division and thereby left Los Angeles the only large city in the United States without a branch of the police department to operate only for the suppression of vice. Chief Jones gave the order doing away with the vice division to Police Inspector Murray.

In a public statement given out after the new order was issued Chief Jones declared that in disbanding the vice squad, which had been under the command of Police Captain Hilf, he was throwing the work of keeping Los Angeles a clean city on the entire police department. He declared that each division commander will be held accountable for his district and must keep it clean.

UP TO COMMANDERS.

"I believe," stated Chief Jones, "that every division commander of this police department will be able to keep his own division clean without a vice division. I am putting the matter up to every man working in this department and expect each and every patrolman, sergeant and higher commander to clean up the portions of the city under his care and to keep them clean.

"In making this new order I have in no way refused the right to a division commander to use as many plain-clothes officers as he sees fit to assist in keeping the city clean. Officers in uniform, of course, will have a hard time gathering evidence against houses of ill fame and persons violating the liquor laws.

MAY CALL AIDES.

"In cases where uniformed police officers report to their division commanders that they are unable to bring offenders into court, officers in plain clothes should be detailed to look after this work.

"I am of the opinion that with the vice division no longer operating and each and every officer held accountable for his beat, the buck will no longer be passed to the vice division to make this class of arrests and the entire city will be kept clean."

Mayor Cryer said of Chief Jones's order abolishing the "purity squad."

"The plan of abolishing the purity squad originated with Chief Jones and when he told me about it, I said I thought that it was a sound idea. I did not give the Chief the order to do it, as I am giving him no orders except to see that the laws are obeyed. I am holding him responsible for results. The methods are up to him.

"I believe the plan to be a good one, for if it works out, as we hope it will, there will be no more shifting of responsibility to the purity squad by individual policemen for conditions on the various beats. I believe that the individual police officers themselves will approve of the plan and work enthusiastically with the Chief in bringing about crime prevention and law enforcement."

MAYOR FOR SAFETY.

Pledges Aid in Commerce Chamber's Campaign to Lessen Accidents.

One of the first steps taken by Mayor Cryer for civic betterment was his pledge given yesterday to support the campaign of the Chamber of Commerce to reduce the number of traffic and fire accidents.

Chairman Van Norman of the chamber's Safety and Fire Prevention Committee, and Manager Lefferts of the department of safety and fire prevention of the organization conferred with Mayor Cryer, who promised his co-operation in making Los Angeles safer.

Chamber officials show Los Angeles has a per capita fire loss less than one-half of the average for the United States.

ARSON INQUIRY IS CONTINUED BY POLICE.

Police detectives yesterday continued the investigation of an asserted arson ring that fired the home of Mrs. Mary Anna Maynard on East Twelfth street several days ago. Following the fire in the Maynard home nine men were arrested and one of them confessed, the police say. A guard was placed yesterday at the home of Mrs. E. T. Phillip, 3333 Hooper avenue, who receive a letter threatening destruction of her home. The police yesterday stated the letter was sent by the same gang that fired the Maynard home.

ADMITS INSOLVENCY.

The F. J. McCann Brokerage Company of this city filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday, giving its liabilities, all unsecured, as $63,-461.34, and assets of $116,801.87, of which $43,887.79 is in the shape of debts due on an open account, and $66,247.13 in unliquidated claims.

TRIAL CONTINUED.

Major Accused of Taking Funds of Woman for Own Use.

The trail of Maj. A. W. Birdsall on a charge of embezzlement, set for Judge Conley's court yesterday, was continued until Monday on the motion of Jud Rush, attorney for the defendant.

The prosecuting witness in this case is Kate Neville, who charges that the major appropriated $2288 intrusted to him by her and applied it to his own use.

One of the witnesses against Maj. Birdsall will be his former wife, Mary Neville, who on Wednesday was granted an annulment of her marriage to him. Mrs. Neville and her daughter came to Long Beach from Texas and met the major in Long Beach. He interested them in a real estate deal. When they left Long Beach, he followed and again met them in El Paso. Subsequently he married the younger woman.

ROGERS IN TWO-REELERS

STAR DECIDES TO FINANCE HIS OWN PICTURES.

By Grace Kingsley.

That brilliant and unique comedian, Will Rogers, the world's only comedian of his type, indeed, has at last made up his mind what he is going to do, professionally speaking. He is to make and finance his own pictures. Ever since he left Goldwyn, interest has been keen regarding the film Mark Twain's future.

The pictures which Rogers is to make will be two-reel comedy-dramas. They will be filmed either at Brunton's or at the Hollywood studios, the matter not being fully settled as yet. He will release through Pathe.

"I've been making two-reelers, released in five reels," Rogers is quoted as saying, "but now I'm going to make two-reelers released in two reels."

Just what stories he will do is still a matter of conjecture, but it is understood that the comedian is negotiating for some of O. Henry's stories. As will be remembered, one of the last of his Goldwyn pictures was an O. Henry story, and it proved one of his most successful. His whimsical humor seems to find fullest expression in this type.

"I don't aim," drawled the humorist, with a twinkle, "to put fellers like Charlie Chaplin and Buster Keaton out of business, so I'm going to do another kind of stuff from theirs."

In leaving Goldwyn, Mr. Rogers takes his whole staff with him. Even Irene Rich, who played opposite with much success in a number of pictures, is to be his leading lady. Clarence Badger, his director with Goldwyn, Jimmie Flood, assistant director, and Marcel Le Picard, cameraman, will go with the new Rogers organization.

Mr. Rogers is known to have received an urgent appeal from Flo Ziegfeld to return to the Follies, but he has his home here, a beautiful estate in Beverly Hills, and doesn't wish either to leave his family here or take them back to New York.

The home of the star seems designed for the happiness and welfare of his three children, who have a basement gymnasium and theatre, a swimming pool out doors, and a great race track, occupying a large plot in the grounds, where they ride their ponies. His small daughter, Mary, is an expert horsewoman.

"I want the youngsters and my wife to be well and happy," said Rogers to me one day, "that's the main thing."

It is quite likely that Rogers will go on with his writing, too, in which profession he has made headway. His keen commentaries on current subjects have been put into book form and have gained him much fame. He contemplates writing a book on picture-making, which should be a wonder, judging from his other literary efforts.

Fox Company Busy.

It may be hard sledging around some of the studios, but the Fox company doesn't seem to be feeling any depression. Twelve companies are represented at present on the Western avenue lot. Of these, four are comedy, since the world must laugh, no matter what else happens.

William Farnum is now in New York, having recently returned from a several months' stay in Europe. He expects to come West within a week or two. He is to make society dramas, even though this does seem like a long stride away from the things we are used to seeing him in.

Tom Mix is shortly to return from New York, where it appears he has been the summer's sensation. They say his big white sombrero caused such a flurry at the Dempsey-Carpentier fight that it made some people miss the knockout!

Tom took some scenes in the streets there, too, astride his pony, which caused the jaded New Yorkers to take notice. However, he doesn't wish to overexcite the effete East, so he's going to leave the big town flat for his native California.

Mr. Mix also gave President Harding a treat, calling on the nation's chief official July 1 in Washington. He says he likes the nation's capital city first rate, and he believes that some good bull-dogging, etc., could be done in the wide streets there.

Other Fox stars are busy. Dustin Farnum is to begin work on his first film under his new contract on Saturday next. The play is a western. Others who are working on new pictures are Eileen Percy, Shirley Mason and Buck Jones.

Frances Wilkes Married.

From New York comes the announcement of the marriage of Frances Wilkes, sister of Thomas Wilkes, theatrical magnate, and formerly stage director of the Majestic Theatre here, to Joseph Richardson Morgan. The wedding took place July 3 at Yonkers, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan are to go to Denver, Colo., to live and will be at home to their friends at 1805 E. Colfax avenue, in that city.

Walsh on Fence.

R. A. Walsh, who is soon to begin production of "Kindred of the Dust," the Peter B. Kyne story, has been swamped recently with invitations from chambers of commerce and lumber companies in the Northwest to make his picture at their various locations.

Mr. Walsh's choice at present is wavering between Bellingham, Wash., the Hammond Lumber Company of Samoa, Cal., and the Pacific Lumber Company of Scotia, Cal. Mr. Kyne himself wishes his story staged amidst the exact locations where the story is laid, so it is possible the company may go farther north than California.

Louise Glaum to Flit.

Louise Glaum is becoming a great traveler. Now she's planning to make a trip to New York by way of giving herself a pleasant summer vacation. As she won't work while she is in the East, she will probably manage to keep cool, and as she has many friends in New York, it is likely that she may remain several weeks.

Ruth Roland Busy.

The Ruth Roland Company and twenty extras, including Indians and sailors, spent yesterday at Griffith Park, where shots were taken for "White Eagle," Miss Roland's latest serial, under production at the Hal E. Roach studios.

Grover Jones Announces.

Following close upon the announcement that he had deserted comedy for features, Grover Jones, head of the producing concern bearing his name, stated Tuesday that his products would be distributed from Los Angeles exclusively.

Jones's first feature bears the temporary title of "The Way of the West." The cast consists of Ora Carew, Jack Richardson, Dwight Crittenden, Allan Garcia, Camille Astor, Charles Mason, Frank Berrera, Murray Miller and Ray McMann.

Hamilton-White's Latest.

Earl Montgomery, Ligo Conley and Marvel Rea are being featured in Hamilton-White's latest comedy, the title of which has not yet been announced. The picture has a rural setting. It was started a few days ago at the studios of Hamilton-White in Hollywood.

Reparations Note.

Here's where I must say excuse me. According to a courteous note just received from Thomas N. Miranda, it was he who wrote those clever sub-titles in "The Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court." I had understood that Harry Myers had something to do with seasoning them, but it seems not, and I gladly congratulate Mr. Miranda on his work.

Charlie Chaplin Entertains.

It's by way of being Old Home Week out at the Chaplin studio, these days. The reason lies in the reuniting of old friends when the Columbia Park Boys' Club visited Chaplin, in fact continue to visit him each day in relays and en masse.

It seems that during the fall of 1911 the boys' organization played a week at the American Music Hall in Chicago in connection with Fred Karno's English pantomime act, "Wow Wows." The man who had the leading part, that of a drunk, was Charlie Chaplin.

As soon as Chaplin heard his old friends were to be at Grauman's he sent them an invitation to visit him when and where they would, and he himself went to Grauman's to give them a hand. Yesterday the boys recorded themselves in the deathless celluloid drama by taking part in some scenes in Chaplin's current picture.

Patriotic Stuff.

Mary Miles Minter, Realart star and temporary expatriate, could at least spend her Fourth in a little republic than which there is none more republican—and democratic—viz., Switzerland.

TALMADGE SISTERS BOTH BUSY FILMING.

Despite torrid weather, Norma and Constance Talmadge are hard at work in New York. Sister Norma has just finished "The Wonderful Thing," and is soon to begin "Smilin' Through." Constance is ready to start work on "Good For Nothing," the story of a small town girl who comes to New York and, instead of starving in an attic has one whale of a time.

Since she began releasing her pictures through Associated First National, Constance has turned out "Mamma's Affair," "Lessons in Love," "Dangerous Business," "Good References," "The Perfect Woman," "The Love Expert," "In Search of a Sinner," "Two Weeks," "A Virtuous Vamp," "A Temperamental Wife," "Woman's Place" and "Wedding Bells." The last two will soon be released.

Norma Talmadge has been seen in "The Passion Flowers," "The Branded Woman," "Yes or No," "The Woman Gives," "A Daughter of Two Worlds," and "Regeneration Isle." "The Sign on the Door" will be issued at an early date.

WILL AWARD TROPHY.

The silver trophy which Sid Grauman will award the winner of the California composers' contest will be presented at the "For the Ladies Program" next Sunday morning at the Third-street theater. Among the composers who will be present, it is announced, are Charles Wakefield Cadman, Carrie Jacobs Bond, Homer Grunn, Theodore Gordohn, Henry Schoenefeld, Harley Hamilton, Morton F. Mason and Nicola Novelli. The Grauman male quartette—B. McGlaughlin, Lester Reese, W. Magginette and Wilford Pollard—will sing Mrs. Alice Hellman's Los Angeles song, "The City of Dreams." Fred McPherson, baritone soloist, will render Charles Wakefield Cadman's "At Dawning."

VIVIAN RICH RETURNS.

The purchase of the film rights of "Vindication," the Harriet T. Comstock novel issued in book form by Doubleday, Page & Company of New York, by Miss Vivian Rich, has started many rumors regarding the future activities of this charming young lady. Miss Rich has not appeared on the screen since "A World of Folly" in which she was starred by Fox. A recent visit to Santa Barbara revived the talk regarding the production of future features under her personal management.

PAULINE FREDERICK FACING HUGE SUIT.

EASTERN ATTORNEY DEMANDS LARGE FEE, DAMAGES FROM FILM STAR.

The suit of George Edwin Joseph, a New York attorney, through C. H. Scharnikow, assignee, to recover from Pauline Frederick, cinema star, $750 as commission due, and $36,000 damages, is a short study in film history.

In September, 1919, Miss Frederick was under contract at a salary of $3000 a week. About that time she engaged Mr. Joseph, the complaint states, to procure her a contract to begin at the expiration of her then existing contract.

Mr. Joseph says she agreed to pay him 10 per cent of all monies she would receive under the contract and renewals. The complaint says Mr. Joseph procured the new contract with the Robertson-Cole Company for two years at a total salary of $780,000. The terms were Miss Frederick was to be paid $30,000 at the time of the signing of the contract to cover the last four weeks of the contract.

The existing contract expired April 2, 1920, and Miss Frederick entered upon her $7500 a week contract May 1 of last year. Without the consent or knowledge of Mr. Joseph, it is stated, she canceled the contract and entered into a different contract with another company. Mr. Joseph received his 10 per cent commission up to April 24, last, when Miss Frederick refused to pay the commission for the week ending May last. Attorneys Anderson and Anderson prepared the complaint.

FAUNTLEROY ON STAGE.

Warde Players to Present Quaint Child Romance.

"Little Lord Fauntleroy" will be presented by the Marion Warde players at the Gamut Theater this evening for the benefit of the Overseas Club of Los Angeles. The title role will be played by little Jane Miskimin, whose personality is said to be exceptionally suited.

The play will be given in costume of twenty-five years ago and will be staged according to the traditions which have made it one of the most popular dramas in the English language. Specially arranged music will be played by a concert orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Kate Speck.

Members of the Marion Warde Players, in support of Miss Miskimin are: The Misses Dorothy Keeler, Bebe Griffin, Wilma Whitney, Marion Garvin and Christine Tyrrell; besides Messrs. J. Newton Thompson, Hugh Griffin, Leonard Zellers, Murray Elwood, William Maloney and John Allison.

ELKS' SONG AT GRAUMAN'S.

"Brother Bill," the welcome song of the Elks' convention, written by Henry B. Murtagh, organist of Grauman's Theater, will be played at both the Rialto and the Third-street house next week. At the former, Oliver Wallace will render the song as his organ solo. At the second above named house, "Brother Bill" will be played by the orchestra as the regular overture, Mischa Guterson, honoring the composer, will yield the baton to Henry Murtagh.

CHARITY LOCATION.

The palatial English estate which forms one of the backgrounds in Elsie Ferguson's picture "Sacred and Profane Love" at Tally's, is the home of a Los Angeles millionaire, Lee Phillips. Its use in the producting netted helpless children of the city several hundred dollars. It was obtained through the location bureau of the Assistance League, the rental going to the Children's Hospital.

ASSISTANT DIRECTORS.

The last bi-monthly meeting of the Assistant Directors' Association was held in the Hollywood Clubhouse July 1. Mr. Ed Roberts, publisher of "It," was the feature speaker of the evening and gave a talk on the future of the picture industry. At the next regular meeting of the Assistant Directors' Association to be held on this evening, Finis Fox will speak on the scenario.

CHILDREN'S OPERETTA.

The music department of the children's classes of the Egan Dramatic School will present "Mid Summer's Day," a fairy fantasy in operetta form, this evening in the Egan Little Theater. It is being directed by Bertha Vaughn and Anna Dowdall.

RADIOS.

NEW STAR IS NEAR.

MUSICAL COMEDIENNE WILL MAKE PICTURES HERE.

By Edwin Schallert.

A year ago nobody would have become greatly excited over the appearance of a new picture company and a star, but lately things have been quiet enough to make such a development worthy of embossed announcement. Special interest will probably attach therefor to the Saturday, as this young lady of the musical comedies is contemplating beginning work immediately on a picture here. A suite has been engaged for her occupancy during her stay at the Ambassador, it is understood.

The film is to be an adaptation of the Saturday Evening Post story "The Impossible Boy" by Nina Wilcox Putnam. It will be celluloided at the Goldwyn studios, where space has been secured. The picture will be made independently.

Western manager for Miss Savage's company, which is said to be well financed, is E. H. Kauffman.

The oddity of the production is the fact that Miss Savage will play both the role of a boy and a girl in the picture. Incidentally Frederick KoVert, the dancer, has been engaged for a lead and will do a straight part and a female impersonation.

"Unfoldment" Goes East.

George H. Kern of the Producers Pictures Corporation is en route to St. Louis with a print of "The Unfoldment," recently completed here. The picture will be screened for the executives of the corporation.

Following the St. Louis preview Mr. Kern will, it is said, return to film "The Scarlet Avalanche," adapted from Bulwer-Lytton's "The Last Days of Pompeii."

A special musical score has been written for "The Unfoldment" by Harry Ellis Dean.

"Bob Hampton" Soon.

Marshall Neilan's picture, "Bob Hampton of Placer," a historic romance, said to be unusually picturesque, will be shown beginning the 16th inst., at the Kinema Theater. The cast includes James Kirkwood, Wesley Barry, Marjorie Daw, Pat O'Malley, Noah Beery, Dwight Crittenden, Victor Potel, Tom Gallery, Priscilla Bonner, Charles West, Bert Sprotte, Frank Leigh, Carrie Clark Ward, Buddie Post and others. By which you may judge that it is a very pretentious affair.

Star Does Stunts.

Ruth Roland used all the old-time serial stunts in her repertoire at Balboa where the serial company spent all of last week and part of this, on location. One of the most thrilling feats was her nimble climbing to the top of the mast of a sinking boat and plunging into the ocean, it is said. This particular stunt was done about an eighth of a mile from the shore.

Miss Roland also scaled rocky cliffs, making a dramatic jump into the briny.

Not Afraid to Be Fat.

Trixie Friganza wrote a note of advice to Paul Paulson, Orpheum stage manager, the other day, which you can take seriously or not, as you please. For she asked him to leave the supports that he had had on the stage for the elephants who were with the Midgets.

Join New Company.

Beatrice Burnham, J. Farrell MacDonald, "Bill" Patton and George Berrell, among others, have been engaged to appear in the first picture made by the Western Photoplay Corporation. Director is Joe Franz.

Will Miss Chat.

William Edmunds and Trixie Friganza will just miss having a friendly chat over their stage experiences in this city. You see, Mr. Edmunds is heading the cast in "Not Yet Marie," the musical comedy tabloid at New Pantages this week, while Miss Friganza does not arrive here until time to open the show Monday. And Mr. Edmunds was a star comedian in Miss Friganza's show, "The Sweetest Girl in Paris," in which she made a hit some years ago.

Mr. Edmunds has, however, renewed many acquaintances here in the pictures, for he played in the Mack Sennett, Eddie Lyons and other comedy companies here some time ago.

Buy Two More Films.

Universal keeps on the jump right along, obtaining stories for the stars at the City, it would appear. Following the announcement of three purchased for Frank Mayo, comes the statement that two more have been bought, one Jackson Gregory's novel, "Man to Man," which will feature Harry Carey, and the other "The Gutternipe," by Percival Wilber, which will be adapted for Gladys Walton.

OLD-TIME FILMER.

Paul Nicholson of the Orpheum team of Norton and Nicholson was one of the first moving picture actors in the country. Back in 1897 the late Wallace McCutcheon, at that time managing director for the American Biograph and Mutascope Company, rented offices on the roof of the Hackett-Carheart Company Building, Thirteenth street and Broadway, New York. This was the first studio in the country to photograph stories, episodes and scenaries, but these were crude, and when completed, only ran about five minutes or so.

KID DANCERS AT GRAUMAN'S.

Jane Gay Davis and Morton Davis, Jr., juvenile dancers who have been called "the miniature Irene and Vernon Castle," are programmed for Grauman's next week. These remarkable little performers, but 7 and 8 years of age, respectively, will stage the "Minuet," the "Old-Fashioned Waltz," and modern dances. They are pupils of Miss Edith Lindsey.

FUNERAL FOR RICH LUMBERMAN TODAY.

Funeral services for Frank J. Coates, wealthy lumberman of Chicago, who died in this city on the 4th inst., while visiting relatives, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at the Breese funeral chapel. Interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery. Mr. Coates was 60 years old and was president of the firm of Jones, Coates & Bailey, Chicago lumber dealers. He leaves a widow and a daughter, Mrs. Russell J. Matthias of Chicago.

USE OF TAXI AS BUS IS HIS UNDOING.

Utilities Board Revokes License; Others Face Loss of Permits.

"Wildcatters" who operate interurban motor busses between Los Angeles and other cities, including points as far away as San Francisco, are to feel the weight of the hand of the Board of Public Utilities. The first fatality in the board's campaign is that of W. J. Schrader, whose taxicab license was revoked by the commissioners yesterday afternoon. The testimony showed that Schrader had taken out a license to operate a "for hire" machine in Los Angeles and had taken out a similar permit in San Francisco, and that he had carried passengers for hire between these cities without having applied for and secured the necessary certificate at the offices of the State Railroad Commission.

J. L. Criswell and the owners of the Hotel Willoughby were cited to appear before the board next Thursday, to answer charges of selling tickets for interurban motor-bus transportation without being licensed to do so.

N. C. Folsom, representing the Motor Carriers' Association, which is made up of regularly licensed interurban auto-bus owners, is expected to file charges with the board and the State commission against more than thirty other persons who are said to be operating regular auto-bus lines without permits.

FACES TWO CHARGES.

Prisoner Accused of Burglary and Operating Liquor Still.

Located in a house on South Serrano street yesterday afternoon, Charles Summeregill, 36 years of age, was arrested and charged with burglary and a violation of the Volstead Act. According to the arresting officers, Summeregill was operating a still in his home and also had a quantity of stolen silverware in his possession.

Police detectives who made the arrest learned after Summeregill had been locked in the City Jail that the silverware found in his house had been taken from the residence of G. Vai of 302 South Lincoln Park avenue several days ago.

Following his arrest Summeregill refused to make any statement.

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

For Distinguished Guest.

In honor of Dr. William Horace Day of Bridgeport, Ct., who is here attending the Congregational National Council sessions, Mr. and Mrs. Eli P. Clark entertained a distinguished group of Eastern visitors at luncheon at the Clark yesterday.

About a board handsomely adorned with summer flowers places were arranged for Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Carter of Hartford, Ct., Dean Charles R. Brown of Yale, Prof. L. A. Weigle of Yale, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Richards, Dr. and Mrs. James L. Barton, Dr. Donald J. Cowling, Prof. Henry Churchill King, Mrs. Henry B. Stehman, Dr. Howard A. Bridgman, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Barnard and Miss Lucy Clark.

After luncheon there was a pretty ceremony at which the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Barnard, Betty, aged 6 years, and Don Fiske Barnard 2 years of age, were christened. Dr. Day presided. It was he who performed the ceremony of marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Barnard. He and his father, Rev. Warren S. Day, were for many years pastors of the First Congregational Church here.

Dr. and Mrs. Barton and their daughter, Miss Maude Barton are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clark. He is on his way to China. He is treasurer of the Rockefeller Foundation at Pekin. Last year he was moderator of the International Congregational Conference at Boston.

To Play Tennis in East.

Miss Mary Brown and Mrs. Louise Williams noted tennis players, are leaving Monday for the national tennis tournament at Forest Hills, L. I., in which they will play. Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, another famous player, will probably go also.

To Wed in September.

Miss Grace Wells and Donald B. Parkinson, whose betrothal was announced a few weeks ago exclusively in The Times, are to be married the middle of September and will leave immediately for Europe. He will take his motor car with them and they will spend a year or more motorng over Europe. As he is a young architect and his future bride a talented sculptress, they will make a study of the notable old buildings and famous pieces of sculpture. Both have numerous friends abroad who are even now arranging to greet them and entertain them. Miss Wells is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Wells and is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Howard H. Wells (Margaret Johnson.) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Johnson. Mr. Parkinson is the only son of John Parkinson, architect, and Mrs. Parkinson.

For Bride-Elect.

Miss Julia Valentine, bride-elect of William Lyman Stewart, Jr., will be entertained at a luncheon Miss Gertrude Orcutt will give in her honor on the 14th inst.

Going to Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Maier and their little son, Edward, Jr., have just returned from their country home, "Las Delicitas," at Santa Susana and are moving to their summer home at Santa Monica. Mrs. Maier was one of the young matrons assisting at the Misses Winifred and Agnes Golden's tea on Wednesday given in honor of Mrs. Harrison H. Lobdell and Miss Margaret James.

Back from Catalina.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Medley, Jr., and son Joe and daughter Maybelle have returned to their home on South Van Ness avenue after a visit to Catalina.

Mr. Brown Here.

George Patton Brown, lieutenant commander, U. S. N., who has been stationed in Pensacola, Fla., for some time, is at home on leave and is a guest of his sister, Mrs. Sydney I. Wailes. He will be here two weeks longer and will return to Florida on the U. S. S. Frederick now in San Pedro harbor. Mr. Brown is being entertained at many dinners and supper parties. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leeds gave a delightful supper party for him on Sunday.

Home from East.

Miss Helen Mathieson has returned from a five weeks' trip in the East and is at her country place at Crescenta. Part of the time she was in Denver, the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Spratlin.

For Mrs. Booth.

Mrs. Russell McDonnell Taylor is entertaining today with a luncheon for Mrs. Willis Booth of New York.

To Del Monte.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Davis who have only recently returned from a six weeks' visit in New York are planning to go to Del Monte the middle of next month to remain a month. They will take their little daughter Nadine and her nurse with them.

SPINET DESKS WIN FAVOR.

Expert decorators of the home and professional "furnishiners" are authority for the statement that no piece of furniture put upon the market in recent years has been received with the same amount of favor accorded the spinet desk—a copy, as the name indicates, of the romantic musical instrument of colonial days. Now and then a fortunate inheritor of prerevolutionary treasures in furniture, shows, with becoming pride, a real spinet which has never been divested of its original glory of yellowed keys and, from one of these charming pieces, it is possible to see how correct are the copied lines of the spinet writing desks we have today.

A number of reasons are apparent, at a glance, for the popularity of this type of desk. It is far more harmonious with the present style of furnishings than the ungraceful turn-up desk which furnishers of homes twenty-five years ago were prone to invest in and it has none of the bulkiness and top-heaviness, when placed in a small room, of the "secretary" style which is often desk below and bookcase above and which, unless it is a true colonial piece, is invariably a monstrosity in wood.

The spinet desk requires the correct accompaniments of colonial mirror, brass candlesticks and framed samplers, just as the four-poster mahogany bed needs counterpanes and curtains which harmonize with its period. Properly placed and fitted with writing implements which "go" with it, as to time, it is a to-be-coveted article of furniture.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A Kirkman

Easily Prepared Meals for One Week.

So many of my readers have asked me to plan a week of easy yet nourishing meals, that I am publishing the following menu and working chart. These meals are; of course, not the least expensive meals that one could plan, but they are, at least, very easily prepared, which is an important consideration in warm weather when money must often be sacrificed to conservation of strength. It will be seen that the secret of these easily-gotten-up meals lies in baking on Saturday and Tuesday mornings for several days in advance.

Saturday: Turn on your oven early and bake two pies, a dish of baked beans, a baked grapenuts dish, put the roast in, and an hour before the noon dinner (my readers' letters asked me partcularly to plan for a noon dinner), slip the potatoes into the roasting-pan. For the noon dinner you will serve: Hot prime rib roast of beef, baked potatoes, boiled peas, and one of the pies on hand For supper you will serve the dish of cold baked beans, wth catsup and a beverage.

Sunday: For dinner, at noon, you will serve the cold roast, hot boiled potatoes (boil a double quantity—half for tomorrow's hash.) beet greens, and the other pie which you have on hand. For supper you will serve the cold grapenuts dish with a beverage.

Monday: Make a hash of the cold potatoes on hand and the left-overs of the beef roast. Also serve a meat relish or a pickle (the hash needs this accompaniment,) and the beets from yesterday's beet-greens. For dessert serve oranges and bananas diced and sweetened. At supper you can make a salad made from the left-over bhets combined with several hard-boiled eggs diced, and one of the bottled mayonnaise dressings on the market.

Tuesday: Turn on the oven early and bake: a bread pudding, a lemon pudding (both these puddings are better cold than hot—send for my recipe if you haven't a good one for them,) a dish of bacon-and-beans (instead of pork and beans,) a baked grapenuts dish, then slip the roast into the oven and, later, the potatoes. The noon dinner menu will be: Hot leg of lamb, baked potatoes, stewed tomatoes, and one of the puddings on hand (which you have allowed to cool.) For supper you will serve the cold grapenuts dish and a beverage.

Wednesday: For dinner you will serve the cold leg of lamb, mashed potatoes (pare and boil a double quantity, but mash only half of them,) lima beans, and the other cold baked pudding you have on hand. For supper serve the cold baked beans on hand, with catsup.

Thursday: For dinner make a hash of the left-over lamb roast and the other half of the potatoes boiled yesterday, also serving pickles, string beans, and diced and sweetened oranges and bananas. For supper serve a salad made from the left-over string beans combined with shredded lettuce and some of the bottled dressing. Cocoa would be a nourishing accompaniment, either hot or iced.

Friday: For dinner serve fresh fish, new boiled potatoes, green peas, and a cornstarch pudding (easiest boiled pudding made.) For supper scramble some eggs and serve bread and butter and jelly with them, and iced tea.

I believe the baked grapenuts dish is the only dish which may not be familiar to some of my readers. This is made by turning one-half box of grapenuts into a medium-sized baking dish, adding one-half cup of sugar and one quart of milk, then baking for one hour in a medium oven. An egg may be added before baking if desired, but it is not necessary.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question.—[The Editor.

EDUCATION FUND GOAL OF CHURCH.

Congregationalist Council Indorses "Adequate" Drive for Endowment Purposes.

Discussion of the denomination's educational endowment program continued to be the most important matter before the Congregational National Council yesterday, as was shown by more than a score of speakers at yesterday's session, where it was finally decided that instead of going on record as favoring a drive for $10,000,000 for that purpose, the gathering would simply indorse the raising of "an adequate fund" to take care of the twenty-five educational institutions which are concerned.

A particularly urgent plea for assistance was made on behalf of Fargo College, Fargo, N. D., it being pointed out that unless financial aid is assured the institution will be forced to close its doors in September. It was intimated that the Methodists had offered to take over the college, and it was finally agreed by the council that the directors of the institution are to be assured that their requirements will be met so that the work can go on without interruption.

The new moderator, Dr. C. E. Burton, was also formally inducted into office during the day's session. Rev. H. P. Judd, Rev. H. H. Kelsey and Rev. A. W. Palmer spoke on various phases of the work in Hawaii. Rev. O. A. Petty spoke on "Men and the Church."

Last night a young people's rally and supper was held, addresses being given by four of the younger set. Later in the evening Rev. Cass A. Reed of the International College, Smyrna, spoke on "Signs of Promise in the Near East," and was followed by Rev. Jerome C. Holmes on missionary work in Japan.

At today's session, with which the gathering will come to a close, foreign missions will be discussed by a number of speakers from distant fields.

Scotch Rug Made to Use in Nursery.

One of the most satisfactory of the many varieties of rugs of medium price on the market today is the one known as a Scotch rug. It is sometimes referred to as a Kilmarnock rug, from the town in Scotland where the rug was originated. During the first year of the war the factory was moved, woof and warp, so to speak, to a small town in New York, where the process of carpet weaving, which turns out this particular sort of floor covering, has since been carried on.

The Scotch rug, as to reliability of wearing qualities, is in the class of the body Brussels, and is, at the same time, lighter and less bulky to handle. In price it is listed between rugs of the crex and fiber order, and those made of Brussels carpeting. It has a nap which gives it a soft surface appearance, is reversible, and comes in a large variety of artistic patternings and colors, which give it a place of its own in well-furnished homes.

The new cretonne designs of this weave, which are just being shown and which harmonize with the draperies of the present season, are particularly attractive. The rug comes in soft blues and pale grays with borders of nursery designs to match chintzes in blue and white planned especially for the rooms of children.

WETHERBY-KAYSER OUTING TOMORROW.

The Wetherby-Kayser Shoe Company will celebrate its all-day-Saturday summer closing policy tomorrow with the third annual picnic to be held at the municipal pier, Santa Monica. A bathing suit parade, a tug-of-war between men of the two downtown stores, an elaborate luncheon, dancing and cabaret entertainment will feature the affair. Special cars have been provided to transport those who do not travel by motor.

BREAKFAST at Gus Mann's Pot and Spigot Grill means starting the day right.

A Mexican naturalization certificate issued by President Porfiro Diaz in 1909 was found in the possession of one of a party of two Chinese contrabands picked up by Immigration Inspectors Jacks and Parks at the Yee Sang establishment on Marchassault street yesterday. Both were lodged in the County Jail. They gave the names of Gee Whang and Lim Fook.

GREATER SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA STRAIGHT AHEAD

1802 HOOPER AVE.
LOS ANGELES CAL.

Dear Folks:

After all, it's money that talks - on any job. That's why when Profit Sharing Day comes around at HOLSUM Bakery, the fellow who hands out the checks is the one who actually sees the real results of making every man a partner in the business.

Checking up at the point of your pencil, as I do, is vastly different from theorising about a Profit Sharing Plan. But I'm here to tell the world that the reason why HOLSUM is the leading bread in Southern California today are two-fold:

First, because it is the finest, purest loaf that can be made - "made clean, sold clean, delivered clean."

Second, because every man on the job here is a partner in the business and shares in every dollar that goes into the profit Account on the books.

Prosperity comes when work is well done, well paid for, and thoroughly enjoyed. That's how Southern California is building up the spirit of "Straight Ahead" for better business.

Holsumly yours,

ELKDOM'S HEADS HERE FROM EAST

land, Seattle and Tacoma lodges will arrive Sunday night.

OHIOANS COMING.

The Columbus (O.) lodge, with three cars of delegates, will arrive on the Santa Fe today at 2:50 p.m., and will stop at the Hayward. Pittsburg, Atlanta, Peoria, Bloomington and McKeesport, Pa., will arrive tomorrow. Headquarters will be opened today in the "Mission Play" booth at the Pacific Electric Station, Sixth and Main streets.

Sixty bands and 10,000 men, from all parts of the United States and the insular possessions, will march in the annual reunion parade of Elkdom here next Thursday. On this occasion, the full panoply of the great fraternal order will be exhibited.

Grand Esquire Michael F. Shannon will head the pageant as grand marshal, accompanied by an escort which, in the richness of its trappings, promises to excel any similar spectacle in Southland history.

Eighteen men, mounted on black chargers and dressed in the habiliments of California when the Golden West was under Spanish dominion, will comprise Marshal Shannon's bodyguard. Their sweeping sombreros, their green jackets and saddles and bridles will shimmer with silver. The equipment of the escort will be valued in excess of $150,000. Thoroughbred saddlers from Santa Barbara and Ventura county ranches will be featured.

Grand Exalted Ruler Abbott of San Francisco, will ride in a custom-built automobile, embellished for the occasion at a cost of $15,000. Following him, the Grand Lodge officers, escorted by the drill team of Los Angeles Lodge No. 99, will comprise the official leadership of the order.

More than 1000 members of "99," as the host of the convention, with floats, and in uniform, will be in line.

The amalgamated bands of the Salvation Army have been chosen to lead Lodge No. 1, of New York City.

CHOSE SALVATIONISTS.

Because of the close affiliation of the Elks Lodge to the Salvation Army in humanitarian work in every city and town where both organizations are established, the army bandsmen were selected to play for the mother lodge. The New Yorkers, headed by Harry Leonhardt, will be uniformed and will have a magnificent float in the parade.

Philadelphia Lodge No. 2 will be next in line. It is bringing a 100-piece band, fifty horsemen and mounts, a drill team and 450 members.

In numerical order, other lodges of the order will folow. Of some there will be only a handful, of others hundreds will be in the respective delegations.

Police Welcome Visiting "Bills" at Station.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, July 7.—When moonlight fell out the police stop In. Officers were summoned to 363 Bellevue street early this morning by telephonic reports from neighbors that a fight was in progress there. The police arrested William Bell, a night watchman employed by the residents, and Louis Bell, a Pacific Electric motorman, on charges of disturbing the peace. And when, on searching the premises, they found several five-gallon cans and a number of bottles of beer and four barrels of wine, they held the pair for violation of the prohibition enforcement act as moonshiners. A copper still was found.

Police Chief C. H. Kelley said today that Stratton had admitted to him and Peterson had been drinking beer at their still. Peterson, who is boarding at the Stratton home, said the quarrel between the two men, which resulted in the arrests, was said to have been started by Mrs. Stratton.

Federal police are investigating the activities of the two men. There have been a number of holdups and burglaries in Altadena and Pasadena, and it is suspected that Stratton and Bell may know something of them.

MOUNTAIN TALK.

Speakers Tell of Wonders of Sky Line Play Grounds.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, July 7.—William Malone, game warden of the San Bernardino Mountains, told of the plans and efforts of the State Game Commission to provide plenty of sport for the people of the south in their mountain playgrounds when he spoke to the members of the Rotary Club of Redlands and their wives at a meeting held at Forest Home, high in the hills, tonight.

Malone told of the fish hatchery in Bear Valley, the planting of fish and said that there are sometimes little evidence of the number of fish planted in certain streams by the number taken out by fishermen who whip the stream, but he says this is due to stream conditions and the fact that the small fish are often killed in great numbers during high waters.

The program was about the mountains, and other speakers told of the campaign of publicity which has made the mountains the popular playground they are.

Riverside Librarian Quits Post as Head of Chamber of Commerce.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, July 7.—Much to the surprise of the membership of the Chamber of Commerce, the resignation of City Librarian Joseph F. Daniels, recently elected president of that body, was received by the directors last night. Mr. Daniels asked that his resignation as a director be accepted as well.

The reason assigned by Mr. Daniels for his action is the stress of work at the Public Library at this time, where building operations have been made possible by a recent gift of $25,000 from the Carnegie Corporation. The librarian plans to continue in the active support of the Town Conference, a civic welfare body, whose organization was recently effected by him.

NEW SERVICE ORDERED BY STATE BOARD

Ranching District South of Ontario to Have Regular Stage Route.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, July 7.—Efforts of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce to secure better transportation facilities for residents of the ranching district to the south of Ontario, and between this city and Chino, bore fruit this afternoon. B. W. Spencer, secretary of the Ontario boost body received official notice that the State Railroad Commission has ordered the Motor Transit Company to inaugurate a new service between Ontario and Chino at once, runing passenger busses over Euclid and Chino avenues.

The order of the commission calls for the abandonment of a line between Chino and Pomona by way of Central and Holt avenues, and under the new arrangement busses from Ontario to Chino will continue on to Pomona by way of Philadelphia and Garey avenues.

The notice of the decision of the Railroad Commission which was petitioned for by the Ontario chamber some weeks ago was sent Secretary Spencer by H. G. Matthewson, commission secretary.

Inauguration of the new line will mean much to the ranching district to the south, where members of ranchers' families have been without transportation facilities entirely, or at the mercy of the family flivver.

The line will also open up a valuable new field for Ontario merchants, enabling them to bid for a share of the business in the Chino district, which, in the past, has gone largely to Pomona, for lack of satisfactory transportation facilities between Chino and Ontario.

She was in a great state of alarm and fear, saying that her relatives in Los Angeles suspected her of a crime, and had set the police on her. She said that her only friends were a Mr. and Mrs. John Sloan of Barstow, and attempted to persuade the manager of the apartment to send $70 in bills and a bank deposit slip for more than $600 to these persons.

She also said that she came here before the Fourth of July but could not remember where she had been staying. The policewoman, Mrs. Jennie France, has the case in charge, and an effort is being made to locate the woman's friends.

Proposed Antioil Well Ordinance Brings Protest.

Chamber of Commerce Favors Big Boost Drive.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, July 7.—The Long Beach Sanatorium was sold today by Dr. Abbie W. Simpson to Dr. T. O. Boyd, who recently sold the Boyd Sanatorium in Twin Falls, Idaho, and Dr. Jerrold A. Stern, who has been managing hospitals in the East and Middle West for several years.

The price paid was $150,000. Extensive renovations and the building of an additional wing to the main structure are to be undertaken at once, the new owners announced. Dr. Boyd has been practicing in Los Angeles since disposing of his Idaho interests, but will devote his entire attention in the future to the local sanatorium.

PROTEST ORDINANCE.

The new city administration is being literally splashed with oil as its christening. Instructions to the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance to prohibit drilling for oil within the city limits has brought a chorus of protests and the Council chamber is expected to be the setting for a lively scene when the proposed ordinance comes up for adoption.

The fact that more than fifty acres in the eastern part of the city already have been leased to oil operators is spurring the agitation and has resulted in indignation meetings being held by both the East Long Beach Industrial Association and the Triangle Club, which met tonight at Fremont school and organized for a campaign of opposition.

In the meantime the city is giving serious consideration to its own prospective oil land. City Attorney Hodenpyle today handed down a decision to the effect that the city has a legal right to drill its own wells. The decision resulted in the advertisement of bids for drilling on the city's property at Temple avenue and Hill street. The proposals are to be received next Tuesday. The property is within the city, however, and the action is in direct conflict with the Council's own antidrilling ordinance.

INDORSE MOVEMENT.

The directorate of the Chamber of Commerce today unanimously indorsed the project of the All-Year Round Club of Southern California for raising a $300,000 fund for exploiting the advantages of the Southland as a desirable place to live twelve months in the year. The indorsement, however, did not carry a pledge of $10,000 allotted as Long Beach's quota and the matter of raising the fund was referred to a committee.

FIGHT CONTINUES.

Contracts for the State Highway between Long Beach and Huntington Beach, over which a three-cornered fight has waged as to the route, have not been awarded as was reported here, the Chamber of Commerce was assured by the State Highway Commission today. The chamber insists that the coast route be followed. The commission is favorable to the inland route and the War Department enters the fray to call attention to the necessity of a $500,000 bridge at Los Alamitos if the chamber's plan is followed. Word from the commission today was the signal for renewing the controversy.

ONE-MAN CAR.

Painter, who was killed in action Sept. 11, 1918, at the first St. Mihiel offensive and son of H. L. Painter, 3541 East Second street; Frenchie E. Watkins, who served with the famed Ninety-first Division and the son of Charles L. Watkins, 1915½ Florida street, and Albert D. Schnapp, killed at Vignoulles, France, Oct. 11, 1918, whose widow, Mrs. Edna Frances Schnapp, lives at 915 Coronado avenue.

GOOD-BY SHIMMIE.

It prohibits "any dance involving the shaking of the body," and provides that persons under 17 years of age be accompanied by parents or guardian when entering a dance pavilion.

WOMAN ARRESTED.

Prisoner Wanted in Oklahoma for Jumping Liquor Case Bail.

Mrs. Virginia Elders, 25 years of age, of Oklahoma City, was arrested yesterday by Police Detectives King and Oaks on a telegraphic warrant from Oklahoma. The young woman is held here as a fugitive from justice, charged with having jumped $1750 bail in Oklahoma City, were she was under arrest on a bootlegging charge.

In the City Jail Mrs. Elders declared that she had not intended to jump her bail, but had been influenced by others. She stated that she had been betrayed by persons who declared they were her friends and asserted that she will make it "hot" for them when she returns to stand trial.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, July 7.—The offer to trade an automobile tire for ten gallons of gasoline at a Barstow garage excited the suspicion of Jack Cater, proprietor. BURON R. FITTS SUED BY WIFE.

State American Legion Head in Divorce Tangle.

Desertion Only Charge Made in the Complaint.

Voluntary Contract to Pay Alimony is Filed.

Buron R. Fitts, commander of the American Legion for California, and a deputy District Attorney, was sued for divorce yesterday in a complaint filed by Mrs. Irene W. Fitts, formerly Miss Irene Wixson. The only charge made in the complaint is desertion.

The young couple, both the whom are well known here, were married on May 17, 1919, shortly after Mr. Fitts, who was a lieutenant of Co. I, Three Hundred and Sixty-fourth Infantry, Ninety-first Division, returned home from France. He had been shot in the knee in the Argonne and came home on a stretcher.

Mrs. Fitts, who is a graduate of a local high school, was active in local club and church circles in the conduct of relief work during the war, and is well known in the younger set in the city. Both Mr. and Mrs. Fitts have been prominent in local church work.

A voluntary contract, by which Mr. Fitts agrees to pay his wife $100 a month alimony for several years, was filed with the divorce complaint. While both Mr. and Mrs. Fitts declined to comment regarding the action, close personal friends of each intimated that the marital trouble of the couple is due largely to highly nervous temperaments. The closest of friendship, it was stated, exists between them.

After his return from France, Mr. Fitts devoted himself, in spite of suffering from injuries to his right leg, to the cause of ex-service men. His work in California and Washington, D. C., for disabled war veterans has won him national prominence.

Soon after returning from France, where his knee was practically shot away in the Argonne-Meuse offensive, Mr. Fitts took active interest in the organization of the American Legion. He was elected vice-commander of the California department and was sent to Washington as a delegate, to fight for measures designed to aid ex-service men. He was also a delegate to the national convention of the American Legion. In August, 1920, he was elected commander of the California department.

It was stated by friends of both that his devotion to the cause of his organization, his labors in spite of the trouble and suffering he experienced from nine operations, and from a leg, completely stiff, and overwork at night, have had much to do with the present divorce action.

W. H. Dehm, and Leonard Comegys, brother-in-law by marriage of Mr. Fitts, are attorneys for Mrs. Fitts.

apparently for lunch, and as his duties lead him far afield from his office some times, nothing was thought of it when he failed to come back early in the afternoon. The telephone call to Mr. Arnoll was the first the chamber knew of the marriage. Even Morris Rathbun, publicity director, had been kept in ignorance of the plans.

Mr. Wiggins has been associated with the Chamber of Commerce for thirty years, and during that time has been director of many large exhibits in connection with his work as secretary of the organization. During the time he has had active charge of the chamber's affairs, the membership has grown to be the largest of any similar body in the world, and its work has long been a model for other organizations. Wide recognition of his ability has been given him by many flattering offers, but he has remained loyal to the work of the chamber.

For fourteen years he has been assisted greatly by Miss Baillie. She is highly efficient and was a valuable asset to the organization, winning the close friendship of her associates. Her ability was shown in a remarkable degree when she managed the chamber excursion to Panama a few years ago and brought the excursionists home in comfort after a railroad wreck and running aground in the Mississippi River.

None of the bride's neighbors were taken into the confidence of Miss Baillie regarding her wedding and honeymoon plans, it seems. Miss Fannie Lockhart, a neighbor and close friend of the bride, admitted last night she knew of the engagement, but that she did not know where the ceremony was performed nor when the couple would return from their wedding trip.

LEASE IS BOUGHT.

Southern California Gas Company Gets Building for Offices.

Announcement was made yesterday that the Southern California Gas Company had purchased the lease on the seven-story Goodrich Building at 946 South Broadway, which will be used exclusively for the company's offices. The deal, transacted with the Mossbacher Leasehold Company, is for the sale of the existing lease for $100,000 with an option to renew it at the same terms for sixty-nine years more.

The building will be remodeled at a cost of $50,000 and the tenants have been notified to move out by September 15. The gas company will vacate its present offices in the Garland Building, 740 South Broadway, by November 1, when the new offices will be occupied.

The company is seeking permission from the State Railway Commission to issue notes payable in six years at 7 per cent interest as an aid in financing the transaction.

PYLE GRILLED IN BANK CASE.

Witness Unruffled After Long Battle on Stand.

Made No Loans Except in the Regular Way, He Says.

Prepared for Defense Before Indictment, is Assertion.

For four and a half hours, yesterday, Edward J. Pyle, jointly charged with W. J. Conner with having misapplied the funds of the National Bank and Trust Company of Pasadena, was severely grilled on cross-examination in U. S. District Judge Bledsoe's court before a jury.

After the afternoon had been spent in a fusilade of questions by Special Prosecutor W. Fleet Palmer, the witness was still the same, unruffled, self-contained, provider of information regarding the business of the Pasadena institution during the time that Conner was promoting the Master Pictures, a film corporation.

Mr. Pyle again asserted that he had made no loans to Mr. Conner, except in the regular way; that the Conner business was not handled in any way different from other accounts; that he had confidence in Conner; that he had had no occasion to ascertain how much money Conner had got out of the bank, and that he had always safeguarded the interests of the institution.

The cross-examination of Pyle will continue today.

SCANS DRAFTS.

The long list of sight drafts drawn by Mr. Conner was presented to the witness, each in turn, and the question asked if he had any recollection of having "O. K.'d" them. Mr. Pyle had no recollection of approving a number of them, but some he admitted he had passed upon.

Asked whether Mr. Conner had not deposited in the bank checks and drafts amounting to $144,000, between May 15 and August 12, 1920, and drawn out $397,994.51 within that time, Mr. Pyle said such a thing would be impossible in the ordinary course of business.

One of the important points brought out in the cross-examination was that Mr. Pyle had been preparing his defense against a possible prosecution, a year before the indictment against Mr. Conner and himself was returned by the Federal grand jury.

QUIZZED ON DRAFTS.

The morning session of the court was occupied by Mr. Palmer, asking Mr. Pyle about the various drafts, returned unpaid, that had been drawn by Conner on various individuals. Mr. Pyle said he had no personal knowledge of any of these drafts being returned; that, as head of the bank during the absence of President Coulston, he had not charged his memory with such details; it was probably known to other attaches of the bank.

As the end of the case approaches there is considerable gossip as to the indictment and the punishment, if either or both are found guilty. The bill charges Mr. Pyle with misapplying the funds of the National Bank and Trust Company of Pasadena, and it charges Mr. Conner with aiding and abetting Pyle in such misapplication.

Under the Federal statutes the maximum penalty is a fine of $5000 and a penitentiary sentence of five years.

"ISAIAH" NOT TO APPEAR IN PICNIC PARK.

City Board Unanimous in Turning Down Application for Sycamore Grove.

The use of Sycamore Grove by "Brother Isaiah" Cudney for healing meetings was denied yesterday afternoon by unanimous vote of the Board of Park Commissioners, who further recommended that the "Miracle Man" conduct his services at the Normal Hill Center grounds at Fifth and Olive streets.

President Bowen and Commissioners Cline and Mrs. Martha Nelson McCan attended yesterday's meeting of the board when the action was taken refusing the request of the healer's representatives for the use of Sycamore Grove.

The application was turned down on the ground that the meetings would deprive citizens of the use of the place for picnics, and also because of the lack of adequate sanitary facilities and the lack of money to install the additional equipment necessary, if the meetings were held there.

The commissioners in recommending the use of the grounds at Normal Hill, stated that trees on the grounds give ample shade, and said that rest rooms and sanitary facilities in the city building on the hill are available for those attending the meetings.

Attorney W. Lin Price, representing the "Miracle Man" was notified late yesterday afternoon of the action taken by the commissioners. The next move must now be made by Mr. Price, Mrs. E. R. Farley, sponsor for the healer, and "Brother Isaiah."

The Normal Hill site offer was No. 4 on the list of public park property considered since the agitation was first started at the City Council meetings to permit the healer the use of space on city property, after the Lincoln Park Heights meetings had been prohibited by the health department. First the grand stand at Exposition Park was proposed, next Hazard Park, then Sycamore Grove, but in every case either the healer's representatives or the park department vetoed the suggestions. In the meantime, the "Miracle Man" is in seclusion.

CONVICTED AS THIEF.

Asserted Member of Car-Stealing Gang to be Sentenced.

A jury in U. S. Dist. Judge Sawtelle's court yesterday returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Harry C. Alexander, a member of the gang of automobile thieves who, until recently, made a specialty of stealing Ford cars and taking them across the line into Mexico, where the numbers were changed, only to return with them and dispose of them to purchasers in the United States. They operated in the vicinity of San Diego, Phoenix, Calexico and other border towns. Alexander will be sentenced tomorrow by Judge Sawtelle.

TELLS TROUBLES OF RAIL LINES.

Chambers Says Growers Here Have Best Service.

Santa Fe Official Predicts City's Great Future.

Chamber of Commerce Given Glowing Tribute.

Edward Chambers, vice-president of the Santa Fe, who arrived here yesterday and is a guest at the Alexandria, has a word to say about the railroads' difficulties, particularly in transcontinental shipments, and incidentally he expresses confidence in the future of Los Angeles. He thinks that everybody is more interested in his own business than that of the other fellow, so that he sees his own troubles first."

Of the railway's troubles, as far as California is concerned, he says:

"California's perishable food products are sent to market under the highest grade of transportation service produced in the world. What I mean by this are facilities for distribution, character of refrigerator cars furnished, and regularity of service. It has also a better rate system under which to distribute its products than any other section of America, which enables uniform f.o.b. and destination prices. There is no other place on earth where such large quantities of perishable food products are hauled such great distances to market.

"In this temporary period of readjustment the California producer is in no different position than the producer in other sections of the country. If the railroad could close down in the very dull periods the same as other industries, it could better conserve its revenues in such times, but it must operate whether there is a trainload or a carload; if it does not, then serious consequences follow to business.

"California has not had the depression in general business like that which has existed in almost every other State. Its large production of food products and oil has assisted very much in maintaining a nearly normal condition. It is usually the last section to feel a depression and among the first to revive, because its larger production is something everybody needs.

"Los Angeles has the world's record for home building in the past year. It is the best-advertised city in the world. It is not only an ideal place in which to live, because of climatic conditions, but it is an ideal place for manufacturing. Its climate and other conditions go toward maximum efficiency in labor. Its transportation routes reach to all sections of this country and to all foreign countries. You can hear favorable comment everywhere by persons who have visited Los Angeles, on its future as a residence city and as a manufacturing city.

"The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce in its years of work has done its part in building up the city and in helping all of California. It is the most business-like, efficient public organization in America. I often wonder if the people of Los Angeles fully appreciate the work it is doing.

"Southern California is developing in a conservative, safe way. Any person familiar with its resources has no doubt as to its future."

FAMOUS ROMANCE ENDED.

Worrall G. Decker, 1054 Ingraham street, yesterday brought action through Attorney Joseph Musgrove for divorce from Dorothy Stella Decker, thereby reviving interest in an international and now shattered romance of four years ago, and paving the way for more interesting revelations.

In the early part of 1917, Mr. Decker, having recently come from Australia, and having persuaded an Australian chorus beauty, Dorothy Reed, to follow him to this city, married her in Santa Ana. Soon thereafter, Mrs. Decker started separate maintenance proceedings, asserting her husband had a large income and that he was the nephew of a very wealthy easterner, but was not providing for her. The court proceedings at that time brought out the fact that Mr. Decker owned the "reddest roadster" in the city, and his wife charged that it was used mostly for taking other women on rides.

Before a lull came in the marital warfare, Mr. Decker had been jailed for a brief period in San Francisco and was on probation for contempt of court here, as result of his failure to give his wife half of his income, as ordered. Both dropped out of sight for a time, the husband going into business here, and the wife resuming her stage career.

MUCH-LOVED SURGEON GOES TO LAST REST.

DR. N. H. MORRISON'S MEMORY HONORED BY MOURNERS OF ALL CLASSES.

The funeral yesterday of Dr. N. H. Morrison, who died last Sunday and who was for thirty-three years chief surgeon of the Santa Fe, carried a touching tribute of the masses to the memory of this man. There were men and women from many walks of life who came to pay their last respects to one who had proved himself a true friend. There were cripples and poor people, as well as the cream of the Los Angeles medical profession and citizenship.

Services were conducted at the chapels of Bresee Brothers, at 2 p.m. and were in charge of Dr. W. S. Young, head of the Hollenbeck Home, who was a friend of Dr. Morrison for more than a quarter of a century. He was assisted by Rev. W. H. Fishburn, pastor of the West Adams Presbyterian Church. Interment at Evergreen Cemetery was in charge of Hollenbeck Lodge, No. 519, of the Masonic order. Pallbearers were F. M. Van Way, I. L. Hibbard, Dr. A. Tyroler, John J. Burns, A. C. Fellows and Walter Brewer.

Dr. Morrison was also chief surgeon of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company during the last twenty-five years. He was born in Missouri, Sept. 9, 1853, and came to California forty years ago, settling at Santa Barbara, where he lived a number of years. He returned to Kansas for six years and then came to Los Angeles in 1887 and resided here until his death.

POPULARITY OF CAMP ESTELLE IS GROWING.

The Y.W.C.A. summer encampment at Camp Estelle, located above Camp Baldy, is said to be proving more popular this year than ever before.

The Southern California High School girls will hold their annual conference there the week of July 10, opening their program Monday. More than ninety girls have already registered for the event, these including delegations from Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino, Long Beach, Santa Monica, San Pedro, Pasadena and eight girls from Arizona.

July 23 the camp will be opened to the business girls of the city. The camp has a capacity of fifty. Reservation should be made at the Y.W.C.A. headquarters, 941 South Figueroa street. The cost is $10 a week, with an additional charge of $3 for transportation.

SLEUTHS GET TARTAR.

Woman Puts Up Fierce Battle Before Captured on Theft Charge.

Mrs. C. Bitter, an operator for the Nick Harris Detective Agency, was knocked down and several other Harris operators were scattered about at a local department store last evening before an asserted shoplifter, who gave the name of Miss Mary Brown, was finally arrested, according to Detective Baldwin, head of the Nick Harris store department.

Miss Brown, whose real name is said to be Mrs. Mamie Katzen, was booked at the City Jail on suspicion of grand larceny. She is accused of having stolen about $60 worth of women's apparel.

Much waste in fabric tires — no need of it

THERE are four or five million car owners in this country using fabric tires.

When they see themselves being made a target for the sale of "odd lots", "discount offers", "retreads" and "seconds" — what do they think?

You can hardly blame quality makers if this kind of situation is getting on their nerves.

Some people seem to feel that the spread of cord tires has made tire-makers and tire-dealers indifferent about fabric quality.

Others have the idea that fabric tires get less attention because they run to smaller sizes.

The makers of United States Tires would like to go on record as to how they feel about it.

They are engaged in serving people.

They build the most complete line of fabric tires in the world.

This year "Nobby", "Usco" and "Chain" Tread tires are more universally popular than ever before. Because they satisfy a legitimate need for fabric quality.

Neither the size of the tire nor the kind of tire has anything to do with U. S. Tire standards.

Back of every Fabric Tire bearing the U. S. name stands the same quality that has made U. S. Royal Cords the outstanding tire.

This is the logical stand for the oldest and largest rubber organization to take.

It builds by policy — or doesn't build at all.

PUBLIC BUREAU GETS POSITIONS FOR MANY.

MORE THAN SEVENTY-SIX THOUSAND ARE GIVEN EMPLOYMENT HERE.

A check of the figures yesterday shows that the Los Angeles office of the public employment bureau of California, furnished employment to 76,053 men and women during the fiscal year that closed June 30. This number includes every class of worker employed in Southern California.

According to District Superintendent Hancock, two departments, the commercial and women's industrial, show a substantial increase over their placements of last year, which was considered the biggest employment year in the history of the country. The gain of these departments is 938.

Mr. Hancock points to a great saving to those seeking employment through the bureau, where all service is rendered without charge, as against those that charge a fee ranging from $3 a job to one-half of a month's salary.

At present the bureau is bending every effort to secure an adequate number of women to work in the canneries and dry yards, during the harvesting of the apricot and peach crops.

SECOND LIBEL SUIT.

William B. Edwards of Riverside, involved in long litigation with Patrick H. Botkin over some Palo Verde Valley land, filed his second libel suit in two days yesterday when he demanded $50,000 from The Times for an article about his troubles printed last March 14. On Wednesday he sued the Examiner for a like sum for a somewhat similar article.

BEAUTIFY CITY ARCHITECTS' AIM

Organization Formed to Plan Public Buildings.

Fees to be No Larger Than Those of One Man.

Designers of Proved Ability Make Up Society.

With the view of assuring the careful planning, designing and construction of public buildings to be erected in Los Angeles or vicinity in the future, an organization of thirty-three of the leading architects of Southern California has been formed and incorporated under the laws of California with the title of the Allied Architects' Association of Los Angeles.

The association, to be operated on a co-operative basis, plans to offer to civil authorities a means of securing the best architecture in new public buildings at a cost no greater to the authorities than would be paid for the services of an individual architect, and assurance will be given that these buildings will be erected at the least cost to the public.

Under the plan of organization, the services of the combined membership of the association will be offered to public officials for the same fee as would be charged by a single architect. In order to make certain that the necessary architectural expression will be given to any building which is being designed under the supervision of the association, each building submitted to the association will be designed under the direct supervision of the member best qualified for the work in question, but his design will be subject to the criticism and suggestions of other members of the organization.

OFFICERS NOT PAID.

Directors and officials of the organization are to receive no compensation for their services as such, and the members of the association will receive a nominal compensation to be paid out of the receipts from the various commissions accepted by the organization. The greater part of the money received by the association for its work, however, is to be devoted, according to the by-laws, to the general benefit of the organization, such as the establishment of a comprehensive architectural library, meeting rooms and educational facilities for draftsmen.

Membership is open to all architects of established ability and qualifications who are interested in seeing that public buildings shall be of the highest type of architecture. Provision is also made for dropping any members who are not interested in the work, or who lack the qualifications for designing buildings of this type.

The idea upon which the organization is founded is set forth in the bylaws as follows:

"The paramount purpose of this association is to advance the art of architecture, and by the professional co-operation and collaboration of all its members to secure for and to provide municipal, county, State and national governments with the highest and best expression of the art of architecture in the designing, planning and construction of public buildings, structures and improvements at the least possible cost. It is not intended that this association shall accept or perform architectural services for private individuals, firms or corporations, but this shall not be deemed to prevent the association from rendering any of such services to its own members."

OFFICERS AND MEMBERS.

The board of directors, which will have control of the business and the property of the organization, is composed of Octavius Morgan, Edwin Bergstrom, David C. Allison, Reginald Johnson and Myron Hunt.

Officers of the organization are Octavius Morgan, president; Edwin Bergstrom, first vice-president; David C. Allison, second vice-president; H. M. Patterson, treasurer, and J. J. Backus, secretary.

Charter members include Octavius Morgan, Edwin Bergstrom, Byron Hunt, Reginald Johnson, David C. Allison, J. J. Backus, Henry M. Patterson, A. M. Edelman, Sumner P. Hunt, Harwood Hewitt, Rollin G. Hubby, Sylvanus E. Marston, Robert H. Orrk, Henry F. Withey, Carleton Monroe Winslow, Garrett Van Pelt, Jr.; Robert D. Farquhar, H. C. Chambers, John P. Krempel, Elmer Grey, O. W. Morgan, William M. Clarke, Alfred W. Rea, Pierpont Davis, Arthur D. Benton, J. E. Allison, W. J. Dodd, William Richards, Charles F. Plummer, Gordon B. Kaufmann, H. S. Johnson, Clarence E. Noerenberg and Roy C. Mitchell.

These Five Men Are Supreme in County Affairs.

Supervisors Select Successor to Jonathan S. Dodge, Who Recently Resigned.

R. F. McClellan was elected chairman of the Board of Supervisors yesterday, succeeding Jonathan S. Dodge, who resigned recently to become State Superintendent of Banks. The motion to name Mr. McClellan chairman of the board was made by Supervisor Woodley and unanimously carried. Chairman McClellan wasted no time in a wordy speech, but took his seat and proceeded with business.

Chairman McClellan, who lives in Sawtelle, has been on the board four years. He is a civil engineer by training, and for this reason was put in charge of the flood control work. It is believed that Chairman McClellan will remain in charge of the flood control work.

No change was made yesterday in the various committees. Supervisor Cogswell still has charge of the County Jail and County Hospital; Supervisor Woodley is head of the finance division, and Supervisor Bean is the practical builder on the board, in charge of work on the new County Jail building to be started within a few months. Supervisor Henry W. Wright, appointed to succeed Supervisor Dodge, has taken over the latter's district. He has a large territory to cover and is familiarizing himself, as he finds time, with outlying districts, as the Antelope Valley.

GEM THIEVES FLEE TOWARD LOS ANGELES.

Bandits in Fast Auto Fire on Pursuers After Fresno Store Robbery.

Two young bandits who yesterday morning stole diamonds worth $3000 from a Fresno jewelry store were pursued by a posse headed by the Sheriff of Fresno for many miles along the highways leading to Los Angeles. The bandits were in a fast automobile, stolen by them, and for a time the chase went at a pace of seventy miles an hour. The fugitives fired from the rear of the car at a motorcycle officer, the first man to take up the chase. Although all peace officers in Fresno, Kings and Tulare counties were on the lookout, the bandits escaped arrest.

The robbery at Fresno was as daring as the bandits' flight. At 10:30 a.m. the two young men entered the jewelry store of Tom Sasikai, a Japanese. One of them asked Sasikai to show him some diamonds. The storekeeper took out a tray containing many gems, whereupon one of the men snatched the tray and the two ran from the door.

H. E. Wilson, a county traffic officer, was the first to pick up the trail. On his motorcycle he got close behind the bandits' car, when there was a crash of glass and a hand with a pistol was thrust out of the rear of the machine. Three shots were fired point-blank at Mr. Wilson, but they went wild, and the motorcyclist continued the chase.

Mr. Wilson stopped at Fowler, where he was joined by Constable Ford, and the two, in a fast automobile continued on.

Sheriff Jones of Fresno, as soon as he learned of the robbery, got a fast automobile ready. Chief of Police Truax detailed Captain of Detectives Brown to go along, and they were joined by Inspector Murphy and Chris Hansen, State Board of Pharmacy inspector.

The description of the men obtained from Sasikai and from T. K. Tomita, who had a store next door, tallies with the descriptions received only yesterday morning from Sheriff George W. Lyle of San Jose of two ex-convicts wanted for robbery there.

HURT BOARDING CAR.

While attempting to board a street car at Forty-seventh street and Moneta avenue last night, C. O. Yelton was injured. According to the Los Angeles Railway Company, Mr. Yelton tried to board the car from the wrong side, fell and the wheels passed over both his feet.

Life Sentence Pronounced in Cyanide Case.

Imprisonment for life was the sentence pronounced yesterday by Judge Reeve upon Raymond W. Smith, convicted of first-degree murder for the poisoning, by use of cyanide, of his wife, Mary Edna Smith, on March 14.

The court first heard arguments by William H. Anderson and E. S. Patterson, defense attorneys, and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fricke on a motion for a new trial, and denied the motion. After sentence was pronounced, the defense counsel gave notice of an appeal to the District Court.

FUNERAL SERVICES AT HOME AND CHURCH

EDWARD F. MULLEN HONORED BY FORMER ASSOCIATES. AT FINAL RITES.

The remains of Edward F. Mullen, long one of the city's leading clothiers, who died last Tuesday after an illness of four months, were laid to rest yesterday morning in Calvary Cemetery. Funeral services at the family residence, 4927 Rosewood avenue, were followed by services at 9 a.m. at St. Brendan's Church.

At the church ceremony many of the city's leading business men gathered to pay tribute to the memory of one of their associates.

Mr. Mullen was 55 years of age. In the early 80's he came to Los Angeles from Milwaukee to join his father in the firm of Mullen & Bluett. Since 1910 he has been the vice-president of that concern.
